PREMIER OF ENGLAND

Lord Rosebery had an Audience With the Queen at Buckingham Palace at Three O'Clock.

Members of the House of Commons Will Present Gladstone With an Address of Thanks.

Rosebery's Dominant Ideal Is Colonial Expansion and Imperial Unity Coupled With Belief in Democracy.

LONDON, March 5.—The house of commons was crowded with members and visitors long before the hour for the house to order. Sir William Harcourt, who was one of the later arrivals, was loudly cheered as he entered the lobby. The chancellor of the exchequer met Mr. Majoribanks, now Lord Tweedmouth, in the lobby and chatted with him a few minutes on the subject of the late's succession to the peerage.

Members of the house of commons propose to present Mr. Gladstone with an address, thanking him for his splendid services to the Irish cause. John Redmond has been importuned to define the policy of the Irish party in its relations to the leadership of Lord Rosebery, but has steadfastly declined to commit himself. The only thing he will say is that he will watch the situation and be guided by its developments. Lord Rosebery had a conference with his ministerial colleagues this morning.

The queen, accompanied by Empress Frederick and Princess Beatrice, arrived at Buckingham palace this morning. The royal speech proroguing parliament is unusually brief. It expresses formal regret at the shortness of the recess, releasing members from their labors, and thanks parliament for its various enactments, among them the parish bills and the bill limiting the working hours of railway employees.

The earl of Rosebery called at Buckingham palace at 3 o'clock this afternoon and had an audience with the queen. The Pall Mall Gazette, in an article summing up the service of Mr. Gladstone, alludes to him as a political realist, who clung tenaciously to form, caring nothing for the substance. He was a pedantic stickler for precedent and was lamentably deficient in initiative power. Though regarded as a leader, he was really driven, in succession by Sir Robert Peel, John Bright and John Morley.

The St. James's Gazette says the withdrawal of Mr. Gladstone marks an epoch in the Liberal party. It is no longer Gladstonian and must be reorganized and rechristened. The St. James's Gazette, in a favorable situation and very generally trusted.

The Westminster Gazette says Lord Rosebery's dominant ideal is colonial expansion and imperial unity, coupled with a sincere belief in democracy. It is officially announced that the earl of Kimberley will succeed Lord Rosebery as secretary of state for foreign affairs and Right Hon. Henry Hatfield Fowler, president of the local government board, will take place of the earl of Kimberley as secretary of state for the Indian department.

The house of lords met at 1:30 p. m. The local government bill received the royal assent. The queen's speech was read and the house adjourned.

The speaker and the members of the house of commons were summoned to the house of lords to hear the queen's speech read. Mr. Labouchere and half a dozen other Radicals remained behind. Later the queen's speech was read in the house of commons and that body adjourned.

IS GOING TO CALIFORNIA.
Mayor Gilroy, of New York, now En Route to San Diego.
CHICAGO, March 5.—Thomas F. Gilroy, mayor of New York, accompanied by his 10-year-old son, arrived here at 11 a. m. yesterday and left on the 7:30 p. m. Santa Fe train for the West. He is en route for California, where he will spend a few weeks with his family in San Diego.

The news of his arrival at the Auditorium ran like wildfire about the hotel, and set gossiping tongues to wagging. The mayor seemed oblivious to the sensation he was creating among those who knew him by sight. He emphatically denied the story that he was preparing to leave the country to avoid the charges of complicity with McKane, and said that his letter on Friday was an ample disavowal of any intention on his part to shirk responsibility.

In the conversation, he also said that no one in New York ever thought of prosecuting him, and that the story was sent out by his enemies with a view to injuring his political and personal character.

FIRE AT FOND DU LAC.
E. B. Glass's House Burned to the Ground This Morning.
FOND DU LAC, Minn., March 5.—[Special to The Herald.]—The house of E. B. Glass was burned to the ground at 7 o'clock this morning. Loss, $1000. Small insurance.

Wied From Yellow Fever.
RIO JANEIRO, March 5.—Capt. Sturges and G. M. Rollins, of the Norwegian steamship Sautu, died from yellow fever today. The Sautu left New York Dec. 7 for Pernambuco, towing the Brazilian steamer Pirating. She arrived at Pernambuco Jan. 20 and subsequently came to this port.

Doings of Congress.
WASHINGTON, March 5.—After several unsuccessful attempts to call up other measures, the house resumed consideration of the pension appropriation bill. The senate adjourned at 3:30, after being in executive session most of the time.

FINISHING ITS LABORS.

Senate Committee Putting Finishing Touches on the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—It was with the determination of finishing its labors today, if possible, that the Democratic members of the finance committee began the fifth week's consideration of the tariff bill. When Saturday night came around the committee had the separate parts of its puzzle in shape to put together, and that will be done today.

Treasury experts were in work yesterday at the residence of two members of the committee furnishing data applicable to matters being considered by the "home stretch." One senator devoted the entire day to the sugar schedule. This morning, while the remainder of the committee gathered in Mr. Voorhees' room, Messrs. Vest and Jones met with the experts elsewhere, and when they joined their associates, were prepared to give valuable information on the disputed schedules.

Assistant Secretary Hamlin was before the committee this morning to discuss the administration features of the bill which came within that of the treasury work over which he presides. The final vote will probably be taken tonight and the course of the bill in the senate will become a matter of interesting conjecture.

The Republicans will, doubtless, succeed in keeping it in committee until Thursday at least. When it is finally reported it will be sent to the calendar, pending the preparation of reports and of speeches. This will take at least ten days, and according to the judgment of a Democratic senator the bill can hardly be called up for the commencement of the general debate before Monday, March 10.

As soon as debate is begun the majority will insist that the daily session be held from 12 to 6 o'clock, that no other business shall be permitted to interfere with the discussion of the tariff bill.

In this manner, they expect every one to have had ample opportunity to speak and be willing to begin voting, so that the bill will be passed by the middle of April. This senator said he was of the opinion the senate committee had gone as far as it could in the matter of releasing duties, which action on the part of the committee, he thought, might preclude debate and draw out additional opposition from Democratic senators.

TO MARRY A DIPLOMAT.

A Philadelphia Girl to Be Married to the French Ambassador.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The announcement of the intended marriage of the French ambassador, M. Jules Patenotre, to Miss Eleanor Louise Elverson, the only daughter of the Philadelphia publisher, James Elverson, on Tuesday of Easter week, excites society here.

Though this will be the first marriage of an ambassador in this country and quite the most notable of diplomatic corps events in many years, it is not, as is commonly supposed, a marriage of convenience. The French ambassador, M. Patenotre, is one of the most distinguished of French diplomats. He came to Washington as minister in December, 1891, and was raised to the rank of ambassador April 10, 1893.

SERIOUS FIRE IN DEADWOOD.

A Large Portion of the City Destroyed This Morning.

DEADWOOD, March 5.—A large portion of this city was destroyed by fire this morning. No wind was blowing at the time, or the entire city would have been destroyed. The fire originated in Fashold's saloon and burned all that part of the city lying between the center of Main street and Centinova.

The loss is estimated at $150,000, on which there is an insurance of not to exceed $25,000. The heaviest losers are the Demons, Whalen & Graves, Haines & Hein, Starr & Wallock, and Gib, Stone & Co.

SUIT AGAINST MINNEAPOLIS.
Fraud Charged on the Part of the Park Commission.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 5.—Suit is to be brought against the city of Minneapolis in which about $80,000 is claimed by citizens who charge fraud on the part of the park commission.

In 1890 the committee assessed property for the Minnehaha boulevard and realized $26,714.13. It is charged that the boulevard only cost $8,312 and that the commission secured the assessment levied by misrepresentation and fraud.

WANT TO FORCE THE FIGHT.

Some Silver Senators Want to Pass the Seigniorage Bill at Once.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—There is some talk among the silver senators of forcing the silver question to the front, before the tariff bill is reported, by a motion to proceed to the immediate consideration of the seigniorage bill without reference to a committee.

This would precipitate a trial of strength, and the more cautious friends of the bill urge that the motion would be in danger of defeat, inasmuch as senators who might vote for the bill when before the senate would not be inclined to vote against a motion to first refer it to a committee.

Some of the extreme silver men, however, say that the tariff question is so largely bound upon the consideration of the treasury deficiency, that the bill, which will add $50,000,000 to the government's resources, ought to be passed first in order to prepare the way for the reductions proposed in the tariff.

STILL AT FEVER HEAT.

The Excitement in the Mining Regions of West Virginia, Caused by the Strikers, Continues.

Governor McCorkle Has Received Word That Coal Cars Are Being Burned at Paint Creek.

A Plot to Blow Up Buildings With Dynamite Was Unearthed in Charleston This Morning.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 5.—The excitement is still at fever heat in the mining regions. Strikers were reported massing at Mount Carbon last night. Governor McCorkle received a telegram this morning saying that coal cars were being burned at Paint Creek. No further particulars have been received up to 10 o'clock.

Col. Wyatt, his son and Manager Schwab, of Eagle Mines, were arrested at Montgomery last night on warrants issued by Justice Adkins, who had previously declined to issue warrants for strikers and who is reported to have said he would arrest Wyatt or kill him.

Trouble being feared in taking them to Fayetteville, Governor McCorkle last night telegraphed Maj. Banks to send an ample escort of militia to protect the party. The wisdom of his action was shown this morning, when a telegram was received stating the road from Eagle to Fayetteville was lined with armed men, evidently bent on mischief.

Acting Mayor McNabb, of Montgomery, after having impeded the sheriff yesterday in the execution of warrants for the arrest of strikers, this morning wrote the governor, offering him 100 of the best citizens for a posse. His offer was not accepted.

A conspiracy is being unearthed this morning. A man was arrested on Morris Creek, with two Winchester and a peculiar looking dynamite bomb in his possession. He says he will turn state's evidence and confess to a plot that is being hatched to blow up all the works along the river.

A VICTORY FOR THE ATCHISON.

The Motion for Separate Receivers Denied by Judge Caldwell.

ST. LOUIS, March 5.—Judge Caldwell this morning handed down a lengthy decision concerning the Atchison-Frisco receivers. The decision is a vital victory for the Atchison road. The petitioners, the Mercantile Trust company, as holders of certain bonds, are denied, except as relates to the payment of interest to the present receivers of the system, who must keep separate accounts of earnings and operating expenses for the various sub-divisions, branches and leased lines in the combined system the surplus, or any of such lines to be applied in order of priority to the payment of interest on certain mortgages as recited.

Judge Caldwell says the motion for separate receivers is wholly without merit and is denied.

SIX INSTANTLY KILLED.

Terrible Accident to Laborers on a German Railroad.

BERLIN, March 5.—While a gang of railway laborers were repairing the track at Charlottenburg this morning they were interrupted by the appearance of a train. They stepped from the track upon which the train was coming and stood upon the track upon which the trains were run in an opposite direction.

As the train rushed by the men were enveloped in steam and did not see a chain which was coming on the track they stood on. Before they could realize their danger they were struck and hurled into the air. Six of them were instantly killed and not one of the others escaped injury.

Youngstown People Walk.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, March 5.—The strike on the electric street railway remains unchanged today. The tieup is complete. All attempts to secure men to fill the strikers' places have been futile. The strikers are orderly and quiet, but it is believed that the introduction of non-union men in the strikers' places would precipitate a riot. In the meantime all Youngstown travels on foot.

THE SON ALONE GUILTY.

Decision in a Famous City Treasurer Case at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, March 5.—Judge Woerner, rendered a decision this morning in the famous case of assignee of the estate of ex-City Treasurer Michael Foerstel against the estate of Foerstel's suicide son, Edward C. Foerstel.

The suit was on the peculiar plea that the suicide was the sole embezzler of the city's funds, discovery of which caused the suicide and Treasurer Foerstel's removal, and that accordingly the city treasurer should be reimbursed from the estate of deceased for the sums he had made good for the son.

The question to be decided was practically whether the father or the son, or both, were guilty. Judge Woerner decided that the son alone was guilty and gave judgment for the amount of the claim, $64,792.72.

PETROLEUM TRADE IN CHINA.

A Matter of Much Importance to American Shippers.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The acting American consul at Amoy, China, who is the German representative there, informs the state department under date of Jan. 13, that two large iron tanks for the storage of kerosene oil are in course of erection there.

When they are completed, as they should be by this time, kerosene can be shipped to that port in bulk instead of in cases of two cans each as is the present custom. This is considered highly important to American shippers, as kerosene is the chief import from the United States. Russian petroleum is finding its way into the ports of the China coast, but the American product still predominates. The Russian tank steamers will probably secure much of the trade, unless American shippers are wide awake.

THE ILLINOIS DEMOCRATS.

The Next State Convention to Be Held Late in June.

CHICAGO, March 5.—The Democratic state central committee met today at the Palmer house and decided upon Springfield as the place and June 27 as the date for holding the next state convention. The committee also adopted the following important resolution:

"Resolved, that inasmuch as the propriety of nominating a candidate for United States senator by the state convention has been agitated throughout the state, it is suggested to county conventions to consider the expediency or inexpediency of such a course and instruct their delegates accordingly."

REFUSED TO PAY THE CABBY.

A Son of Senator Washburn Arrested in New York.

NEW YORK, March 5.—William Pitt Washburn, who claims to be the son of Senator Washburn, was arraigned in Jefferson market police court yesterday. He was taken to the West Thirtieth street station on Saturday morning by a cab driver, who said Washburn refused to pay.

He was intoxicated and was locked up. He claimed to have been an inmate of an infirmary asylum for weeks, but escaped on Wednesday. Later, he settled with the cab driver and friends took charge of him.

NAVIGATION IS OPENING.

Straits of Mackinaw Nearly Open and Ice Out of St. Clair River.

CHEBOYGAN, Mich., March 5.—The prospects are that the ice will soon be out of the straits of Mackinaw, a week more of the present warm weather being all that is needed to open the passage. All the lumber camps have broken up and the snow has almost completely disappeared.

THE ROSTER CASE.

MADISON, Wis., March 5.—The roster case was again called in court at 10 o'clock this morning, but several of the jurors on the new venire were absent and an adjournment was taken till 2 o'clock. The attorneys on both sides seem to start this re-trial with much less vigor than a week ago today, the loss of last week's hard work disgusting them greatly.

Sentenced to Be Hanged.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 5.—Harry Johnson, convicted of the murder of his 4-year-old daughter, Bertie, by drowning her in the Lehigh river last July, was this morning sentenced to be hanged. Upon receiving the sentence Johnson said to the court: "I can frankly say I am innocent."

Smallpox on Board.

BOSTON, March 5.—The steamship Venetian, of the Leland line from London, which arrived in port yesterday afternoon had four cases of smallpox on board, one of which proved fatal after the vessel passed Boston light. The vessel is now in quarantine and will not be docked until discharged by the port physician.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.,
March 5.—The depression over Northwestern
Minnesota Saturday has moved nearly easterly
and the center is this morning over the Lake Superior. It has been attended by heavy rain and high water in the Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys and the western portion of the lake region, and followed by cold, northerly winds and snow showers in the Dakotas, Montana and Western Minnesota, in which section
the temperature ranges from zero to below

The pressure continues high in the Atlantic states, and has diminished slightly with rising temperature, to the westward.
The following rainfalls of over half an inch
have been reported since yesterday morning:
Kansas City, Mo., .24; Fort Smith, Ark., .12;
La Crosse, Wis., .21; Green Bay, Wis., .34;
Davenport, Ia., .25; Duluth, Minn., .10.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today,
2 degrees; maximum, 3 degrees; minimum, 5
degrees above zero.

DULUTH, March 5.—Local forecast until 8
p. m. tomorrow: Snow this evening and tomorrow, with much colder weather; fair Tuesday with high northwest winds.

JAMES KENEAL,
Local Forecast Officer.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Forecast till 8 p. m.
tomorrow: For Minnesota: Generally fair;
slightly colder in extreme eastern portion Tuesday morning; probably warmer Tuesday night;

today, followed by fair, moderate cold wave
Tuesday morning and evening; southwesterly winds.

President Hill's Plans.

The exclusive announcement in The Herald last week of President Hill's present visit to London being in connection with the building of the Great Northern line from Duluth to Fosston, making a through route from the Red River valley to Duluth, and that arrangements had been completed for beginning construction work early this year, has been confirmed by Col. W. P.
Clough, the vice president of the road, in an interview at St. Paul. It will now be in order for those impatient writers who denied the accuracy of The Herald's statements to assert that Vice President Clough does not know what he is talking about.

The following is from the St. Paul Pioneer Press of Saturday: "The report that the Great Northern branch line
from Crookston to Fosston will be extended to Duluth is correct. Vice President Clough said yesterday that he expected work to begin upon it soon after the bill before the senate for right-of-way across the Indian reservations has passed." There is little doubt that this bill will be passed by congress within a few weeks, and Mr. Hill having concluded the necessary financial arrangements in London, construction will be started as soon as the weather will permit. A complete survey of the route has been made, arrangements have been made for a supply of ties and contracts partially made for the grading so that there will be no delay in the work, which will be rushed to completion. The record for fast railroad building has been established on the Great Northern extensions in the West, and it may be broken between Duluth and Fosston.

The building of this line will make an important addition to Duluth's railway system. It will provide almost an air line between Duluth and the Red River valley, which will result in the most immediate business relations being created between the merchants and consumers
of the valley and the wholesale houses in Duluth. The benefit to the milling industry at Duluth and Superior will be very great.
The Great Northern will be able to dictate wheat rates from the Red River district to the head of the lakes, and will undoubtedly make a figure that will give the Duluth and Superior millers a still greater advantage than they now possess over the mills at Minneapolis. With the completion of this link in the Great Northern system, Duluth will be the central point in another great trans-continental route. Passengers will be brought from the Pacific coast and intermediate points to Duluth and here transferred to the palatial new passenger boats of the Northern Steamship company, which will begin running between Duluth and Buffalo next June.

Mr. Hill, who is today the most successful railroad man in America, can do much to benefit Duluth and he should be met here in a friendly spirit. It is undeniable that an unfortunate opposition to his plans which was shown in certain quarters here several years ago was instrumental in causing him to transfer most of his business at the head of the lakes to the Wisconsin side. The elevators and warehouses of the Great Northwestern system at Superior stand as monuments to the stupidity or worse of certain people who live on this side. Mr. Hill now shows a disposition to bury the past differences and make Duluth his headquarters in this section, and he should meet with encouragement.

The new line from the Red River valley will center Duluth
at a point close to where the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road comes through the hill at West Duluth and will not go to Superior. His passenger boats will run between Duluth and Buffalo and will not go across the bay. The people of Duluth should therefore extend to him

a hearty welcome and aid him in every way to secure the terminal facilities that he will require to handle the large business that will come over the new line from the West.

Harbor Improvements.

Hon. N. C. Blanchard, chairman of the house committee on rivers and harbors,
has an article in the North American Review on the importance of harbor improvement, that is worthy of reproduction in full, would space permit. However, The Herald must be content with giving a short summary of Mr. Blanchard's views. No class of general legislation, he says, has, probably, been subjected to more severe and continued criticism than that enacted for the support and development of our internal and seaboard commerce by the improvement of our rivers and harbors. And yet it is probable that no distribution of public moneys has conferred more common and lasting benefits upon the people and upon the industries of the country at large. Nothing is more necessary to the development of a country and the advancement of its people than cheap, safe, unobstructed and reliable transportation. Particularly is this true of a country like ours, with widely separated boundaries and diversified natural resources, where manufacturing industries and their sources of supply are often thousands of miles apart, and where centers of population are far removed from the agricultural regions, which supply the necessities of life.

The total amount appropriated for rivers and harbors from the beginning of the government, in 1789, to the present time is in round numbers $20,000,000.
What a small sum, exclaims Mr.
Blanchard, when compared with the amount of the present cash valuation of the railroads constructed in the United States since 1830 (say), $5,000,000! It is a remarkable fact that the total amount expended for river and harbor improvement hardly equals what is paid out in one year at the present time for repairs and rolling stock on the railways of the country.

Yet the committee, of which Mr.
Blanchard is chairman, has this year
asked right and left into the amounts required for harbor improvements along the great lakes. According to The Herald's Washington correspondent, the committee has not been used to so great an extent on the appropriations for Southern rivers and harbors as in the case of the grants for improvements in the North.
This is not right, and Mr. Blanchard and his colleagues should amend their bill so that equal justice may be done to all sections of the country. The amount that has been named by the committee for the improvement of Duluth's harbor is pitifully small. It would be throwing money away to apply
such a small amount to the improvements that are required. Mr. Blanchard's article in the North American Review shows that he thoroughly appreciates the necessity of improving such an important harbor, and he should now push a little of the appropriations for Southern rivers and harbors and add it to the Duluth appropriation.

To Stop Filibustering.

The Democratic members of the house of representatives will hold a caucus tomorrow night to consider the question of amending the rules so as to acquire a quorum. The idea is to compel members to vote who are actually present, but who now sit in their seats silent
and by this means are enabled to filibuster against the passage of any pending measure.
The evil is a great and growing
one, and something should be done to put an end to it. The rule under which Mr. Reed counted a quorum when he was speaker was an effective barrier against this form of filibustering. Then the speaker counted every member who was present, no matter if he did not vote.
The Democrats denounced this method and called Mr. Reed a "car." They declared his action was unconstitutional, but on a test case the supreme court upheld the validity of the rule.

The Democrats now see the wisdom
of some such rule, but they are unwilling to adopt the Reed rule which they formerly denounced. They will endeavor to devise another plan which will accomplish the same thing. In a March magazine, Secretary of the Navy Herbert discusses the filibustering practice, and advises the Democrats in the house to adopt the Reed rule. He says: "In the Fifty-first congress the Republicans,
having control of the house, to make up a quorum adopted the method of counting those who were present and refused to vote. As there was no precedent for this in the practices of the house, the Democrats naturally arrayed themselves against the new rule, and the contention over it was bitter. The supreme court, however, has decided that the house, under the power to make its own rules, had the right to adopt this method, and it may, therefore,
be safely affirmed that this rule or something like it will always obtain when the house is in control. This being so, it seems to follow that the Democratic party will be driven to the adoption of some similar rule, safe-guarded, perhaps, so as to prevent mistakes, which appeared to be unavoidable under the rule of the Fifty-second congress. Either this must be done or some equally efficient method devised. No political party can afford to yield to its opponent permanently so great an advantage as the Republicans could claim, if they and they alone, could count their opponents

to make up a quorum."

Gone Up in Smoke.

The reports of the fire insurance companies doing business in the United States during 1893 afford serious reflection as to the effect the business depression has had upon the volume of business, and also as to the impression of the severe fire losses of the year upon the finances of the companies. The reports likewise furnish a curious study as to how far the increasing premiums have affected the average rate.

It is shown that there was a falling off
in the amount written by companies doing business in New York of not far from $5,000,000. The premiums of 1892 were $110,669,972 and of 1893 $120,- 201,718. The risks in force show a slight increase over 1892, and the losses paid based on the risks in force, show an increase of about 4 cents on each $100.
This looks like a small increase, but it makes a difference of nearly $7,000,000.
The loss rate as compared with the premiums shows an increase of over 5 per cent, the rate running above 70 per cent as against 65 in 1892.

The annual losses by fire in this country are very heavy. They represent a destruction of property that is terrible in its result. Property wiped out by fire is utterly destroyed. Its destruction makes the country so much poorer. While the individual's loss may be recouped by the payment of insurance money, the community as a whole experiences a loss by every fire that is never repaid. The subject of preventing such an awful waste
by fire should receive more attention than is now given to it. Steps should be taken to adopt measures that will minimize the number of fires, and it seems possible to devise some methods that would accomplish this result.

A Duluth Congressman.
St. Cloud Journal-Press: The press of this district has been quite unanimous in the opinion that the next Republican candidate should be a Duluth man. This will be all right, providing the Zenith
City brings out a candidate acceptable to the balance of the district.

An Unjust Discrimination.
Findlay, O., Republican: President
Dole, of Hawaii, has had his salary raised to $10,000 a year. The result of a statesmanship getting only one-tenth
as much salary as Grover Cleveland!

One of the Worst.
Chicago Dispatch: A Duluth minister is lecturing on "Mishaps of the Devil."
One of the worst of which he ran against the Salvation Army in Chicago
the other day.

It Took All the Change.
Anoka Union: The change, so many voted for, took out about all the change
they had in their pocketbooks, and left them flat indeed.

The Political Center.
Two Harbors Iron News: Mr. Searle's coming to Duluth indicates that he regards the political center of the Sixth district about this vicinity.

The chief of police and two detectives made a theatrical raid upon an alleged gambling house at West Duluth on Saturday night. While no one will condemn this move, it does seem strange that they should travel so far to make a raid when there are several "joints" of a similar character running within a stone's throw of police headquarters.

The Indianapolis News says: A good title for Reed's book would be "The Car and His Methods; or, How a Quorum Was Finally Secured." A good idea would be the purchase of a copy for each Democratic congressman, with instructions to study and profit by the beneficial results of its teachings.

Mr. Wanamaker estimated that all the Columbian postage stamps would be used before March 1, but the quantity seems to be exhausted. Why not compel him to purchase the stock now on hand? This would be only simple justice.

Henry Waterson denies that he drank
beer at St. Paul. The people of Lake Superior were shocked at the idea of a Kentuckian forsaking the favorite Bourbon,
and Henry hastened to save his reputation
by entering a general denial.

The Indianapolis News says that "Queen Liliuokalani is evidently no longer in the controversy." No, she has dropped into the consumption. President Dole's hand was stronger than a queen full.

At last the New York Sun has found something upon which it can agree with the present administration. In a recent issue it says: "We defend the postal cards of the Cleveland administration."

The Chicago Dispatch thinks that Mrs. Cora Belle Fellows-Chaska should not despair. She can still fall back on the Mongolian race.

Baldwin for Governor.
Le Sueur Sentinel: From the unanimi-ty with which the Republican newspapers of Minnesota are urging Representative Baldwin to be a candidate for governor, it would indicate that that gentleman should decline the honor. There is no Democrat in Minnesota but that would consider it an honor to vote for Mr. Baldwin for that or for any other position in the gift of the people of the state, but it is always a poor policy to let
the enemy dictate nominations for you.

Means Low Wages.
Iron Trade Review: The sales of iron ore thus far made are on the basis of the extremely low prices. There is no miller, and even at that, mean practically the giving away of the richest ores of the Lake Superior region—deposits that can never be replaced. There is no satisfaction in doing business on such a basis. It means mere existence for the laborer in the mines, and for every vessel and laborer the lowest wage ever known on the lakes.

The Nicollet Statesman.
St. Peter Herald: The slate makers have seen fit to heed the admonition of a receiver for the Tower & Soudan railway and we are quietly informed that they have rubbed off the name of Dave Clough and placed instead that of
G. S. Ives, of this city. With Ives, Block and Carlson on the slate ticket, Nicollet county would be reasonably certain to go Republican this year.

Would Have a Sufficiency.
Two Harbors Iron News: Should the party who has secured the appointment of a receiver for the Tower & Soudan railway be forced to take the road as satisfaction for his claim he will in the future eschew actions for damages against corporations when there is a possibility of his winning the corporation.

FOUR MEN DEAD

Fall of a Shelf of Rock Caused a Terrible Accident in a Pennsylvania Mine.

Out of a Gang of Nine Shaft Sinkers, Five Escaped With Some Slight Bruises.

Richard Hughes, James Northen and Albert Richards, Recently From Michigan, Were Crushed to Death.

Thomas Holwell Rushed Into the Opening Where Afterdamp Ignited From His Lamp, Causing Death.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 6.—Four men out of a gang of nine shaft sinkers were killed in the Richmond sh in the northern part of this city, this morning at 5 o'clock. The accident was caused by the fall of a shelf of rock from the side of the shaft, near the bottom, and a consequent explosion of a blower of gas. The victims are:

Thomas Holwell, charge-man, married; wife and child; burned to death. Richard Hughes, single, 27 years. James Northen, single, 20 years. The Albert Richards, single, 24 years. Hughes, Northen and Richards were crushed to death by the rock. The latter had but recently come here from the copper mines of Michigan and were experienced in shaft work. Five others of the shift made their escape, though some suffered slight bruises in their scramble for safety. These were quickly hoisted to the surface, but the bodies of the others had not been recovered up to 10 o'clock, owing to the accumulation of a body of afterdamp into which it was dangerous for them to enter.

The men were at work at the bottom of the shaft. Above them hung a bell-like piece of rock, which projected slightly from the side of the shaft. This shelfed downward and had been somewhat loosened by blasts set off by a previous shift, under charge of Foreman Oliver Turner. When the latter went off duty at 11 o'clock last night, he warned the new shift of the danger. For some as yet unknown reason they failed to properly protect themselves and continued the work of removing the coal.

Suddenly the rock gave way. Three were caught and crushed to instant death. Chagman Holwell rushed away as the fall came, with five other of the men. He went further into the opening than his fellow workmen. He was seen to be naked from his head. Instantly there was a shout of flame that enveloped him in a blaze, and with a cry of horror he sank down below and the stairway was torn clear away.

From the evidence in the hands of the police it is believed that an attempt was made to kill everyone in the house, but who the person or persons are is a mystery. No one was injured. The house is occupied by Kittle Day as a house of ill fame.

Inspector Laughlin said today, in connection with the explosion: "I hardly think that the person or persons who exploded the bomb had any intention of doing any serious harm. I think it was done by some disappointed lover, who was angry with the inmates of the house more than anything else."

The Twenty-second street police do not attach much importance to the explosion. They are of opinion that some one committed the act to frighten the inmates of the house, and that there was no intention to kill any living through the explosion. At the same time they will make an endeavor to find the miscreant.

UNIONISTS MAY RETURN.

Premier Rosebery Negotiating With the Liberal-Unionist Leaders.

LONDON, March 6.—The Duke of Devonshire, Joseph Chamberlain, Sir Henry James, Mr. P. and a number of their prominent followers, held a conference this morning in regard to a speech which the duke of Devonshire is to make at Leeds tonight.

It is expected that the duke will make some reference to the reported negotiations between Lord Rosebery and the Liberal-Unionist leaders, with a view to the return of the dissentionists to the Liberal party.

THE FLOYD BROTHERS' TRIAL.

Frank Floyd Tells of the Preparations for Scheig's Trip.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 6.—The trial of the Floyd brothers for complicity in the Scheig embezzlement was continued this morning. Frank Floyd was under cross-examination. He stated that his time in St. Louis, from April to September last year, was spent in breaking in horses and preparing for their Southern trip.

He confessed that he also spent considerable time in sporting houses, but denied that he sent his mother a picture of himself and a fast woman in a compromising position. He had written her a letter while drunk, and that was what he apologized for in a subsequent letter.

Named After St. Paul.

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—The two American line steamships now under construction at the Cramps' shipyard are to be named after St. Paul and St. Peter, being their designations in all matters of construction. They have been named; however, and two Western cities get the honor. No. 27 will be christened St. Louis and No. 28 St. Paul. It will be almost another year before they will be ready for launching.

KILLED BY DYNAMITE.

Fatal Explosion at a Big Fire in an Alabama Town.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 6.—A special to the Age-Herald from Culman, Ala., says: A terrible fire broke out at 10 o'clock last night in the center of the city right in the midst of the business portion. The wind was blowing a gale from the southeast and in less than five minutes an entire block was in flames. A terrific explosion soon occurred. It was dynamite stored in Koopman & Gordes' warehouse. The following citizens were killed: Clabe Mitchell, clerk for Koopman & Gordes; George Dikieburgh, seriously injured and will die. At midnight the fire was still raging and others are reported injured and missing. York's livery stables and the entire block north of Main street are burned. The explosion dynamite shattered all the window glass in the city. No estimate of the losses or insurance yet obtainable.

Later.—The fire started at 10 o'clock last night in A. J. York's livery stable and before the flames were subdued, the entire business portion of the town, including McMinn's opera house and twenty stores was swept away.

The wind was blowing strong from the north when the fire started and scattered the flames in every direction. The little 3-year-old daughter of Rev. Mr. Lee was struck by a flying missile from the dynamite explosion. Her injuries resulted in her death this morning.

The fire was undoubtedly of incendiary origin. Two men were seen to leave the hayloft of York's stable shortly before the fire was discovered. Their identity is unknown. Fifty horses were roasted to death in York's stable and ten others in Koopman & Gordes' stable. Among the buildings destroyed were the Methodist church and four handsome residences. The burned district is about three blocks in extent. The total loss will aggregate nearly $100,000, with only a small amount of insurance.

GEN. "JACK" MULLEN DEAD.

He Dropped Dead In Washash Today From Heart Disease.

WABASHIA, Minn., March 6.—Ex-Adj. Gen. John H. Mullen dropped dead in the street today from heart disease. He lost both legs recently by amputation on account of rheumatism.

He was secured a candidate for commander-in-chief of the C. A. R. Gen. Mullen was a native of Ireland, but came to this country when a very young man, having taken part in the rebellion, rising to the rank of captain. He was made adjutant general by Governor Merriam in 1889.

He was interested in the West Duluth Light and Water company and in enterprises at Superior.

WRECKED BY A BOMB.

Attempt to Kill Everyone in a Chicago House.

CHICAGO, March 6.—The 3-story building at 152 Nineteenth street was almost completely wrecked about 2 o'clock this morning by a bomb, which was thrown into the hall way. The windows were shattered the woodwork in the hall way was blown away and the stairway was torn clear away.

From the evidence in the hands of the police it is believed that an attempt was made to kill everyone in the house, but who the person or persons are is a mystery. No one was injured. The house is occupied by Kittle Day as a house of ill fame.

Inspector Laughlin said today, in connection with the explosion: "I hardly think that the person or persons who exploded the bomb had any intention of doing any serious harm. I think it was done by some disappointed lover, who was angry with the inmates of the house more than anything else."

The Twenty-second street police do not attach much importance to the explosion. They are of opinion that some one committed the act to frighten the inmates of the house, and that there was no intention to kill any living through the explosion. At the same time they will make an endeavor to find the miscreant.

It is expected that the duke will make some reference to the reported negotiations between Lord Rosebery and the Liberal-Unionist leaders, with a view to the return of the dissentionists to the Liberal party.

THE FLOYD BROTHERS' TRIAL.

Frank Floyd Tells of the Preparations for Scheig's Trip.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 6.—The trial of the Floyd brothers for complicity in the Scheig embezzlement was continued this morning. Frank Floyd was under cross-examination. He stated that his time in St. Louis, from April to September last year, was spent in breaking in horses and preparing for their Southern trip.

He confessed that he also spent considerable time in sporting houses, but denied that he sent his mother a picture of himself and a fast woman in a compromising position. He had written her a letter while drunk, and that was what he apologized for in a subsequent letter.

Named After St. Paul.

OLUND NOT SURE

Doran in Washington to See Whether He Has Lost His Influence in Patronage Matters.

He Will Endeavor to Have Appointments Made for District Attorney and Internal Revenue Collector.

It is Also Hinted He is Going to Oppose Olund for Collector at Duluth.

Fielder B. Chew Arrived With Protests From Duluth and Olund's Appointment Has Been Held Up.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—[Special to The Herald.]—The visit of Mike Doran to Washington at this time indicates that he is here to secure, if possible, the appointment of his candidates for United States district attorney and collector of internal revenue. Mr. Doran arrived last night. He proposes before he leaves Washington, it is understood today, to find out whether or not he has lost his influence in patronage matters with this administration. It is impossible to learn how the "old man" is coming out today, if he had an opportunity to see the president, who did not arrive in Washington until 1:30 o'clock and this being cabinet day, even if he was here early, Mr. Doran would not be able to see him.

The term of Collector Johnson has really expired and it is probable that this appointment will be decided upon before Mr. Doran leaves Washington. This will also be true of the district attorney.

Mr. Doran, it is understood, does not propose to be satisfied even if he can secure the appointment of his candidates for these two positions. It is hinted today that he is not only willing to make a fight to secure the appointment of his candidate, Judge Breuner, for register of the St. Cloud land office, but further than this is going to interfere in the Duluth collectorship contest, and this means that he will oppose Maj. Baldwin's candidate, Emil Olund, for the appointment.

Maj. Baldwin said at a late hour today that he had not seen Mr. Doran. He indicated, however, that it made no difference to him whether Mr. Doran was here or not. He proposed to stick to his candidates for office in his district to the end, whether he won or not.

Fielder B. Chew, of Duluth, is the earliest arrival in Washington to protest against Olund for collector at Duluth. When seen late today, he said he had communications to back up his protest that ought to have weight with this administration, as the best Democrats in Duluth had signed them.

Mr. Chew said he had seen Maj. Baldwin this morning and turned the papers over to him. Maj. Baldwin later in the day called at the treasury department and requested Secretary Carlisle to take no further action until he had had time to investigate the protests presented by Mr. Chew.

THE BRIDGE BILL AGAIN.

Mr. Updegraff Still Refuses to Consent to Its Consideration.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—[Special to The Herald.]—Representatives Fletcher, Haugen and Baldwin had a conference today in reference to the renewal of the contest to secure the passage of the Duluth and Superior company's bridge bill over the St. Louis river between Duluth and Superior. It was decided that Mr. Fletcher would call up the bill again, provided he could get Representative Updegraff to consent to its consideration. The only way the measure can be passed now is under suspension of the rules on "suspension day," and it is doubtful if this can be done.

Wants His Commission.

NEW YORK, March 6.—A contest involving $50,000 was begun yesterday before Judge Dykman, in the supreme court at White Plains. It was that of James W. Fox vs. Francis O. Mathisen, representing the sugar trust. Fox claims that Mathisen agreed to give him commissions to that amount if he could secure the plant of three refineries that were fighting the trust. The defense denies the agreement.

THE RUSH FOR GOLD LANDS.

All the State Lands at Rainy Lake Have Been Filed Upon.

ST. PAUL, March 6.—[Special to The Herald.]—The auditor's office is besieged now every day by persons anxious to file leases on state lands in the Rainy lake gold district, but none can now be accommodated, as the lands have all been filed upon.

There were not more than twenty leases that could be granted by the state, and these were taken by parties who were venturesome enough to take chances on the lands being what they were represented and filed early.

The parties now being left are mostly those who went up to investigate before filing, Duluth and Stillwater parties secured most of the leases.

The Roster Case.

MADISON, Wis., March 6.—A jury has not yet been secured in the roster case. Attorneys objected this morning to Juror W. P. Fanning on the ground that some months ago he bet a cigar on the outcome of the case. Fanning had forgotten it all. The whole matter was recounted and the court held he was not disqualified. Then Mr. Jeffries said he had heard objectionable things about other jurors. He wanted a venire. The court said only specific charges would go and the examination of jurymen went on.

THEY PLOTTED A REVOLUTION.

Bishop Thiel, of Costa Rica, and Other Catholics Arrested.

NEW YORK, March 6.—A special from San Jose, Costa Rica, dated Feb. 23, says: Bernardo A. Thiel, bishop of Costa Rica, and several other prominent Catholics, clerical and lay, have been arrested here, charged with plotting revolution. At this writing the authorities are in hourly expectation of an attack. The police have been armed with rifles and the militia is under arms, prepared to turn out at a moment's notice. Bishop Thiel's purpose is said to be the establishment of a government of the Catholics under his direction. For a similar attempt in 1885 he was expelled by President Fernandez.

It is expected that the bishop and his associates will be escorted to Fort Limon, under an order of expulsion. He will probably go to New York if expelled.

BIG SPLURGE IN SUGAR.

The New York Stock Exchange Was Excited Today Over American Sugar Which Touched Par.

NEW YORK, March 6.—American Sugar touched par shortly before 11 o'clock this morning. The stock closed at 90 last night. The jump of ten points means that somebody has been cornered. The street is now trying to find out who the unfortunates are. All kinds of rumors are afloat. It is known that ever since Washington capitalists and traders have been active on one side or the other of the stock. Now that the senate is inclined to grant some protection the short interest has become frightened and is trying to get out.

This morning a story was started to the effect that the bull talk from the national capital was unfounded. This caused a reaction of about 2 per cent but soon afterwards buying orders for an immense block of stock was discovered and this added to the anxiety of the shorts and in a jiffy the stock was rushed up to 100. The advance brought out the long stock and the price fell back to 91, and again went up to 95. Another story to account for the rise was that a prominent bear operator, who has been caught short, had been compelled to cover a line of 25,000 shares as par privately with the victorious bulls.

The excitement in American Sugar abated about 11 a. m., but the stock naturally continued feverish in its course. The price rallied to 95 1/2 and then receded to 93 1/2. The street is still discussing the phenomenal changes of this morning. Additional reasons for the jump are, first, that a young and somewhat inexperienced broker was given an order to buy 5000 shares of the stock. The order was too large for him to handle, he lost his head and bought his last 100 at par. In other words he bid the stock up on himself.

Another story is that Washington shorts became alarmed at the strength of the stock and started in to cover. In corroboration, it may be said that a Broadway house with Washington connections bought 20,000 shares of the stock this morning. A local house, which has acquired the reputation of being bearish all the year round, were caught in the upward whirl and helped swell the bank accounts of the bulls. The most enthusiastic of the latter are now claiming that the Wilson bill is doomed, and they are basing their operations on this theory.

After midday American Sugar receded to 91 again and the trading in the stock got down to a normal basis. There were few traces of the excitement which characterized the opening, business and broken, except those who were short either for themselves or customers, paid more attention to the strangers.

ARROGANT DAVE HILL

He is Like a Tiger Who Has Tasted Blood and is Determined to Have More.

Despite Their Jealousy of Each Other, Hill and Gorman are United Against the Administration.

Story of How the Power of Patronage Was Utilized to Smooth True Love's Path.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—[Special to The Herald.]—Many expressions of regret are being indulged in by Democrats in the senate that Mr. Hill was permitted to win so signal a victory over Mr. Cleveland in the fight over the supreme court nominations. It is complained that Hill has accepted this as a personal victory and is disposed to assert himself among his colleagues with a confidence and assurance little short of absolute arrogance. As one senator puts it, he is like a tiger who has tasted blood and is determined to have more. He appears to have accepted it as his mission to fight the administration and to stand out as the inexorable antagonist of the policies of the present party organization.

He and Gorman, who faced each other in the spirit of rivalry on Hill's first entering the senate, are placed in the same category by the tariff reformers and silver men of the party; and in the tariff fight which is now waging they are looked upon in the light of enemies who, to gratify their dislike of Cleveland and to overthrow the policies which they took no part in forming, are willing to run mad and risk injury to the party which they have heretofore stood in as leaders.

The two are standing together like old-time companions in arms. Their jealousy of each other seems to be entirely submerged in their resentments. For the time being, at least, they have lost caste to a very startling extent among their colleagues. Both are disappointed aspirants for the presidency, who see no future possibilities for themselves in that direction, and they are credited with the disposition to revenge themselves not only upon Cleveland but upon the party and they purpose to defeat certain presidential possibilities which they see developing.

There are two or three men whom Democrats are plying in training in private way for the next race for the presidential nomination. At least two of these are new men in the field and all of them are exponents of radical tariff reform. Hill and Gorman are credited with the motive in their present combination of killing off these men, while they are engaged in the tariff fight. While no names were mentioned, notice was served on both of these senators in the caucus the other day while they might follow their present course and be sustained in their own bailiwicks, they might just as well recognize now that if they persisted they could have hereafter small share in national party politics.

An example of the power of patronage has just come to light in Washington wherein it is shown that while the path of true love is not always strewn with roses, the young man who has his wits about him may get the better of the old folks in the long run. One of the employees of the senate, who came into office with the Democratic organization, has long been sighing tender sighs for a maiden in the sunny South, whose cruel father has objected with a vigor which made those sighs in vain.

But the maid and the youth kept on loving each other just the same, and putting their heads together, so to speak, though their hearts were kept apart, resolved to watch and wait and scheme until they should have their way. The old man, the girl's father, is postmaster of the town in which he lives. He is a Republican whose term has not yet expired, and the honors and emoluments of the office are very dear to him. In fact, the pride of social position which this office gave him may have had no little share in his opposition to the marriage of his daughter to a young man who could not hope ever to be postmaster of that town.

The young man had not long been employed about the senate before he began to pick up a hint or two as to what politics might be worth, and he resolved to play politics on the obdurate father. He wrote a letter not long since to the old gentleman, avowing his love for the daughter and his determination to have her at any cost. With this declaration of ardent love he coupled the statement that if the old gentleman did not yield his consent, he would make use of the political influence he had in Washington to have him removed from the postoffice before the expiration of his term.

The old gentleman grasped the situation at once and surrendered, making terms that he should hold the office and the young fellow should hold the girl. In accordance with this arrangement the whole matter has been settled; the old man is to be postmaster for at least two years more, and the young folks are to be happy ever after.

America's Great Danger

AN ENGLISH COMMENTARY.

Said an eminent English scientist recently: "The danger that confronts the great American people to-day is not the possible adoption of a wrong financial policy for the nation, or the spread of socialism, or the increase of corruption among public men. All these are bad enough, to be sure, but they are as nothing compared to the terrible national disease—I had almost said national crime—of overwork. The mail rush for life is set at a killing pace, and thousands fall by the way every year."

You are likely to be one of the victims!

How do we know? Because it is the exception to find a man or woman of adult age in perfect health. Nervous Disorders are spreading with fearful rapidity. Among the symptoms are—Backache, Biliousness, Cold Hands and Feet, Dizziness, Hot Flashes, Fluttering Sensation, Fainting, Headache, Hysteria, Irritability of the Heart, Melancholy, Falling Memory, Palpitation, Rheumatism, Short Breath, Sleeplessness, Nervous Depression, Sticking Debility, Fits, etc. Rev. C. A. CARROLL, pastor First Baptist Church, Yellow Springs, O., writes as follows: "I have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine for the past six months. I find it acts like a charm on the whole nervous system. I have not found its equal in giving immediate relief. Dr. Miles' Little Nerve and Liver Pills only need a trial and they will recommend themselves to be the best pills in the market."

"For five years I have suffered from Nervous Prostration, was unable to work or sleep. The first dose of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine gave me relief, and one thousand dollars would not overvalue the good it has done me."—JOHN MINGHIE, Youngstown, Ohio.

CLOTURE NOT NEEDED

The Debate in the Senate on the Tariff Bill Not to be Unduly Prolonged.

Long Daily Sessions Will be Held in Order to Give A'l a Chance to Speak.

Iron Ore Will be Taxed Thirty-five Cents a Ton, According to Latest Reports.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—There is already considerable anxiety on the part of the Democratic senators who want the tariff bill speedily passed as to the length of time that the senate will debate the measure. As soon as the bill is brought before the senate, it is expected that the daily sessions of that body will be prolonged to six or seven hours a day. This will, in all probability, afford ample time for debate and will not necessitate even the threat of a cloture rule.

Senator Allen, of Nebraska, came forward yesterday with a proposed rule providing that when a bill shall have been considered in committee of the whole for thirty days, it shall be reported to the senate and be voted on within five days thereafter. Mr. Allen's proposition was sent to the committee on rules—and there it will probably stay.

It is understood that the Democratic majority of the finance committee agree to make a further change in imposing a duty of 35 cents per ton on iron ore, 35 cents per ton on bituminous coal, and 20 per cent on slack coal and 15 per cent on coke. The glove schedule, tobacco schedule and cotton schedules are restored to the Wilson classification and rates. Zinc and spelter are made dutiable at the Wilson bill rates and collars, cuffs and shirts are increased to per cent, making the duty 45 per cent instead of 35 per cent as in the Wilson bill. Lead products and ores are also restored to the dutiable list.

Lead ore and lead dross, taxed in the Wilson bill 15 per cent ad valorem, pig lead and refined lead, taxed in the Wilson bill 1 cent a pound, are all made free. Lead in sheets and lead wire, taxed in the Wilson bill 15 cents a pound, are charged with duty at 25 per cent. In agricultural products, barley is raised from 25 to 30 per cent ad valorem and barley malt from 35 to 40 per cent.

Suit for Damages.

MILWAUKEE, March 6.—Mrs. Henry F. Whitcomb, wife of the general manager of the Wisconsin Central railway, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a civil warrant on complaint of Ida Miles, who alleges that Mrs. Whitcomb falsely accused her of stealing several articles when she left her employ, and seeks $10,000 damages on that account.

Attempted Train Wrecking.

HOUSTON, Tex., March 6.—Sunday night for a second time an attempt was made to wreck the Southern Pacific passenger train near Stafford, rock being placed on the track for the purpose. A freight train ran into the pile, but nobody was hurt. The passenger train coming along later ran over and cut the head off a negro woman named Mary Jones.

Severe Storm in Missouri.

BUTLER, Mo., March 6.—A severe storm passed over this section Sunday night. A few miles southeast it was almost of cyclonic force, doing considerable damage. The house of Jasper Smith was demolished and he and his wife and two daughters were injured. One little girl is not expected to live. Smith's jaw was fractured. A horse belonging to George Norris was also destroyed, but no one was hurt.

Notice to Quit.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., March 6.—Police Commissioner Eva Blackman created another flurry yesterday by serving notice through her detectives on a variety theater to not only stop the show but get out of the city as quick as they could. The theater managers had bragged of their pull with a certain commissioner. The variety troupe consists of thirty-five people, chiefly women.

WANTS HEAVY DAMAGES.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 6.—Miss Anna Dickinson came to Scranton yesterday to prosecute her claim in the United States circuit court against Drs. Oglesby and Underwood, of Pittston, and the officials of the Danville insane asylum for $100,000 damages resulting from her detention there three years ago.

She claims false imprisonment. The case, however, was continued owing to the sickness of several important witnesses for the defense. It may be called at Williamsport in June.

Must Stay in Jail.

NEW YORK, March 6.—The application which was made for the discharge of Edward M. Field from Ludlow Street jail was denied yesterday by Justice Patterson, of the supreme court. He is now in jail under civil process in an action brought by Charles Nette in which judgment was entered in December, 1893, and no further action taken.

Jury Beibie in Trouble.

OBJECTION TO THE NUNS.

Opposition to Teaching in Public Schools in Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, March 6.—A storm is brewing in the central board of education over the granting of teachers' certificates to the nuns elected to teach in the Thirty-fourth ward (Riverside) public school. Those of the board opposed to the innovation have sought legal advice and propose to combat the issue, when the committee appointed to pass on the examination of the Sisters of Charity files its report on March 13. State Councillor W. T. Kerr, of the junior order United American Mechanics, authorized the statement yesterday afternoon that he has definitely decided to make a legal test case of the right of the nuns to wear their religious habit while acting as public school teachers.

"I have received a partial opinion from my counsel," he said, "and they agree with me on the stand I have taken. We do not purpose to anticipate the action of the central board, consequently we have deferred action on the case until the nuns have been certified by the central board."

THE PENSION BILL DEBATE.

Representative O'Neill Thinks a Vote Will be Reached Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Representative O'Neill, of Massachusetts, who has charge of the pension appropriation bill, said yesterday that he hoped that general debate would exhaust itself today. If not, a vote will probably be reached tomorrow. "There is no factious opposition to the measure," said Mr. O'Neill, "for it comes before the house with a unanimous report from the committee. During the debate in the house yesterday Mr. Tawney, of Minnesota, defended the old soldier against the charge that it was a pension for the whole state of Minnesota. [Republican applause.] It was the pension officials who committed the frauds and not the old soldiers."

Mr. Baldwin, of Minnesota, had hoped that the war had ended with the surrender of Lee, but he was mistaken. The gentlemen on the other side were fighting it over again, leaving it from generation to generation as a heritage.

THE FATHER IS OBEDIENT.

Dr. Parker, of Omaha, Objects to His New Son-in-Law.

OMAHA, Neb., March 6.—A dispatch from Chicago told that George M. Lawrence and his wife, formerly Miss Ada Parker, of this city, are stopping in that city. Dr. Parker, the father of the young lady, when he saw the marriage announced in the evening paper, swore that he would never forgive his daughter for her disobedience. He will not state his objections to his son-in-law, but says he positively refused his consent to the marriage.

CHALLENGE TO A DUEL.

The Ex-Proctel of Police in Paris Challenges a Deputy.

PARIS, March 6.—M. Andreux, ex-proctel of police, has sent a challenge to M. Camille Pelletan, a member of the chamber of deputies. The grievance of M. Andreux is that M. Pelletan in the course of the debate in the chamber or Saturday instigated that M. Andreux had caused a bomb to be placed at the officials of the Danville insane asylum for $100,000 damages resulting from her detention there three years ago.

A Scandinavian Meeting Held Last Evening to Recommend a Board of Public Works Candidate.

There was no Oratory and Balloting Was Begun at Once, E. Engberg Being Chosen.

There Was a Refusal to Make the Choice Unanimous and There the Matter Now Hangs.

The Scandinavian meeting on Grand avenue last evening was a howling success as far as numbers go and the little hall was packed full to overflowing. The meeting organized by the election of P. Rowen as chairman, and John Ecklund as secretary.

It was supposed that there would be considerable discussion relative to the choice of a candidate to recommend to Mayor Lewis for the board of public works, and Charlie Olson and other orators were on hand almost bursting with pent-up eloquence ready to be discharged at the call of the crowd.

Some cold-blooded man, however, with little or no taste for rhetorical periods suggested that they let the votes talk and moved that the meeting proceed to ballot for a proper candidate.

The vote brought out the following names: F. Olson, Otto Erickson, C. A. Johnson and E. Engberg. The last named received the highest number of votes and was declared the choice of the meeting. When a motion to make the selection unanimous was put it was found that the negative votes nearly equalled the affirmative and that in the place of harmony there existed a decided spirit of discord.

The meeting adjourned in a pretty chilly atmosphere and today it is learned that there is only a portion of those who were present who will stand by the nominee. The disappointed element claim that the meeting was packed with Democrats, that Engberg is himself a Democrat, that the meeting was a farce from beginning to end and that the result will have no political significance other than that the Scandinavians cannot agree upon a man for the position.

BYRNE IS A GAY LATHARIO.

The Librettist of "Princess Nicotine" an Adapt at Love Making.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Following the report of a suit to be brought by the wife of George Lederer, the theatrical manager, against her husband for divorce, or vice versa, the announcement is made this morning that Fred Belasco, a brother of David Belasco, the playwright, has authorized his lawyer, Abe Hummel, to bring suit against Charles Alfred Byrne, librettist of "Princess Nicotine" and other comic operas, for $50,000 for alienating the affections of his (Belasco's) wife.

Mrs. Belasco is at present a member of Lillian Russell's "Princess Nicotine" company. She was formerly Mrs. S. P. Rounds of Omaha, and her husband secured a divorce from her about two years ago. Last year she was married to Belasco, and the wedding, it is said, has been the cause of much trouble in the Belasco family.

Byrne is accused to be the cause of the trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Lederer and gained some notoriety through his relations with the late Mrs. E. F. Rice.

MAY WHEAT IN DEMAND.

It is Selling Here at a Good Premium Over the Chicago Price.

The wheat market was dull but strong up to noon today. It opened at the higher than yesterday's close and held steady at the advance during the morning. Then it became firmer and more active, especially during the last hour, closing at the higher than last night's figures and higher for cash. Trading in futures was about equally divided between May and July, May and July at the premium over Chicago and towards the close was at the premium, the May and July at the premium over Chicago this week. There is a demand for May and July from millers who need it for mixing purposes, the quality of the wheat being particularly high and there being comparatively little of this quality in the country. No hard wheat is sold here at the present time. Several cars of wheat are expected here at the May figures. Following were the closing prices:

Taxes Upon Legacies.

The New York correspondent of the Boston Transcript has been writing a series of interesting articles on taxation of inheritances, which has been practiced in New York state for eight years past.

This is a form of taxation that yields a large revenue and, from many points of view, is unobjectionable. In Europe these taxes have long existed and are, as the evolution of taxes goes, far more developed. In the state laws in this country there has as yet been little attempt to graduate the rate of taxation to the degree of kinship among the inheritors, imposing the higher percentage upon the remoter relatives—a distinction that economists have held to be equitable and necessary.

The federal government, indeed, when in 1864 it levied a succession tax, divided the inheritors into five classes, with ascending rates, lowest for lineal issue and highest for strangers in blood; but the states, as a rule, have taxed only collateral inheritances, or, if, as in New York and in Michigan, they have levied at all upon direct inheritances, they have simply drawn a broad line between the two categories. The distinction between the exempt and the non-exempt has usually been the only graduation, to make almost a paradox, in recent legacy taxes in America.

In Europe, on the other hand, nearly every state divides the inheritors to be taxed into four or five or even eight or ten classes, according to their nearness in blood to the decedent, and imposes taxes upon some of them at a much higher rate than the usual 5 per cent upon all. Near kinsmen escape with the payment of 1 or 2 or 3 per cent; but remoter relatives and strangers in blood must yield 8 or to even 13 per cent of their net possessions.

In his report to the New York legislature a year ago, Comptroller Campbell, after a brief discussion of the injustice and barrenness of the general property tax "suggested and recommended" that the law taxing direct inheritances of personal property be so amended "that the rate be fixed at 1 per cent upon estates over $100,000 and to $100,000; 2 per cent upon all sums over $100,000 up to $500,000; 3 per cent upon sums in excess of $500,000 up to $1,000,000; and 5 per cent upon all sums in excess of $1,000,000."

Later in the same session, a joint committee upon taxation submitted to the houses, with its report, a bill so far adopting the principle of progression as to levy a tax of 1 per cent upon direct inheritances of personal property, when the value of the estate transferred lay between $100,000 and $100,000; of 2 per cent when it lay between $100,000 and $500,000; and of 3 per cent, when it exceeded the latter amount. The bill, like the committee's proposal to tax direct inheritances of realty above $50,000 at 1 per cent, was smothered; but, as some believe, a mildly progressive tax might easily be the next step in legislation in New York. Elsewhere, too, as inheritance taxes are adopted in more and more states, trustworthy observers have noted a similar tendency toward progressive rates.

The graduation of legacy taxes by the amount of the property transferred, so that the greater the value of the estate the higher the rate of taxation, the progressive inheritance tax (as it is called) is to be found in its fullest development in the colonial states of Australia, where within a decade, as is well known, some of the Swiss cantons levy such taxes, and there is a slight tendency toward progression in the intricate English "death duties."

It is difficult to say with full confidence how public opinion in New York generally regards inheritance taxes. Much of the weight of testimony, 500 pages long, taken by the joint committee on taxation in 1892 and 1893, favors it, and here and there a witness urges a wider extension of the impost to direct inheritances of property of every kind. The Transcript correspondent observes that the large revenue that the legacy taxes have yielded commend them, and point, perhaps, toward the day when, with the corporation taxes they will meet all the needs of the state, and the general property tax can be abandoned. There is this to be said in favor of the inheritance tax—it is not onerous to the persons receiving something which they have not earned themselves and which is absolutely all profit to them.

The Gothenburg System.

The Scandinavian system of regulating the liquor traffic, known as the Gothenburg system, is probably the next plan that will be vigorously attempted in the United States. Prohibition and high license have each been tried in different sections of the country, and for brief periods, without finally solving the liquor question. High license has been attended by the best results, but it falls short of effectively dealing with the liquor traffic. Prohibition has been an absolute failure. Why it has not succeeded is a matter of dispute. The majority of people have concluded, from the attempts to enforce it in various states, that prohibitory laws are impracticable.

The Gothenburg system is now likely to be tried, first perhaps in Massachusetts. This system eliminates the possibility of personal profit from the sale of liquor, and throws many restrictions around it. The income is used for various public purposes, and the sale of liquor is under the direct supervision of responsible men of high character. Social reformers in every part of the country are giving it close study with reference to our American conditions. An ardent believer in this system is Dr. E. R. L. Gould, who is one of our foremost students of social subjects, and who last year went to Norway to make a personal study of this system. Dr. Gould writes in the Forum for March a definite explanation of how it would work when applied to American conditions.

One feature of this system, which should commend it to the people who desire to see good government, is that it would help wonderfully to accomplish a reformation of politics. In Dr. Gould's opinion, the divorce would be absolute and permanent. Politicians of modern stamp do not concern themselves very much with things out of which they can make money. A large revenue now comes to them from the liquor interest, and with this cut off they would leave the system to run itself, upon finding that they could not exploit it for private gain. If an American adaptation of the Gothenburg plan can succeed in breaking up the alliance between liquor and politics, besides abolishing the saloon, we know it today, it will have rendered two such superior services that little else need be demanded. With the saloon power in politics destroyed, the prospect of securing better municipal government in our cities, both large and small, would be much brighter.

Duluth's Great Growth.

Bradstreet's, the great financial and trade journal, says in its issue of this week: "From only a few important cities of this country can such cheerful reports as to the results of business operations in 1893 be obtained as from Duluth, the 'Zenith City' of the unsalted seas of Proctor Knott's famous speech. A modest pamphlet of thirty-six pages, compiled by the secretary of the Duluth real estate exchange, sets forth in a bright and interesting way much that is new and a great deal besides regarding the material progress of Duluth during 1893 and in preceding years. The almost marvelous growth of that city in population, trade and wealth is convincingly set forth in a condensed yet attractive form. That the trade results of 1893 have in the main proved satisfactory to those immediately interested in the material development of the city is testified to by extracts from statistics recently appearing in Bradstreet's relating to its lake trade, bank clearings and other matters of interest."

The above remarks are followed by a short table containing statistics that indicate Duluth's marvelous growth since 1880. The figures for 1893 make an excellent showing for a year of general depression throughout the country.

Miss Ida Van Etten, who is reported to have died in Paris yesterday from starvation, was formerly the leader of the workers of her sex in New York, where she made her first public appearance in 1887 at a meeting of the Anti-Poverty society. It was by her efforts that the Working Women's society was organized in the following year. She was a born organizer, her talent in that direction amounting almost to genius.

The St. Paul chamber of commerce yesterday passed resolutions requesting the Minnesota representatives in congress to favor legislation looking to improvement of harbor facilities at Duluth and Superior. The whole Northwest, including the Twin Cities, would be benefited by the deepening of these harbors.

Working by Proxy.

John Henry loved sweet Mary Ann. But he was a bashful fellow. He filled his heart with pain. He gazed at her, he sighed for her. He was quite ready to die for her. In the old time honored way. And the older woman had a little tongue. And she was a coquette girl.

He asked his father to tell the tale of his love to Mary Ann. "No more you get it strong and sweet." He said to the kind old man. And the father tried to win the bride for his backward, bashful son. And he gave the girl to his father's son. And the courtship was begun. And Mary Ann became John's mistress. And the courtship then was done. (Cora Augusta in Detroit Free Press.)

The Negro Here to Stay.

New York World: It is reported from Memphis that the Knights of Labor are about to embark on a campaign having for its object the deportation of the negroes of this country to some part of Africa. Should the knights undertake this job they would have little time or money for anything else. There are 900,000 negroes in the United States. Let some one compute the cost of transporting to Africa even the smallest increase of this number of people, and he will see how absurd the proposition of the knights is. The negro is in America to stay. The light will show why we call it Ruby. $500 reward for any bottle of this wine found under five years old. It is of vital importance that it should be understood by persons whose kidneys are inactive, that this condition of things is finally indicative of a state of the organs where life hangs in the balance. Bright's disease, diabetes, albuminuria are all diseases of a very obstinate character in their mature stage, and all have a fatal tendency. They often battle the most practiced medical skill, and the most expensive of material medicine. But opposed at the outset—that is to say, when the kidneys begin to discharge their functions inactively—with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the dangerous tendency is checked. AMUSEMENTS.

"Gloriana."

"Gloriana" drew only a fair audience at the Temple last evening. The play is a comedy rather running to farce and sometimes dangerously close to horse play, but is nevertheless full of interest and exciting. The company presenting it is a good one, but is not up to the standard of the one that presented it here in the fall of '92. That, however, was an exceptionally strong company containing such people as E. J. Henley, Frederick Bond, Henrietta Crossman and others. The part of Count Eloff was admirably taken by George Barnum. Only one complaint could be made. He introduces occasionally slangy expressions, such as "where was I at" and others of that ilk, to cause a laugh. A Russian nobleman in the diplomatic service and with an imperfect knowledge of English would hardly make use of them. This does not seriously detract from his work, however. Miss Emily Banker makes a charming Gloria, the dashing and susceptible widow being presented in a brilliant and spirited manner. All Hampton as the valet, was excellent, and George Parsons was good as Leopold. "Sweet Will," a 1-act comedy by Henry Arthur Jones was presented as a curtain raiser.

IN A STATE OF DOUBT

What the New Council Will Do Tonight is One of the Problems at Present Unsolved.

President May be Elected, But the Other Officers Probably Will Not be Until Monday.

Ex-Mayor d'Autremont Received Mayor Lewis This Morning and Turned the Office Over to Him.

Tonight the new council will meet and endeavor to organize. At all the caucuses held it proved impossible to form a slate, so that no one will know who the officers of the body will be before this evening. One of the old aldermen this morning stated that, in his opinion, the presidency rests between Messrs. Howard and Hale with the chances considerably in favor of the former. Without doubt J. W. Nelson will get the vice presidency. It is only reasonable, too, to believe that Alderman Cox, when the time comes for that, will be made chairman of the committee on public offices and officers.

Today it is conceded on all sides and by all interested that President Spencer was right last evening when he held that the old council died officially at midnight last night.

It also has been ascertained that all kinds of aldermanic business must be done at a regular meeting or at a special meeting called by the mayor, with the exact purposes for which it is called, designated by his honor. That view is taken quite generally today and it is even doubted that the new council has a right even to choose its clerk this evening. Of course that one point is immaterial, as City Clerk Richardson is not only his own successor, but he holds until his successor is appointed. The original idea with the aldermen was to fix the salaries tonight and then, next week, be prepared to tackle the matter of appointments.

Mayor Lewis will probably send in the customary inaugural message this evening, but it seems to be pretty well understood that he will not name the heads of departments until the first regular meeting. The acknowledged slate up to date is: City attorney, Page Morris; city clerk, C. E. Richardson; member of the board of public works to succeed Henry Truelsen, M. J. Davis; chief of police, Harry Armstrong; assessor, S. F. Wadhams. The first two named will be elected by the council, and the last three appointed by the mayor.

A gentleman who is in a position to speak from actual knowledge, asserts that Mayor Lewis will take no immediate action in the appointment of a successor to Nils Nilson, but that he will wait awhile and see how the ground lies. There is a widespread belief around town among the politicians, that C. R. Haines, in due time, will be the man. One gentleman in discussing it, however, says that Mr. Haines is a director in the Hartman Electric Light company, and as such, thinks he would be considered as holding a contract with the city and hence would be ineligible to the position. It is conceded that the city attorney shall be given the privilege of naming his own assistant.

Alderman Cox Cannot Reliate. Talking about things aldermanic and councilmanic Alderman Cox and Thomas came into the discussion again. Last night Alderman Thomas kicked because the aldermen of the board paid out for rock work was not referred to the committee on claims and accounts, of which he is chairman, instead of the special committee on employment for idle men. The council last evening recognized Alderman Thomas' kick and referred the matter to his committee with a request to report this evening. Now it seems that the old council tonight will have no authority or right to consider the matter. That will shut Alderman Cox out of a chance to give Alderman Thomas a blow in the wind. Alderman Cox asserts today, as the result of finding out facts unknown to him yesterday afternoon, the question of allowing the overdraft was first offered to Mr. Thomas' committee to consider and report upon, but that he refused to accept it. That condition of things, with a sore arm, makes Cox feel a little blue today.

Mayor d'Autremont, attended by Private Secretary Tom Walsh, was at the city hall earlier than for many moons this morning. When the aldermen last night refused to confirm the twenty-two policemen, eighteen of whom belong to West Duluth, they left West Duluth without police protection as the officers after the former rejection have no authority to act. Mr. d'Autremont was anxious to see Mayor Lewis, explain the situation to him, so that he might give Chief Horgan some authority in the matter.

Mayor Lewis in Office. Mayor Lewis, however, was slow in getting around. About 11 o'clock Fred Lewis, who will be private secretary to his father, the mayor, put in an appearance and announced that the city's new executive had been detained at home by a frozen water pipe. Secretary Walsh exerted his greatest powers to entertain, exhibited his new blackthorn stick, turned over the keys to the desks and then, when Mayor Lewis showed up half an hour later, showed him into the sanctum where Mr. d'Autremont was waiting and with his brightest smile, softened with a tear in memory of two years of associations bade the office an eternal farewell. At the noon hour the mayor and the ex-mayor were closeted in the office of the chief executive. Two years ago, when Mr. d'Autremont came in, ex-Mayor Davis left the duty of welcoming him to the janitor, but Mr. d'Autremont preferred to extend that courtesy in person, which cannot help but be most pleasing to his successor.

RAINY LAKE CITY

Situated in the center of the new gold fields and of the extensive timber district on Rainy Lake, is now attracting the attention of investors and settlers to an extent that is truly marvelous.

It is predicted that before the summer is over, Rainy Lake City will be the most active and prosperous place in the state. Saw mills are now on the ground; stamp mills have been purchased, paid for, and are being shipped; all branches of business are arranging for active operations, for which a large number of lots have been selected and already many buildings are under way.

Best Business Lots, $250. Choicest Residence Lots, $100.

Don't wait, call in, investigate, as we believe these lots will sell for three times the present prices inside of three or four months, and then prices will be less than one half those of other places that have not one-half the advantages of this new Eldorado of the Northwest.

Will Become Uncle Sam's Court Officer After the Minneapolis Term is Over.

There has been some question as to the time when the new marshal, J. Adam Bede, would sail down to St. Paul in his birch bark canoe and yesterday Marshal Donahower received a note from that gentleman in which he said that he hoped Col. Donahower would undertake the management of the Minneapolis term of court, which will open on March 20, and so give him an opportunity to arrange his private business and file his bonds.

It is likely that Mr. Bede will be in attendance a part of the time at least for the Minneapolis term to catch on to the way the court is run.

Howard & Haynie to Open Soon. The appraisers who are now estimating the damage upon the stock will soon be through with their tedious work, and then the long anticipated opening will immediately take place. It will be a rare event for the ladies, for the reason that all the choicest silks, dress goods, laces, trimmings, handkerchiefs, gloves, linens, hosiery, underwear, cloaks, etc., will be thrown entirely at the mercy of the trade. It is reasonable to suppose that five or six days will see the store open for business again.

Call at the Office.

Miss Marie Durroughs has furnished a veritable feast of art, beauty and interesting information in her "Art Portfolio of Stage Celebrities." The Blue Book is Out.

The first copy of the Duluth Blue Book, about which so much has been said and written, made its appearance today. It is a very creditable work and will be a valuable guide for business men and social people, containing as it does much information which cannot be obtained in the city directory. It contains the names of officers of all clubs, the professional men and women, personnel of the press and many other classifications which have heretofore not been obtainable. That it will prove popular with all there is no doubt.

The Court Filing.

Papers were filed today with Clerk Sinclair as follows:

Cheap Rates to California. The Northern Pacific Railroad company has put into effect a series of low round trip rates to California, points tickets are good until July 15th, 1894 and are good for stopover under certain conditions.

These rates will enable those desiring to do so, to spend the winter in Southern California, or to visit the Midwinter fair to be held at San Francisco. This latter event will undoubtedly be second only to the World's fair, and will repay a visit as it will exhibit the resources and capabilities of California.

SPRUNG A SURPRISE

The Attorney General of Michigan Filed an Amended Answer in the Salary Amendment Case.

An Affidavit That the Gratiot County Canvassers Failed to Canvass the Vote in 1891.

The Present County Clerk Says That He is Unable to Discover Any Original Canvass.

LANSING, Mich., March 7.—Attorney General Ellis sprung a surprise in the supreme court today in the case brought by the governor for a mandamus to compel a canvass of the vote on the salary amendment of 1891. He asked leave to amend his answer and presented the affidavit of I. N. Cowdry, clerk of Gratiot county, in 1891, to the effect that the county canvassers adjourned that year without making any canvass whatever of the vote cast on the amendment increasing the salary of the attorney general, and that he wrote them up in his record without being canvassed. He also presented the affidavit of the present county clerk that he is unable to discover any original canvass. These affidavits show that no canvass of the amendment vote of 1891 was made in Gratiot county. If the court decided that the vote of Gratiot county shall not be counted, the amendment will have a majority of 287 votes, after subtracting the 100 votes illegally added in Gogebic county. The court has the papers under advisement.

THREE WILL PROBABLY DIE.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 7.—As the eastbound passenger train on the Pennsylvania railroad leaving here at 10 p. m. reached the Norfolk & Western junction about three miles out from Central station last night, an empty sleeping car carried on the rear of the train and colliding with the signal tower, demolished it and was itself completely wrecked.

It is reported that the operator threw the switch before the last car had passed over it and this derailed it. There were five men in the tower at the time and it is a miracle that they were not all instantly killed, as the tower was broken into kindling wood. These five men were: James Jenkins, yard conductor; Bert Woodward, yard master; John McCormick, George Wilson, car inspector, and Benjamin Cooper, the tower operator. Of these Jenkins, Woodward and Cooper will probably die. They all live here.

FIRE AT FORT WILLIAM.

A Hotel Destroyed and a Young Man Burned to Death.

FORT ARTHUR, Ont., March 7.—The Avenue hotel at Fort William burned Monday night, involving a loss of $10,000 on the building; $500 on household goods; $300 on $1,000 jewelry stock and several hundred dollars on the personal effects of the attaches of the house. E. Jones, a young man employed by Mills the jeweler, was missing and a search among the ruins discovered the charred remains of a body which is undoubtedly his. He came from Elora, in Eastern Ontario.

CHARLES COGHAN ILL.

Suffering From Nervous Prostration and Overwork.

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—The well-known actor Charles Coghlan was yesterday removed from his home to Mercy hospital suffering from nervous prostration, overwork and worry. His physicians say that he will not be able to leave the hospital for a week and possibly longer. Mr. Coghlan's engagement at the Duquesne theater in "Disenchantment" this week has been cancelled as has also his engagement at the Chicago Opera house next week. The company disbanded yesterday.

A Student Sandbagged.

WEST UNION, Iowa, March 7.—Daniel Costigan, a student at the Upper Iowa university was sandbagged and dragged to a field four miles from town Monday night. He was one of the contestants at the oratorical contest and was on his way to the hall. When found Costigan was badly bruised and bleeding. He could give no explanation whatever. The only clue thus far is the circumstance of another student having made a bet that Costigan would not be at the contest. The matter will be investigated.

Residence for the Crown Prince.

LONDON, March 7.—Dispatches received from Berlin say Emperor William has purchased as a residence for the crown prince a villa near the new palace at Potsdam. The grounds surrounding the villa reach to the river Havel. The prince, who is 11 years of age, will have resident tutors in the villa until such time as he shall be fitted to enter the university.

No Money for Witnesses.

MILWAUKEE, March 7.—The twenty-five persons waiting trial here in the United States district court must remain in prison until congress appropriates money to pay witness fees. Attorney General Olney notified Marshal Wiswell to that effect. The appropriation for keeping federal prisoners in state prisons is also exhausted.

Death of a Bishop.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., March 7.—Rev. John Adams Paddock, missionary bishop, jurisdiction of Olympia, Wash., is dead.

CASE OF A DOUBLE SUICIDE.

A Doctor and His Affiliated Take Morphine and Cocaine.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—Dr. J. J. Leek, a well known dentist of this city, and Miss Alice Aldersley, to whom Leek was reported to have been engaged, were found in an unconscious condition in the doctor's room Monday, suffering from the effect of morphine and cocaine. The police were not notified until yesterday. Dr. Leek and the young woman are still unconscious and it is not known whether they will recover. The affair is wrapped in mystery, but is probably a case of double suicide. The doctor is reported to have been worried recently in litigation with his brother, since which time he has been despondent.

A PRIEST THREATENED.

But He Is Not Afraid of Any Attempt to Kill Him.

FREMONT, Neb., March 7.—An evening paper publishes a story in effect that Father J. B. Fitzgerald, pastor of the Catholic church, had been threatened with assassination. The story goes on to say that Father Fitzgerald recently received an anonymous letter, evidently in women's handwriting, warning him that an attempt would be made upon his life; that the writer had overheard a conversation between two men, in which one declared he would kill the priest if it took ten years. Father Fitzgerald admitted receiving the letter, but said he was not alarmed. He knew of no reason why an attempt should be made upon his life.

HE WANTED HIS PROFITS.

An Exciting Scene in a Bucket Shop at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 7.—B. B. Clay, a well known lawyer, created an exciting scene at the Minneapolis Grain Commission company's office yesterday afternoon. He demanded money due him on a deal in American Sugar, which Manager Clark refused to pay. Clay pulled a revolver and forced Clark to throw up his hands. The latter agreed to settle and drenching when he would dry his clothing in the hot sun without removing any of his garments. Such exposure doubtless rendered him more susceptible to the fever, with which he was attacked on Thursday and the same day he was taken to the English hospital.

Died From Yellow Fever.

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 7.—G. M. Rollins, of New York, who died from yellow fever Sunday night, lived on board of an old and dismantled vessel in Rio de Janeiro, where he was engaged in the steamship business. He frequently went sailing about the bay in a catboat and on such occasions usually got a thorough drenching, when he would dry his clothing in the hot sun without removing any of his garments. Such exposure doubtless rendered him more susceptible to the fever, with which he was attacked on Thursday and the same day he was taken to the English hospital.

Will Fall on Ten Men.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 7.—The state bonds held a meeting last night and agreed to make a settlement with the state without further contest. Thirty men were present. Of that number twenty are hopelessly insolvent. The loss will fall on ten men, all residents of Little Rock. The sum agreed upon was $1,000, the amount of the recent judgment entered against the bondsmen. This swells the total amount paid to $100,000.

To Prison for Life.

OMAHA, Neb., March 7.—Defiance, Squires and West, three federal prisoners, were yesterday taken to the Sioux Falls government penitentiary, guarded by four United States officers. Defiance's term is a life one for robbing a mail carrier of 1 cent. Squires gets two years for conspiring to rob a train. West, though facts seemed to prove his innocence, claims to have robbed a post-office and goes up for eighteen months.

Fortune for Mrs. Lease.

WICHITA, Kan., March 7.—Mrs. Mary E. Lease received information yesterday from Ireland that one of her maiden aunts had died several years ago, leaving a considerable fortune, of which she is one of the beneficiaries. The connection between the daughter of Erin and the Kansas woman has only just been established in the minds of the trustees.

Confessed to a Murder.

COLUMBUS, O., March 7.—It is found that the double murder confessed by Convict Charles Moxley while he supposed he was dying from a suicidal attempt Monday night, was the killing of Jonathan Donahue and his wife near Xenia, O., in May, 1889. He did it for robbery.

Rosebery in Possession.

LONDON, March 7.—The offices occupied by Mr. Gladstone as premier were formally taken possession of by Lord Rosebery yesterday afternoon. The new premier was cordially greeted by the retiring prime minister upon his arrival at the rooms in the official residence in Downing street.

Liberal Pension Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Senator Marvin of Kansas, not to be outdone in liberality to pensioners, has introduced in the senate a general pension bill, which increases the pension of every person now on the rolls at $8 a month on account of services in the Mexican war, including the widows of all soldiers who served in the war to $12 a month.

Newspaper Burned Out.

OAKLAND, Neb., March 7.—The Oakland Independent office, a 2-story frame building, was destroyed by fire yesterday. The family of William Brewster, the proprietor, lived in the upper story and had a narrow escape. Loss about $400.

Suffocated by Smoke.

NEW YORK, March 7.—A fire occurred last night in the 4-story brick tenement, 133 West Thirty-ninth street, and Mrs. Glasson and her 4-year-old son Francis were suffocated by smoke.

The Coughlin Trial.

CHICAGO, March 7.—This is probably the last day of argument in the Coughlin case. It is expected that Judge Taft will instruct the jury tomorrow morning.

BY CLEVER STRATEGY

The Bland Seigniorage Bill Was Rushed to Its Third Reading in the Senate Today.

It Was a Neat Bit of Preliminary Strategy and the Republicans Were Outgeneraled.

Finally the Bill Went Over Until Tomorrow, Retaining Its Place as Unfinished Business.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The Bland seigniorage bill was before the senate for discussion today. Mr. Harris asked unanimous consent for its consideration. Mr. Sherman objected and wanted to refer it to the finance committee. After remarks by Senators Hale, Cockrell, Vest, Stewart, McPherson, Mr. Harris moved to proceed to the consideration of seigniorage bill, and it was agreed to without a division. This makes the seigniorage bill the unfinished business, the pending question being Mr. Sherman's motion to refer it to the committee on finance.

Mr. Sherman's motion to refer the Bland bill to the finance committee was lost by a vote of 50 to 6. The only senators who voted for the motion were Messrs. Davis, Gallinger, Morrill, Palmer, Sherman and Vest.

The bill was promptly put upon the question of its engrossment and final passage. This motion evidently took the Republicans by surprise and Mr. Hoar moved that the senate adjourn in order to head off the taking of the vote. A demand was made for the yeas and nays which were ordered.

The indications point to the conclusion that the Democrats have outgeneraled the Republicans by a neat bit of parliamentary strategy. The motion to adjourn was defeated. Mr. Quay asked unanimous consent that the bill be laid aside until tomorrow, retaining its place as the unfinished business, but Mr. Turpie objected unless the question of reconsideration was first disposed of. Upon Mr. Quay's motion the senate then, at 3:18, went into executive session.

CALLED ON THE PRESIDENT.

Maj. Baldwin Had an Interview at the White House This Morning.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—[Special to The Herald.]—Representative Baldwin called on the president this morning, presumably to discuss the appointment of a collector of customs at Duluth. He may also have suggested to the president the expediency of appointing ex-Representative Harries as collector of internal revenue, as both he and Representative Hall endorsed Harries last spring. Mike Doran had an interview with Secretary Carlisle late yesterday about the collector of internal revenue, but it is reported that he is not recommended. Today he called on the postmaster general and the secretary of the interior, and has an engagement with the president late in the afternoon, when the whole matter of Minnesota appointments will probably be gone over. Mr. Doran denies that he is interfering in any way with the appointment of a collector at Duluth.

THE WAR IN BRAZIL.

The Church Party Said to be Supplying Da Gama With Funds.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The Herald's special cable from Rio Janeiro says: It is reported here that the church party has been supplying Admiral Da Gama and the rebel fleet with funds, in return for which Da Gama has promised that in case the rebellion is successful state aid will be restored to the church.

Rumors have reached here today that the government troops have sustained defeat on the Sao Paulo frontier, but they lack confirmation.

Admiral Mello's oldest son is dead in Argentina. It is reported that Senor Masilla visited the rebel ship Martes in the bay here recently and requested the release of two national guardsmen who were prisoners on board her and that Capt. Rutumba, representing Admiral Da Gama, agreed to give them up. There are several officers of the national guard held as prisoners on the Martes. They say they have been well treated but have been kept on a pretty short allowance of food for the last month.

Where the Aquidaban and Republica now are is not known here, but it is considered probable that they are refitting at Isla Grande, preparatory to giving battle to President Peixoto's warships.

An Appointment for Chicago.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The Post says: It is understood that Reussalar Stone, of Chicago, will be appointed assistant commissioner of internal revenue in the place of Mr. Wilson, the present incumbent, who holds over from the Republican administration. Mr. Stone was collector of internal revenue at Chicago during the first term of President Cleveland, and on account of his qualifications has been recommended for reappointment to the office.

Hotel Burned.

WHITEHALL, N. Y., March 7.—The Ellis Park hotel, situated on Lake Bomoseen, near Castleton, Vt., was totally destroyed by fire at about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The loss is between $30,000 and $40,000.

Markham's Trial Begun.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 7.—The trial of Joseph M. Markham, member of the state legislature, on an indictment for bribery began here this morning in the district court.

Horsewhipped in Jail.
HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 7.—Some days ago Professor W. O. Keith, a colored school teacher, was incarcerated in the county jail, charged with burning one of the public school buildings. Within the past day or two he was tried by a "kangaroo" court, composed of prisoners in the jail, found guilty of the burning of several houses in this place recently, and given 175 lashes. He was finally rescued by the jail officials before the full sentence of 300 lashes was administered.

All Ready to Coin Silver.
WASHINGTON, March 7.—Mint Director Preston said yesterday that within an hour after the passage of the silver seigniorage bill he could begin the coining of silver dollars. The San Francisco mint has the silver planchets all ready for running them through the stamp machine. All these preparations were made last October, when Secretary Carlisle was considering the propriety of coining silver.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The dead man found at the foot of the cliffs at the mouth of the Pacific tunnel near Ingram, Pa., yesterday, is undoubtedly George N. Osborne, Jr. He was about 30 years old and had always been wild. Some three years ago he was with the Cosmopolitan magazine, but since that time he had done nothing but wander around the country.

Clement, attorney for Mrs. Janet Baldwin, of this city, who has a claim against the Mexican government of $100,000 for the murder of her husband by bandits near Matamoros, Mex., in August, 1887, leaves here today for Washington to settle the claim with representatives of the United States and Mexican governments, which has been pending six years.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.
March 7.—A slight barometric depression is central in Missouri; the barometer is highest over Colorado.
In the Mississippi valley the weather this morning is warmer and cloudier, with showers or light snows in the Ohio valley and lake regions. It is generally cooler with showers, except over western Lake Superior, where the temperature has risen to 10 to 15 degrees, with light snow. To the westward of the Mississippi valley the weather continues clear and cool.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today,
25 degrees, maximum 30 degrees, minimum
11 degrees above zero.

DELTA, March 6.—Local forecast until 8
p. m. tomorrow: Snow, followed tonight by clearing; easterly winds shifting to easterly northwesterly; fair, Thursday.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Forecast till 8 p. m.
tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Showers today
or tonight; fair Tuesday, probably colder, winds becoming northwesterly. For Minnesota:
Generally fair; slightly cooler in eastern portion Thursday morning; warmer in western portion in the afternoon; northwesterly winds becoming variable.

The Railroads and the Panic.

The most conspicuous result of the panic and the long financial depression
is the passing of so many great railroad properties into the hands of the receivers.
In other words, a larger proportion of railroads failed than of any other kind of business. This is a very striking fact, not only of commercial importance, but of importance in many other ways as well. Simon Sterne, the distinguished railroad lawyer of New York,
who is among our clearest writers upon great economic subjects, publishes in the March Forum an article of unusual breadth and interest, analyzing the causes and the consequences of these extensive failures.

He shows that they are due in great measure to bad financial methods, sometimes to vicious financial management;
but that in addition to all other causes
we have not developed men of sufficient ability to manage these great properties
as fast as the properties have been built that require such management. In other words, our rapidity of consolidation and construction has been much greater than the development of men able to manage the great properties that we have constructed.

Railroad building, Mr. Sterne points out, had proceeded with such rapidity that the problem to be solved was very much like that which confronted the United States when, in 1861, it was called upon suddenly to offer a huge army. Most railway presidents and chairmen of boards came from the ranks of other professions, or from branches of employment in the railway business of which is wholly foreign to the financial administration of the road. The capacity, industry and knowledge required for the successful handling of the budgets of railway properties which have a gross income ranging from $12,000,000
to $100,000,000 as great as that required for the balancing of a nation's expenditures and receipts. But where are all these gifted railway financiers to come from—ready made Minerva-like competent to administer the 175-000 miles of rail of the United States, and effectively and economically to handle the $30,000,000 directly employed, and the 3,000,000 of people indirectly supported by the transportation companies of these United States?

The difficulties of railway administration without sufficient working capital
have not escaped Mr. Sterne's attention.
Yet this is a business that, more than any other, requires a good reserve capital. As matters now stand, the railways are capitalized for much more than they are worth. Usually the bonded indebtedness, car-trust certificates, equipment
and terminal securities, taken at par,
represent a value in excess of the cost of the road, and upon them fixed interest is compulsorily payable. Hence, whatever the road earns upon actual cost must, unless it exceed say 6 per cent be paid out annually in the shape of interest alone.

And then when the railways have become so seriously involved that the companies cannot carry them on, the United States courts commit another evil of railway administration, in reference to railway receiverships. Says Mr. Sterne:
"A railway official, in consequence of his incapacity or misfortune, or as a victim of a vicious system (it does not much matter which), brings a railway into bankruptcy. He then—supported often by the trustee of the mortgage—is appointed receiver by the courts, on the application either of the company or of the complainant trustee or of an equally compliant creditor, and, in his capacity
as receiver, continues to earn probably a larger salary than he did as president.
The only excuse for such an appointment is that such receiver has the requisite knowledge of details necessary for the continued administration of the property. This is a monstrous evil."

A promising, young lieutenant in the British service died last week from internal injuries received in a football game. During the stormy season the list of casualties in this invigorating sport has been reduced, but with the approach of spring the services of the surgeon are once more in brisk demand.

The Kansas City Star says the undertakers are looking forward to a lively trade pending the amendment of football rules.

Sabin and Washburn.

Hon. Dwight M. Sabin is now a full-fledged candidate for United States senator to succeed Mr. Washburn. This is the information that comes from Minneapolis today. Mr. Sabin has arranged his business affairs and is said to be in excellent condition to give the junior senator a battle royal. Mr. Sabin was defeated by Mr. Washburn in the Republican caucus by a very narrow margin, the majority against him being secured by methods which many people believed were not in accord with pure politics, and he had many sympathizers
in his defeat. He has numerous friends throughout the state today who will rally to his support, and Mr. Washburn will find that he must leave no stone unturned in such a contest.

Rumor credits Governor Nelson with sympathizing with Mr. Sabin's aspirations, but there is no confirmation of this report. Yet there is no reason to believe that the governor has any special regard for Mr. Washburn, and it is possible that he would rather see Mr. Sabin returned to his old place at Washington.
In any event, however, the probability is that a very exciting senatorial fight is about to begin.

The Mayor's Message.

Mayor Lewis has confirmed by his inaugural address the good impression
which he has created during his residence in Duluth and by his attitude during the municipal campaign. It was a plain, business document that clearly expresses the mayor's views upon various municipal questions in language that all can understand.

There is nothing obscure about the major's utterances, but upon each subject his views are given without any cir-cumlocution. He goes direct to the point and wastes few words in stating his opinions. It is a document that will commend the attention of the citizens
and must meet with general approval.
Throughout the message economy and the practice of business principles in the conduct of the city's business are insisted upon, and the necessity is urged of strengthening and reorganizing various departments that are not now in satisfactory condition. If the work of the council shall be carried out upon the lines laid down in the mayor's message, Duluth will indeed be well governed during the coming year.

An independent citizens' movement,
the outgrowth of the corrupt and extravagant manner in which the city has been run by the politicians, has been formed in Kansas City, and a complete municipal ticket, headed by a prominent business man for mayor, has been placed in the field. The new party's platform is brief but to the point: "We desire an honest, economical, non-partisan city government, conducted solely in the city's interest upon sound business principles for all taxpayers and for all classes." This is an excellent platform, broad and sound enough for every man to stand upon. It is good enough for Duluth.

The selection of Alderman B. F. Howard as president of the new council is a deserved recognition of lengthy and able service in the council, and the whole city will applaud the choice. That Mr. Howard will make an excellent presiding officer there is no doubt. Alderman J.
W. Nelson, the new vice president, is a younger man in the city's service but his ability and integrity have been demonstrated during the past two years.

The Massachusetts supreme court has decided against the constitutionality of submitting the woman suffrage question to popular vote. This leaves the legislature the supreme power on the suffrage question. The lives of members of that body are likely to be made miserable by the arguments and pleadings of the suffragists.

There are some peculiar juries met
with in our courts, but a Lawrence, Kan., jury has just eclipsed all records. These twelve wise men gave a verdict of $32-000 in defiance of the instructions of the court, and when sent back to the jury room refused to agree on any other verdict. Of course the judge has set the verdict aside.

It is said that the new fad now in Paris is for young girls to appear as old as possible, ingenious being out of the mode. Young girls are seen quite often, particularly debutantes, with powdered
hair and make-up as elderly as can be assumed. This fad must be very contrary to the elderly spinsters.

Lazarus Silverman, the Chicago banker, who failed recently, but who has resumed business, made the statement that he had worn the same overcoat for eighteen years. A man that can do that nowadays has no business failing. One can now understand how he has become wealthy.

The assertion is made that John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, advanced the theory of evolution as far back as 1723, when his "Philosophy" was published. This rather deprives Darwin of his position as the first advocate of the doctrine.

The governors of thirty-seven states have stated in reply to inquiries, that they will not permit the Corbett-Jackson fight to take place in their states, while the other seven governors have not been heard from. It is to be hoped that they will adopt the same view of the matter.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox says that she recently asked for "The Pace That Kills"
at the book department of a big dry goods and general store, and was told by the saleswoman that it was "over at the insect powder counter." A very appropriate place for works of that class.

Judge Grosscup threw a libel suit out of court at Chicago a few days ago. The court held on a demurrer that it was not the height of politeness to compare a preacher to a rotten egg, yet there was no libel in the comparison.

The rush to the Rainy lake gold region will benefit Duluth in many ways. But whether there is gold ore or not, the Rainy lake district will be settled and developed, on account of its other resources.

The Republicans appear to have been very successful in the municipal elections throughout New York state yesterday. Probably the Wilson bill has some effect on the result.

This is going to be a great year
throughout the northern counties of Minnesota. In no other section of the country is the prospect so bright.

A Long Acquired Right.

Little Falls Transcript: St. Cloud is very proper in calling Duluth down for waiting many offices. By long established custom St. Cloud has acquired the right to be the great office wanting city of the state.

He Preferred an Upper Berth.

Detroit Free Press: "Why do I prefer an upper berth to a lower in a sleeping car?" repeated the drummer, as he counted out and swallowed six pellets without explaining whether they were for his liver or lungs.

"Yes, why?" queried the man who was felicitating himself on having secured lower No. 7.
"Well, there are various reasons.
When I first began to travel, fifteen years ago, the wheel of a car on a train passing us flew off and killed a man in lower 6. The chap over him never got a scratch. Later on a fellow threw a rock at the car, and it entered the window of lower 4 and broke the sleepers' heads. Man over him never even woke up. Again, a car I was on ran over a lot of dynamite.
Man in lower 7 was blown up with the floor and killed, but the one over him didn't even know that anything had happened. Once more, a man in a lower berth can be easily robbed, while one in an upper is seldom troubled. Last, but not least—"

"What was asked as he paused.
"I always undress, same as at a hotel.
There's no telling when an accident may come. In case the car goes off, the upper berth is apt to clear the lower berth secure from the gaze of the vulgar
public until a porter can put up a tent
alongside the track and get your clothes
there and help you to dress. Modesty is my chief reason, but as all you fellows broke your necks to get lower berths, of course I can't expect you to understand or appreciate it!"

Obstinate Case of Catarrh

Local Applications Failed—Hood's

Sarsaparilla Cured.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:
"Gentlemen:—I ought to make known my experience with Hood's Sarsaparilla, so that others afflicted may learn where to find a remedy for that serious and obstinate disease, catarrh. It troubled me seriously. I had a dull aching sensation in the top of my head, and the usual discharge from the nose, became bad that morning I could do nothing but hawk and spit. My lungs were also being rapidly affected, and I had not been for Hood's Sarsaparilla, I would have died."

A Consumptive's Grave

long ago, I have taken about ten bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which have effectually cured me. Before resorting to this medicine,
I had tried every other remedy, but with no local application, I heard of. None seemed to reach the seat of the disease. In fact I grew worse while using them. I owe my cure to the blood purifying powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MINNIE M. KEYSER, Pataaskala, Ohio.

ALL TRIBUTARY TO DULUTH.

The Rich Country in St. Louis, Itasca, Lake and Cook Counties.

Minneapolis Journal: Even if the reports and forebodings of gold discoveries in the Rainy lake region of Itasca and St. Louis counties prove to be a great extent illusory, for such discoveries are usually exaggerated, the impul-sion of population thither and the concurrent acquisitions to our knowledge of the resources of that region will be of very great advantage to the state.

The discovery of rich iron ore in St.
Louis county has changed the entire face and destiny of that region, and as the iron ore deposits trend westward, Itasca
county will in all probability be added,
ere long, to the busy arena of mining operations, and Beltrami, almost terra
incognita, will, through the stimulus given by the discoveries of the mineral wealth of St. Louis and Itasca, be the scene of an influx of settlers. For there is in these northern counties not only wealth of standing pine and wealth of minerals, but there is a large area of excellent farming land.

There are over 1,000,000 acres of unsurveyed public land in Itasca county.
The government owns nearly 2,000,000
acres and the railroads have some 30-000 acres of land for sale. Beltrami is an unoccupied county, containing a large body of excellent farming land, state and national government land, with a big Indian reservation to be opened up for settlement. There is more intrinsic value to lands in these Minnesota counties; more substantial promise of comfort and wealth to the settler; more solidity of title and law, and other than in any of the regions recently opened for settlement in the Southwest or Northwest.

Within ten years railroad lines will make all portions of these counties accessible and the whole region will be a beehive of industry. There is evidence that coal in large quantities exists in the Rainy lake country and the lumber and mining operations, with the probability of important gold quartz mining enterprises, will bring a larger working population thither whose physical wants must be supplied by the opening up of the desirable farmlands.

Minnesota, in fact, presents today in these northern counties, one of the best fields in the country for the profitable investment of money. The time is most favorable for such investments.

A VERY RICH DISTRICT.

The Rainy Lake Region Has Many Valuable Resources.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: Whatever may be thought of the value of the reported gold finds in the Rainy Lake river district, there is no question at all that that country is rich in other valuable resources, and the representations of our correspondent upon this subject in another column are in accord with the information which has been furnished to the Pioneer Press by persons who are familiar with the character of the country. The gold discoveries, whatever value they may have, will be of little importance to the settlement of that region. It will not be long before one or two, or perhaps more, railroads will cut it off from the south and east. It contains large tracts of valuable pine,
and especially in the west a great deal of fertile lands. The extent and character of its mineral deposits are not so well known, but there is no reason to suppose they are less valuable than on any other part of the continent. The place, as yet, for poor men in search of employment to go to.

J. C. SCHAEFER HAS ASSIGNED.

He Has Quit Owing to Poor Business and Will go to California.

J. C. Schaefer, the merchant tailor whose place of business is in The Herald building, has made an assignment to Fred W. Smith. Mr. Schaefer estimates the value of his stock at about $8000, while his liabilities amount to only $5400. He has also transferred all his real estate to the assignee, so that the creditors are fully protected.

Mr. Schaefer has taken this step owing to the depressed condition, which has caused him to run behind. As he has long been thinking of retiring from business, he concluded to close now rather than suffer more loss. He intends to leave in a few days for Los Angeles, where he will reside in future. His family has already left for that place. Mr. Schaefer has been engaged in business in Duluth for many years and there will be general regret that he has decided to leave the city.

ANOTHER BIG RUSH.

Nearly Four Hundred Men on Hand at the Opening of 64-18.

There was one of the biggest rushes at the United States land office this morning that has been seen for many months.

Town 64-18 was opened for settlement and at one time nearly 400 men crowded into the office and corridors.

The fourth floor of the Temple building. Only about 75 numbers were given out, however, and thirty-five filings were made. Eight of these were homestead applications and twenty-seven timber and stone filings. Three hundred and nineteen dollars and ten cents were taken in fees. Tomorrow (65-1) comes in and there will probably be another rush.

The land contest case of Edw. L. Warren vs. Ener Olson is dragging out its third day of hearing before Register Taylor. The claimant is defending his pre-emption against the contestant's timber claim.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its cases and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, it is not surprising that it should be cured by the system. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the cause of the disease, and giving the system strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The cure is not a mere palliative, but a positive cure, that they offer $100 for any case that it fails to cure. Sent for free of cost.

James E. Connelley Serves Notice of Appeal to the Supreme Court Through Attorney C. O. Baldwin.

Mrs. Mary Mullahey is Free, the Case Against Her for Kidnapping Having Been Dismissed.

Other Cases Against Connelley Continued—W. P. Strickland's Claim of Usury Sustained by the Jury.

Attorney C. O. Baldwin gave notice this morning that the case of the state against James E. Connelley, convicted of rape and now serving a sentence of twenty years at Stillwater, will be appealed to the supreme court. Upon motion of the county attorney the cases against Connelley on indictments for indecent assault, rape and kidnapping were continued. This is done so that in the event of his discharge by the supreme court, he can again be tried.

Attorney Baldwin also asked for a dismissal of the charge against Mrs. Mary Mullahey for kidnapping. Judge Lewis granted the motion.

The four cases of the United States Investment company against W. P. Strickland et al. went to the jury yesterday morning, but it was not until this morning that a verdict was returned. The jury came into court in the afternoon and asked for information regarding one or two points in the case. It was given and the jury again retired. This morning the verdict was returned and Mr. Strickland must have fairly hugged himself with glee. The intervention in the case was completely knocked out and Strickland was awarded judgment amounting in the four cases to about $1000. The suit was brought to collect about $1700 on notes. Strickland set up usury and has won.

The appeal cases from the award of commissioners in condemnation of lands for the Missabe road went to the jury at noon today, and another batch of the same class of cases were taken up before Judge Moor.

The jury in the case of G. V. I. Brown vs. J. D. Moore returned a verdict for the plaintiff awarding him possession of a horse, phaeton, harness, etc., valued at $100. George D. Selden et al. vs. B. B. Richards is on trial.

WANT MORE BUILDINGS.

School Board Considers Tax Payers About Issuing Bonds.

The board of education held a special meeting last evening and twelve or fifteen prominent citizens were present. The question of the propriety of building more new school houses at this time was discussed. The board members were in doubt as to how a request for issuance of more bonds would be met but the citizens present thought the board had always acted wisely and if it now wishes to erect more buildings, the public will understand that it is necessary. Two more buildings, one at West Duluth and one in the West End are greatly needed.

This course will consist of eight lectures, one each Tuesday evening until finished. A short musical program was rendered as a prelude to the lecture. Mrs. Jean Aras gave a piano solo, Miss Caldwell sang "Ora Pro Nobis" and Misses Williams and Mr. Holmes sang a trio, "Playing on the Old Banjo."

Rev. C. C. Salter then, in a few well-chosen, happy sentences, introduced "Hon. J. Adam Bede, of St. Louis county." An audience highly complimentary to the lecturer as to numbers, for over an hour listened attentively to the words of wit and wisdom that were uttered. Through it all Mr. Bede's face wore an expression of unchangeable gravity. The audience would follow him with great gravity, and then some droll, unlooked-for expression would be sprung and the listeners who had just been moved almost to tears by some pathetic little story, would be convulsed with laughter.

The ground passed over by the witty speaker extended from the day man was created in the Garden of Eden, up to the close of the late municipal campaign. The lecture was entitled, "Things to Think Of," and it was not only truly named, but no matter what ones view on the questions of the day, there was some-thing said that afforded thought to the individual.

Woman was lauded, infidelity ridiculed, intemperance rebuked, charity pleaded for, love was given a high position and came the entreaty "Let us love one another."

Wit, religion, philosophy, politics, good common sense, were delightfully mingled in a manner informal yet most logical. At the close the members of the audience rushed forward to grasp the hand of the speaker and the lecture was almost turned into an informal reception. Long ago Mr. Bede proved his high ability as the master of the journalistic quill. Some weeks ago he demonstrated his get there propensities in politics, and last night he set a mark for himself as a master of the lecture platform.

CATHOLIC CLUB LECTURE.

J. C. Hessian Spoke Last Evening on "Greek and Roman Mythology."

J. C. Hessian lectured before the Catholic club last evening on "Greek and Roman Mythology." It was an entertaining discourse and contained much information. In his introductory he explained what mythology is and how all races even to the Indians have had their myths and gods. The Greek and Roman mythology became merged into each other and are inseparable. The names of the gods in the order of their importance were given and the supposed power and attributes of each. In closing Mr. Hessian asked whether this mythology had ever been of any real benefit to the world and answered by pointing to the great masterpieces of art and literature which the world treasures today, the inspiration for which was found in mythology.

Miss Julia Donovan and Franz Schultz sang solos. The next lecture will be given on Tuesday, March 27.

RAINY LAKE CITY.

D. P. Redding Has Been Appointed Postmaster of the New Town.

Rainy Lake City now has a new postmaster, D. P. Redding having received his official notification yesterday through Congressman Baldwin from the fourth assistant postmaster general.

John McClintock, of Kansas City, purchased two lots yesterday morning and is now on his way to the new city with three car loads of groceries. He will build and open a store at once.

Custom House Officer. Smalley, of Fort Francis, has bought three lots and will make Rainy Lake City his future home.

One of the Winnipeg papers of a few days ago had two columns devoted to Rainy lake developments and the prospects of the new country. It also says a large meeting will be held in Winnipeg and steps taken toward voicing bonds to complete a road to Rainy Lake City to connect with a road which shall be projected from Duluth.

Jeff Hildreth has a 50-pound specimen of Rainy lake rock containing a large amount of gold, which has been viewed by many at his room at the St. Louis hotel.

There is a steady and growing movement toward the Rainy lake country, we find," said General Passenger Agent Russell, of the St. Paul & Duluth, yesterday. "The discoveries of gold up there have excited general interest all over the country and particularly throughout the Northwest. As soon as spring is on established fact there will be an even greater rush of prospectors and an appreciable settlement of the country. You must remember that the discoveries have been made principally during the last six months, and that the realization of the value of the deposit is only just beginning to dawn. The gold is free gold, rich and yellow, and in the office of our land commissioner, Hope Russell, we have pieces of quartz which are simply treckled all over with the precious metal, showing conclusively that the find is an important one."

The entire stock of clothing of A. H. Bertrand will be sold at public sale at 521 West Superior street, on Friday, 6th inst., at 10 a. m. Also the fixtures, including a safe, stove, showcases, awning, shelving, etc., all nearly new.

TOUCHED FOR FORTY.

C. F. Pott Failed to Practice What He Preached and Was Robbed.

John Carson and John Slattery are behind the bars at the police station charged with holding up C. F. Pott some time last night. W. J. Whitford is held as a witness and it may be that others will be found to be implicated in the affair. Pott has been giving temperance lectures at the Bethel, but last evening, after being robbed of $10, when carried to the police station, he was full of utterance. The alleged robbery took place on Lake avenue, the victim being dragged into a saloon hallway. Slattery, one of the accused, formerly was a policeman and is said to be an applicant for a place on the force under the new regime.

In police court this morning, Andrew Smith was found guilty of assault in the third degree and committed for five days.

John Paine, John C. Connelly and Andrew McDougal went up ten days each for drunkenness.

For a similar offense, Mat Anderson paid a fine of $10 and costs, William Riley got five days for disorderly conduct and Halver Halverson, on complaint of Ole Olson, appeared in answer to a charge of violating the dog ordinance. He pleaded not guilty and the trial was set for 10 a. m. March 9.

THE NEW TARIFF

The Contents of the Tariff Bill Agreed Upon by the Senate Committee's Democratic Members.

Iron Ore Taken From the Wilson Bill's Free List and Taxed Forty Cents a Ton.

Coal Also to Have a Duty of Forty Cents, While Lumber and Wool Remain Free.

Whisky Tax Raised to $1.10 and Bonded Period Extended From Three to Eight Years.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The Wilson tariff bill, which passed the house of representatives Feb. 1, was laid before the full membership of the senate committee on finance this morning at 11 o'clock in the amended form upon which the Democratic majority of that committee finally agreed, after one whole month's consideration and numerous changes of front upon all the more important objects of taxation. Simultaneously with the presentation of the bill to the full committee, it was given out for publication through the press.

The chief features upon which public interest centered were the provisions in regard to the tariff on sugar, iron ore, lead, wool and its manufactures, cotton manufactures and the internal revenue taxes on whisky and tobacco. The sugar provision is as follows:

SUGAR.—All sugars, syrups, molasses, concentrated melada, concrete and concentrated molasses testing by the polariscope not above 80 degrees shall pay a duty of 1 cent per pound, and for every additional degree or fraction of a degree above 80 and not above 90 degrees shown by the polariscope shall pay a duty of one-hundredth of a cent per pound additional; and above 90 and not above 95 degrees, for every additional degree or fraction of a degree shown by the polariscope shall pay a duty of two one-hundredths of a cent per pound additional; and above 95 and not above 100 degrees shall pay a duty of one-fourth of a cent per pound; molasses testing not above 80 degrees shall pay a duty of 2 cents per gallon; molasses testing above 80 degrees shall pay a duty of 4 cents per gallon.

IRON ORE AND COAL.—Iron ore, including manganiferous iron ore, also the dross or residuum from burnt pyrites, 40 cents per ton, and for every additional degree or fraction of a degree above 80 and not above 90 degrees shown by the polariscope shall pay a duty of one-hundredth of a cent per pound additional; and above 90 and not above 95 degrees, for every additional degree or fraction of a degree shown by the polariscope shall pay a duty of two one-hundredths of a cent per pound additional; and above 95 and not above 100 degrees shall pay a duty of one-fourth of a cent per pound; molasses testing not above 80 degrees shall pay a duty of 2 cents per gallon; molasses testing above 80 degrees shall pay a duty of 4 cents per gallon.

WOOL.—Raw wool is left on the free list exactly as in the Wilson bill, the provision to go into effect Aug. 1, 1894. In manufactures of wool, the valuations as given in the Wilson bill are stricken out, and the schedules now read as follows:

Wool of the sheep, hair of the camel, goat, alpaca and other like animals in the form of slubbing, waste, roving, waste, mungo, shoddy, or in any other form, whether or not dyed, or carded waste, carbonized nolis or other waste products, any of which is composed wholly or in part of wool, the hair of the camel, goat, alpaca and other like animals which has been improved or advanced beyond its original condition as waste by the use of machinery for the application of labor or both, and carbonized wool, shall be subject to a duty of 15 per centum ad valorem.

On wool of the sheep, hair of the camel, goat, alpaca and other like animals in the form of roving, roping or tops 30 per centum ad valorem. On woolen and worsted yarns 30 per centum ad valorem. On woolen or worsted cloths, shawls, knit fabrics, manufactures of every description made wholly or in part of wool, worsted, the hair of the camel, goat, alpaca, or other animals and any of the above having India rubber as a component material not specially provided for in this act, 35 per centum ad valorem (instead of 40 as in the Wilson bill).

On blankets, hats of wool and flannels, 25 per centum ad valorem; galathea, more than 30 cents per pound, 30 per centum ad valorem. On women's and children's dress goods, composed wholly or in part of wool, not especially provided for in this act, 35 per centum ad valorem (instead of 40).

On clothing, ready made, and articles of wearing apparel of every description, and imitations of fur, composed wholly or in part of wool, etc., 30 per centum ad valorem (instead of 40). On webbing, gings, suspenders, braces, beltings, bindings, braids, etc., 35 per centum ad valorem (instead of 40). Carpets remain unchanged. The reductions in the duties for manufactures of wool shall take effect Dec. 2, 1894.

From the Free List. Articles stricken from the free list are as follows: Apples, green, ripe and dried, etc; beef, mutton and pork; bone char, suitable for use in decolorizing sugars; bituminous and shale, and coal slack or culm; coke; cocoa fiber, floor matting manufactured from round or split straw, including Chinese matting; dates, cocoanuts, Brazil nuts, cream nuts; gambier, gins, salted; horn strips and tips; iron ore; olives, green or prepared; orchids, lily of the valley, azaleas, palms and other plants used for forcing under glass for cut flowers or decorative purposes; sausage skins; for a few days expected, but as it is over seventeen feet from the danger line no trouble is anticipated.

An Engine Exploded. RIDGWAY, Ill., March 8.—By the explosion of an engine at George Kelly's sawmill yesterday afternoon Charles Caldwell, engineer, and five other employees were injured. Some of them will probably die.

The Mississippi Rising. ST. LOUIS, March 8.—The Mississippi river is booming and has risen over ten feet in the past thirty-six hours. A considerable advance for a few days expected, but as it is over seventeen feet from the danger line no trouble is anticipated.

St. Louis, March 8.—Samuel Mueller, a saloon keeper at 453 Easton avenue, was fatally stabbed this morning while standing at the corner of Broadway and Olive streets. Mueller was approached by a man named Arthur Ashley and thinking him a highwayman, Mueller showed fight. Ashley drew a knife and stabbed Mueller over the heart, inflicting a fatal wound.

They Must Die. DENVER, March 8.—The supreme court yesterday refused rehearings in the cases of Thomas Jordan, William Nesbit and Santiago Gomez under sentence of death for murder. The time of execution has not been fixed.

BRECKINRIDGE'S CASE

The Suit of Madeline Pollard Against the Kentucky Congressman is Now Before the Court.

She Wants Fifty Thousand Dollars for Alleged Seduction and Breach of Promise of Marriage.

The Jury Chosen and Sworn in Today and an Adjournment Taken Until Tomorrow Morning.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Congressman William C. P. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, was placed on trial for his social reputation and his political life today in the beginning of the suit which Madeline Vinton Pollard has brought against him to determine whether he shall pay $50,000 for alleged seduction and breach of promise. The trial is being held in the largest court room in the United States court house, which has been the scene of many sensational trials, notably that of the assassin Guiteau.

Hon. Jere Wilson, an ex-member of congress, is the principal counsel for the plaintiff. In the absence of Col. Enoch Totten, the principal attorney for Col. Breckinridge, who is in Florida, Phil Thompson, one of Col. Breckinridge's colleagues from Kentucky in the house, is looking after the interests of the defendant.

Judge Wilson and Mr. Carlisle, the plaintiff's counsel, were the first actors in the case to appear. They came some time before Col. Breckinridge entered the court room. He was late in arriving. The jury was selected and sworn, and at 10:55 the court adjourned until tomorrow to allow the new council in the case to familiarize themselves with it.

PATRONAGE FIGHT NOW ON. Fighting for Office. WASHINGTON, March 8.—[Special to The Herald].—The Minnesota patronage row is now on in earnest. Phil Winston is on the ground today and he is doubtless here to fight Mr. Doran. The Minneapolis arrived last night. This makes the fight more interesting as Maj. Baldwin declares he will not take a back seat for Mr. Doran.

It is said Mr. Doran has been assured that he will get his man appointed register of the St. Cloud land office. Maj. Baldwin did not think so this morning. Doran and Winston are both pulling strings at the departments today in favor of their candidates for collector of internal revenue and district attorney.

Later—Mr. D. D. Rogers, Secretary Carlisle to appoint C. H. Lineau as collector of internal revenue for Minnesota, and it is believed that Mr. Doran has been promised that his wishes would be followed.

Maj. Baldwin said today that he felt certain that the Duluth and Superior company's bridge bill would pass session. He says it will not be steered through by unanimous consent as Representatives Updegraff will not consent. Maj. Baldwin says he is certain of victory, notwithstanding the present opposition.

MR. GLADSTONE IMPROVED. But His Physicians Advise Him to Remain in Bed. LONDON, March 8.—Mr. Gladstone's condition is slightly improved this morning. His symptoms of bronchitis have not increased, and his cough and catarrh have so yielded to treatment that they have almost ceased to annoy him. Nevertheless his physicians advise him to remain in bed today.

Since his indisposition, Mr. Gladstone has been visited by nearly all of the cabinet officers and foreign diplomats and a large number of others.

Was Fatally Stabbed. ST. LOUIS, March 8.—Samuel Mueller, a saloon keeper at 453 Easton avenue, was fatally stabbed this morning while standing at the corner of Broadway and Olive streets. Mueller was approached by a man named Arthur Ashley and thinking him a highwayman, Mueller showed fight. Ashley drew a knife and stabbed Mueller over the heart, inflicting a fatal wound.

SKIRMISH IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Portuguese and British Blue Jackets Fire Upon Each Other.

PORT NATAL, S. E. Africa, March 8.—The Portuguese having obstructed the progress of the British parties engaged in constructing the telegraph line between the British sphere and Tete, on the Zambezi, Lieut. Commander George S. O. Carr, in command of the steel stern-wheel gunboat, Mosquito, sixty-two tons, landed a party of blue jackets from the river gunboat referred to, in order to protect the men at work upon the telegraph line.

The Portuguese fired upon the British landing party, and the fire was returned. The latest advice from the scene of the encounter says that Governor Quilman, the Portuguese official in charge of the district within the Portuguese boundaries, has been summoned to this point, where the conflict took place, and he is said to be on his way there with two Portuguese gunboats and a number of troops.

It is added that the British commander is believed to have asked for reinforcements, and the latter are said to have been hurried forward immediately upon receipt of the message announcing the conflict with the Portuguese.

ROCKEFELLERS IN THE DEAL. A Scheme to Get a Continuous Line From Newport News to Galveston.

LOUISVILLE, March 8.—Information regarding a big railroad deal said to be on foot came out here last night by the authoritative statement that an agent is now in this city to arrange for the carrying out of the plans. Those interested are the Rockefellers and Vanderbilts.

The roads concerned are the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Louisville Southern, the Louisville, Evansville & St. Louis, and the Missouri, Kansas & Texas. The plan is to secure a continuous traffic arrangement between Newport News and Galveston. This means a shortening of time between the two points of ten hours and will mean much to shippers.

AN INNER A. P. A. CIRCLE. The Organization Being Used for Political Purposes in Ohio.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, March 8.—C. O. Wildasin, president of the state A. P. A., caused a sensation yesterday by charging that the organization is being used for political purposes.

He claims that he has proof that a coterie of politicians and office holders in the A. P. A. at Cincinnati, Cleveland and Toledo, called the inner circle, has been formed to use the organization for the advancement of their own political fortunes.

President Wildasin went to Cleveland last night investigating the order there, and he says he will "fire" all A. P. A.'s in the state who have gone into the inner circle.

IS DUE TO REMORSE. Charles Coghlan and Mrs. Coghlan No. 1 May Now be Reconciled.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The Herald's Pittsburg special says: As a result of his present indisposition, it is rumored a reconciliation between Charles Coghlan and Mrs. Coghlan No. 1 will be effected. His present condition is said to be due to remorse.

According to the story told by Manager Keogh and members of the company, Mr. Coghlan received a card on Saturday night, while in New York, with three hearts pierced by a dart pointed on it. This came from Mrs. Coghlan. Coghlan and was accompanied by a request from Mrs. Coghlan, No. 1, for an interview, but Kuehne Beveridge objected and the interview did not take place.

Mr. Coghlan is still at the hospital and was reported much better last night.

CALIFORNIA STAGE HELD UP. The Passengers Were Robbed of All Their Valuables.

MILTON, Cal., March 8.—Angels Camp stage was held up three miles this side of Elkhorn station early last evening by two masked men, who rifled the wooden box thrown out by the driver, and robbed the passengers of all their valuables.

A few minutes later they held up two more vehicles which were following the stage, also robbing the drivers and the passengers. Officers have started to the scene of the robbery. The Wells-Fargo agent states that none of their treasure was in the box.

Political Bomb in Kentucky. LOUISVILLE, March 8.—It was formally announced at Frankfort last night that Governor John Young Brown will be a candidate for United States senator against Joseph C. S. Blackburn. The announcement comes like a bomb in Kentucky politics. It was thought that when Judge Lindsay defeated Governor Brown and all others for Mr. Carlisle's seat, he was done with senatorial aspirations.

To Succeed De Giers. BERLIN, March 8.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Cologne Gazette says that M. Ledif, Russian ambassador at Constantinople, will probably be recalled to St. Petersburg to succeed M. De Giers, as minister of foreign affairs.

DAN COUGHLIN'S FATE

It Rests With the Jury of Twelve Men Who Retired This Morning for Deliberation.

Great Crowd in Court Room When Judge Tutthill Delivered His Charge to the Jury.

Instructed Them if Coughlin Was a Conspirator in the Cronin Murder He is Guilty.

CHICAGO, March 8.—In the presence of a throng that tested the capacity of the courtroom to its utmost, Judge Tutthill this morning delivered the instructions which will guide the deliberations of the jury that for four months has listened to the evidence and arguments for and against Daniel Coughlin. The entire county building was guarded by police officers, and detectives in plain clothes mingled with the crowd. No one not supplied with the necessary credentials was admitted to the court. The instructions of the court were as follows:

The instructions to the jury were read by the judge slowly and with deliberation, and the defendant and his attorneys paid close attention to the utterances from the bench. The jury, the judge said, ought to commence the investigation of this case with a presumption that the defendant is innocent of the crime of which he is accused, and should act upon this presumption throughout the consideration of the evidence. This presumption of innocence was not an idle form; it was a fundamental and important part of the law of the land.

This rule of law was not intended to aid anyone who is in fact guilty of crime to escape, but was a humane provision of law, intended so far as human agencies can to guard against the danger of an innocent person being punished. It was not claimed by the state that there was evidence, tending to show that the defendant himself directly and personally took the life of Cronin. It was claimed that a conspiracy to kill and murder Cronin, before and at the time of such murder, existed, and that Coughlin and the other defendants named in the indictment and other persons designated in the indictment as "unknown," were parties to such conspiracy, and the purpose of this conspiracy was by some of these persons actually accomplished on the night of May 18, 1888.

If the jury believed from the evidence, beyond a reasonable doubt, that the defendant was a party to a conspiracy with others named in the indictment, then each and all of the persons who so conspired are in law guilty of such murder, although they may not have actually killed the said Cronin, or been present at the time and place of the killing.

The court said that it, after considering all the evidence, and the jury could say they had an abiding conviction of the truth of the charge and were satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt they must find the defendant guilty. The court concluded by reciting the form in which the verdict, no matter what its nature, should be rendered.

Punished By Lovell.

Baker, recently chief clerk of the labor bureau, succeeds him. Governor Lovell refuses to make public his reasons for removing Willets, but it is generally understood in the state house that it was because Willets has been making war upon the administration.

THE IRON TRADE REVIEW.

The Trade Not Much Encouraged During the Past Week.

CLEVELAND, March 8.—The Iron Trade Review says today: "It cannot be said that the opening week in March has brought any encouragement to the iron trade. Quietness prevails at centers usually most active. The reaction from the spur of a few weeks ago, that gave rise to so many predictions of betterment, has been complete, and there is evidence beside that prices have slipped below the point maintained previous to the advance."

"The heavy consumption of soft steel is still the factor of chief importance in the situation. The first week of March has brought the resumption of four blast furnaces in the valleys and the Pittsburgh district, all of which are to contribute to the growing volume of Bessemer production. If the buying of the past week were taken as a criterion, it would be said that the drift was backward."

"The best sellers can do is to work off their product in small lots and give buyers the benefit of inside figures. A round lot of Bessemer pig was sold at $10.50 in the week. It is reported that several thousand tons of billets have been disposed of at $15.25 at maker's mill. It would seem that the developments at Washington are cutting a larger figure than ever in business calculations, now that the tariff situation has again been resolved into chaos."

Canton Selling Low.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The Iron Age says: "Very few additional details have come to light concerning the ore purchases alluded to last week. Possibly the most interesting statement connected with the matter is that the Minnesota Mesabi—namely the Canton, a physically unfavorable ore—has sold at $2.30, delivered at Cleveland. It may seem doubtful whether the Rockefeller interest in the Mesabi range will meet such prices."

Both Wills Invalid.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—In Oakland yesterday Judge Henshaw rendered a decision in the contest over the $7,000,000 estate of Mrs. Murphy, widow of Daniel Murphy, a capitalist of this city. Mrs. Murphy died in London and left two wills, each of which disposed of her property in a different manner. Three of her seven children, among them Lady Walseley, filed a contest. The court holds that both wills are inconsistent and probable must be revoked.

Four Prisoners Escaped.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., March 8.—William Hart, a notorious robber; William Ashton, a common thief; Samuel Schell, charged with robbery and assault; and battery, and Perry Henry, charged with larceny, effected their escape from the county jail Tuesday night by forcing the cell door fastenings and sawing two sets of iron bars over the jail windows.

THE NATIVES ROUTED.

British Troops Have Another Fight With a Band of Chief Fodislah's Followers in Gambia.

The Natives Retreated and the British Forces Took Possession of Bamjur, Which They Burned.

Then the Natives Made a Determined Stand at Brikama But They Were Again Defeated.

LONDON, March 8.—The admiralty office yesterday received a dispatch from Bathurst, Gambia, reporting another engagement between British troops—a detachment of the West India regiment—and a strong band of the followers of Chief Fodislah. Rear Admiral Bedford, of the flagship Raleigh, reports that the West Indians were attacked by the natives while advancing upon the village of Bamjur Tuesday, a fight ensuing in which seven of the British soldiers were wounded.

The West Indians opened a deadly fire upon the natives, causing them to retreat. The advantage was followed up until the British took possession of Bamjur, which they burned. The loss to the natives in killed and wounded is very heavy.

Another dispatch says that the West Indian troops have captured and burned Brikama as well as Bamjur. The natives made a determined stand at Brikama and did not begin their retreat until some ninety had been killed and many others had been wounded. Immediately after the flight of the natives, the West Indians took possession of the town and burned it.

At Bamjur and Brikama together, the natives lost about 150 killed and double that number wounded. The British gunboats have bombarded Conjar for hours and were to resume the bombardment today, when the West Indians will make a general and probably decisive advance.

NEW YORK, March 8.—John M. Hallick, for many years confidential clerk for Theodore Pabst & Co., importers of glass and chinaware, was arrested yesterday and locked up in default of $10,000 bail. Hallick is charged with misappropriating $55,839 of the firm's money and thereby causing the assignment.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., March 8.—There was a riot between rival theatrical companies yesterday on the Wabash train which leaves Quincy at an early hour. The warring troops have been playing "Old Kentucky" and "Under the City Lamps" in the same places for some time.

Intoxicated stage carpenters started the row. When they clinched, the actresses screamed in approved stage fashion and the actors melodramatically rushed to help one or the other combatants, precipitating a free for all contest.

Before the principals had punished each other to their satisfaction, all the women had passed into the fainting stage of the realistic scene, and an actor had put his fist through a car window.

EVIDENCE OF FOUL PLAY.

A Wealthy Nebraska Farmer Died Under Suspicious Circumstances.

BEATRICE, Neb., March 8.—Last Friday E. Crossley, an aged and wealthy farmer living at Cortland, this county, died suddenly under suspicious circumstances. Crossley not long ago married a widow named Smith, and the report was started that the woman and her two sons, grown men, were instrumental in causing his death.

Yesterday Coroner Wilson exhumed the body, and meager reports received from him are to the effect that there is evidence of foul play. It is said that Crossley's wife bought a shroud for the old gentleman before his death or serious ailment.

Held For Murder.

SALINE, Ills., March 8.—Mrs. Sarah M. Waggoner was held yesterday on the charge of murdering Seth Waggoner, the 13-year-old son of her sister-in-law. An autopsy showed that death was caused by traumatic pneumonia, the result of violence. The boy's mother testified that her sister-in-law assaulted him Feb. 15. He died several days ago and the body was exhumed.

Five Years' Sentence.

GALESBURG, Ills., March 8.—John W. Smith, of Peoria, was found guilty yesterday of abduction and his punishment fixed at five years in the penitentiary. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., March 8.—The storm center was yesterday in Wisconsin and Minnesota. The barometer is lowest to the north of Min- nesota and highest to the south. Cloudy weather prevails this morning. The lake region with local snows and in the Ohio valley light rains have occurred since yesterday morning. In the other districts fair weather is reported. It is slightly colder than yesterday in the Mis- sissippi and Lower Missouri valleys and 10 to 20 degrees warmer in Manitoba and the Upper Missouri valley. Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 14 degrees; maximum 29 degrees; minimum 10 degrees above zero. Duluth, March 8.—Local forecast until 8 p. m. tomorrow: Fair; warmer tonight and Friday; east to south winds. JAMES KENDRICK, Local Forecast Officer. WASHINGTON, March 8.—Forecast till 8 p. m. Friday: For Wisconsin and Minnesota: Threatening; warmer Friday morning and evening; southerly wind. Economy Must Prevail. Mayor d'Au'tremont's valedictory mes- sage to the old council on Monday evening and the inaugural message of Mayor Lewis to the new council on Tuesday evening agreed upon one point. Both dealt with much emphasis upon the ne- cessity of practicing greater economy in the management of the city's business. This is a subject upon which The Her- ald has several times touched within the past two months, although its motives were purposely misconstrued by several demagogues, and it therefore hastens to endorse the sentiments expressed by both the outgoing and incoming mayors. The statistics presented by Mr. d'Au- tremont show that it is time to call a halt in the policy of increasing the city's debt. According to his statement, the total bonded debt is now $1,725,000. The improvement certificates amount to $1,093,527. There are unpaid 7 per cent orders outstanding to the amount of $275,765, making the total liabilities of the city $3,094,292. Against this there are unpaid assessments amounting to $1,400,000, but as some of these assess- ments may be illegal and the balance long delayed, the city cannot count on the same for ready cash. In addition to the above there is a large school indebtedness, which must soon be increased by $150,000 to provide additional room for the children, and a county indebtedness which will fall largely upon Duluth. "From the fore- going," said Mr. d'Au'tremont, "it will be seen that in order to maintain our credit the expenditures of the city must be re- duced, and no new public improvements started until we know where the money is coming from to meet our obligations already incurred." Mayor Lewis devoted much of his message to the same point, agreeing with his predecessor in office that econ- omy should be the watchword of the new administration. It seemed to him to be the part of wisdom to limit our improvements to the actual needs of the city, until the times grow brighter and the people are relieved of some of the burdens which they now find so heavy. He referred to the outstanding street assessments on which interest amounting to over $74,000 a year is being paid; to the large delinquent county tax list; to the increased bonded indebtedness due to the annexation of West Duluth and Lakeside; to the cost of maintaining the various departments; to the difficulty of collecting taxes in these times of great depression, and to the fact that $60,000 of the city's money is at present unavail- able. In view of these facts, and in order to preserve the city's credit, a policy of economy and retrenchment must pre- vail. Mayor Lewis is right in saying that the people will hold the new admin- istration to strict account for the policy which it may pursue. The people were promised and they expect a strictly business administration. It will be the duty of a business adminis- tration to reduce the running expenses of the city whenever possible and to re- sist all pressure, no matter from what quarter it may emanate, to increase the debt or the fixed charges of the city. There are no doubt many improvements that seem necessary, but they can be postponed without injury to the city's interest until the period of depression has passed away and business has been restored to its normal condition. In this way Duluth will weather the financial storm without disaster, and will emerge from the world-wide depression with its credit unimpaired and in a healthy, sound condition. To do aught now that might result differently would be the supremest act of folly. A Good Time to Invest. The improvement in the real estate markets in New York, Chicago, St. Louis and other cities is one of the most grati- fying indications of the recovery from the period of depression that effectually checked all investment. The New York papers give its ignorance of English customs by making such a statement. The queen intended no insult. From her point of view, she was tending an honor to the use again. There is no profit in permitting this money to lie idle, and its owners are anxious to secure at least a moderate rate of interest thereon. Referring to this movement, the Minneapolis Journal notes an instance in New York where "one piece of property on Fifty-sixth street, which brought $60,000

 in 1887 was sold last week for $61,500.
 So goes the market. Realty is more active in New York, because in that great city bargains are to be had. Many want to sell at low figures. It is the opportunity of the investor. He will not enjoy it very soon again. Surplus idle money is gravitating to reality."
 The Journal adds: "Men who have had money in idleness for months, with the growth of confidence, want to put it where it will make some substantial return to them. The big shrinkage in railway securities last year and the incerti-tude still existing as to tariff legislation make men hesitate about embarking in new business enterprises. But really in localities which have assured futures, which have passed the crucial stage and have shown that, as manufacturing and business centers they have come to stay,
 such really offers today the most trustworthy and productive field for investment which can be found. There are many owners of realty in such places
 ready to sell at a sacrifice to get ready money to extricate themselves from be-bet, and the realty investor can find them
 in all the leading cities of the country."

Property can be purchased in Duluth
 today at figures that insure a handsome return upon the investment. The time to invest in when prices are low, and the man who has money to buy property
 during a period of depression is certain to realize a handsome profit. During the period of depression beginning with 1873 many men made such investments, and they realized fortunes by reason of their sagacity. Duluth's condition is not surpassed by that of any other city in the country. The solidity of the city is assured. It has been steadily growing in population and business during the past year when other cities have been standing still or retrograding. Its future is bright with promise of still greater expansion in every direction.
 The development of the Rainy Lake country, the building of the Great Northern road from Duluth to Fosston, the resumption and extension of operations on the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges
 —these are but a few of the factors that cause Duluth to grow and prosper
 during the present year at a greater rate than ever known before. What better time can be found to invest in Duluth really than now, before the movement begins and prices advance?

The Senatorial Contest.
 The St. Paul Pioneer Press does not dispute some of the statements which were first made in the Minneapolis Tribune regarding Dwight M. Sabin becoming an avowed candidate for the United States senatorship. It does not consider Mr. Sabin among the possibilities, while it declares that the story that Governor Nelson is his ally in any such campaign is preposterous. But that opposition to Senator Washburn exists, it is ready to admit. Here is what it says on that point:

"There is undoubtedly a movement antagonistic to the re-election of Mr. Washburn, but the Tribune can't say it is asserted, find its origin a great deal nearer home than the place where its eagle gaze is now fixed. When Senator Washburn was elected his present position he was bitterly opposed by some of his own neighbors, and if politicians are to be believed these same townspeople intend to be prepared with a few cards up their sleeve when the next deal is made.
 Further, rumor says that the present visitation of the senator to the Northwest is in answer to an urgent telegram sent not more than two weeks ago, asking him to come home and check this movement. It is further reported that the scheme proposed is to re-nominate Nelson, and then elect him senator and let David Clough become residuary legatee to the position which he covets with a force that mil-litaire against the tenth commandment.
 There is little doubt, say those who know, that an attempt has been made to thus indirectly involve Governor Nelson,
 but that he is a party to this scheme,
 which originated in Minneapolis, is not to be believed for a moment, although he undoubtedly has a large number of friends who would like to see him returned to Washington. It is well known by the friends of Governor Nelson that he is not and does not intend to be a candidate for the United States senate."
 If it be true, as stated above, that Mr.
 Washburn is encountering serious opposition in his own city, then indeed he has a hard fight ahead of him. Possibly Mr. Sabin is not a candidate, and he may not be among the possibilities, as the St. Paul paper says, but there are other able men in the state who would not refuse the senatorship, and should
 one of them enter the field and announce his candidacy, Mr. Washburn's path back to Washington would not be an easy one to travel.

A dispatch to The Herald on Tuesday
 stated that ex-Adj. Gen. John H. Mullen had dropped dead from heart disease in

 Gen. Mullen is still in the flesh, and likely to continue so for some time to his death. His condition was not serious, and he is now able to be out again.

Legend of the Dismal Swamp.
 It doubled him up with a horrid grimace.
 Did Pennsylvania's vote
 go to Grover, he took to the lake of the Dismal Swamp
 For from the mouth of the swamp
 In a light house tender boat.

And there in the depths of the Dismal Swamp
 He chased the spectral duck!
 Or, with Gresham and Bob and a pine knot
 He plays Jack Potts for a postage stamp
 And curses his consanguine link.
 When at early dawn he sinks to sleep,
 He slumbers his eyelids woo,
 He is rocked in the cradle of the swamp,
 For from the mouth of the swamp
 And the song of the gay cuckoo.

But over his head hangs the whippoorwill.
 While the muskrat trembles in his ear;
 And, sleeping, he passes the Wilson bill
 And, dreaming, he sees the dusky lily.
 On a great white throne appear.

Not a whisper is heard from the hunter's camp
 When they will finish the job;
 But we know that somewhere, down in the damp,
 Obscurest and of the Dismal Swamp Sit Grover and Gresham and Bob,
 New York Sun.

NELSON IS A SPHINX.
 The Governor Will Not Relieve Senator
 Washburn's Anxiety.
 St. Paul News: It is among the possibilities that Washburn may not be his own successor. His visit to the state at this time indicates that he realizes the uncertainty of his situation, that it is none too soon to set his traps if he is to catch the game.

Governor Nelson talks amiably about everything except the senatorship. Upon that subject he is a sphinx. The Pelican Rapids Sentinel said the other day that Nelson can be elected either governor or senator "and it is for him to say which he wants." That statement comes from the mouth of a politician, the St. Cloud Press, to rejoin that "in that case he (Nelson) ought to be willing to say." "It will say Mr. Nelson," continues the anxious St. Cloud paper, "as it is the duty of every politician, to be frank and above board with the people.
 Let us have an open statement from the honorable governor of this great state."

But the governor speaks not. Of course this is tantalizing. The governor is not an infant in politics and sees no harm in allowing the other fellows to do the guessing while he keeps his own cards close and the key to the situation at the same time.

Mr. Washburn is finding things much more perplexing than in the halcyon days of pine stump.

A Paper Road.
 Minneapolis Times: A number of Minneapolis men are said to be interested in a project to build a railroad from Lake Superior to the Gulf of Mexico. It takes Minneapolis men to tackle a job like that.

Will Have Both.
 St. Cloud Journal: Congressman Baldwin has made another speech in congress, in which he said: "In the name of God and a suffering people let us have peace." Peace, dear major, is the twin sister of prosperity, and God
 and a suffering people will see that we have both by electing a Republican administration hereafter and forever.

A Threat From Anoka.
 Anoka Herald: Neither St. Cloud nor Duluth have any claim on the earth, and they will find that there are a few other people in this district besides the Zenith and Central cities. Duluth wants the congressman and if she gets that she should not expect anything else this year.
 If they insist on reaching out further and attempt to secure the nomination of a Duluth man for a state office they will lose the congressman.

The Tariff a Local Issue.
 St. Louis Globe-Democrat: The protests from Alabama, Louisiana, Georgia,
 New York and other senators belonging to the Democracy against certain schedules to the Wilson bill which hit their localities show that the tariff is more of a local issue with that party at least than Hancock ever imagined.

PAINT cracks.—It often costs more to prepare a

HIS REMOVAL ASKED.

Commissioner Poirier Files Charges With the County Board Against Those Who, Superintendent of Poor.

He Found Clark in His Office Holding a Woman, a County Charge, in His Arms.

Charges That She Received County Aid From Clark Without Solicitation—Board Will Investigate.

The removal of Thomas Clark, superintendent of poor, was demanded by Chairman Poirier of the board of county commissioners yesterday, and a regular session was called. In a written communication Commissioner Poirier stated the fact that he had found Mr. Clark in his public office with a woman—a county charge—in his arms. He reminded the board that this official should be above suspicion and his is an office which any woman may feel free to enter without fear of insult or that her dependence should be taken advantage of.

After the reading of the communication Commissioner Poirier had a few words to say. He said the office of superintendent of poor is the most delicate position which there is in the county, and the character of the man holding it should be above suspicion. Another statement was made that the woman admitted all to him, even that she had received county aid in groceries without having asked for anything except fuel.

An affidavit by a third party who overheard the woman's admissions to Mr. Poirier was presented. Commissioner Poirier asked that a committee be appointed to investigate the charges. He said if the board saw fit to retain Mr. Clark it could do so, but he wanted it to go on record that he had demanded his removal, believing him an unfit person to hold the office. Mr. Poirier thought it might be well to have a committee outside the board investigate the matter, but this was not looked upon with favor and it was finally referred to the board as a committee of the whole.

The woman in the case is a Mrs. Clark, a widow with four children, who resides on East First street. A kick on the bills. Another discussion was held over two bills from French & Bassett, one for $12.82, approved by Judge Moer, and the other for $11.13, approved by Judge Lewis. They were for office furniture for the private offices of the judges, and the commissioners think the offices are furnished in a style too luxurious for even a district judge and are not disposed to allow the bill. On Judge Moer's bill were the following items: 1 Smyrna rug, $50; 1 office chair, $10; 1 office chair, $20, and other items. Judge Lewis' bill was not quite so high but was for: 1 rug, $35; 1 chair, $10; and 1 desk, $20. Other sundries were included in each. No action was taken last evening but the commissioners are not.

A delegation from Virginia was present. P. H. McGarry built a hotel on the other side of the railroad tracks from the village. He wanted a license to sell liquor. He expected to get the land annexed to the village and then apply for a license. The annexation was voted down, however, and he applied to the county board for one. Virginia citizens were down to protest not particularly against Mr. McGarry's application, but because they were afraid other saloons might also go in over there. They were willing that Mr. McGarry should have a license if it was agreed that no other saloons should be licensed. The commissioners finally agreed that the side of the track should be licensed.

The report of the superintendent of poor showed 126 office calls and 117 visits made. There was expended $29.68 of which $17.97 went for provisions, $2.00 for fuel, $12.32 for hospital expenses, $2.41 for transportation and the balance for sundries. The county physician reports 14 persons in the hospital on March 1; 112 cases investigated; 68 hospital calls, and 68 private visits and 37 office calls.

The morning meeting. At the meeting of the board of county commissioners this morning $5000 was appropriated for the improvement of the Crane Lake road. This is the road to Rainy Lake. Two other road petitions were received. Several applications for the abatement of taxes were made.

The bills for furniture for the judges' offices were referred to the county attorney. He will write the attorney general for opinion as to whether the county is required to furnish the private offices of the judges or not.

An application for the organization of the town of McJannitt in 56-18 was received and an election ordered for March 26. The appropriation of $75 per month to the Associated Charities was continued for two months.

A large number of bills were allowed.

MR. CLARK'S SIDE OF IT.
Thomas Clark, when seen by a Herald reporter this morning said: "I have asked the commissioners to institute a searching investigation in the matter and I prefer that nothing be said by myself or in the papers until that time. I will say this much, however, that the charges preferred by Mr. Poirier are wholly false and when the time comes I expect to prove it."

Mr. Clark asserts that he will have recourse to the law against Mr. Poirier and that not only has Mrs. Mary Clark, the woman in the case, made an affidavit that he has never in any way or at any time taken improper liberties with her or treated her ungentlemanly, but also has made a statement that Mr. Poirier came to her, asked her if Tom Clark had improper relations with her, and wanted her to sign a document he had, but that she indignantly refused.

THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.
It will be held in the High School Building on March 26.
County Superintendent W. H. Stultz has issued the following address to the teachers of St. Louis county: "It seems that we cannot have the National Teachers' association with us this year, but we can have and will have a County Teachers' institute. The state superintendent has arranged for two competent directors to take charge and they will be assisted by prominent Duluth teachers. Hitherto, owing to the fact that our teachers were scattered over such a great extent of territory, it has been impossible to get all together, but this year, the time fixed March 26, coming at the period when many schools have the spring vacation, an opportunity will be given all to attend and I hope that all teachers will attend every session. The institute will assemble in the High School building, Duluth, March 26, and continue one week. The members of all other professions have their annual gatherings for mutual improvement and why not teachers?"

That New Dress!

As Easter approaches, the thoughts of that new dress begin to assume a more and more definite shape in your mind. It is an important thing to get only the best and most reliable materials for the dress, no matter what particular style decided on for it.

Our Dress Goods

Are selected with that particular object constantly before us. The reputation of our own house for carrying only first-class reliable goods is well sustained by our record in the past.

Black Goods

Will be very popular this season; we keep only standard reliable makes. We carry Priestley's goods in stock among other makes. In an extended experience of over twenty-two years we have yet failed to see the Black Dress Goods department that was made up entirely of Priestley's goods.

Their goods are easily distinguished by the peculiar board on which they are rolled with the name Priestley stamped on the end.

"Cravenette" Cloths

Are very desirable for early spring wear. (A perfect Storm Serge in fact, though not in name; perfectly waterproof, soft, pliable, and as slightly and dressy as any of the French Serges). They come 60 inches wide. On the back of every yard of goods having gone through the Cravenette process will be found the trade mark of the Cravenette company. None are genuine "Cravenette" cloths unless bearing this trade mark. Priestley DOES NOT use the Cravenette process in the manufacture of his goods. We keep the genuine "Cravenette" cloths in stock, 60 inches wide; every yard stamped "Cravenette" and our price is $1.75 for the best $2.25 quality.

SYMPATHY MEETING.

Duluth Men Attending the Superior Meeting to Encourage Striking Printers.

The parade and mass meeting held at West Superior last evening by the labor organizations for the purpose of showing sympathy for the striking union printers was quite a demonstration. Those in the procession numbered several hundred men, all of them dressed in black. Torches and the strains of a brass band enlivened the march and attracted crowds of spectators on the sidewalks.

After the parade speeches were made in Maryland hall. The room was packed, every seat being occupied, fully a dozen standing up, and large numbers being unable to get within the hall at all. President Collinge, of the Superior Typographical union, opened by giving the printers' side of the matter. Several Superior publishers who are with the strikers made speeches. James McDowell, representing the Duluth Federated Trades assembly, upheld the printers across the bay and promised them the moral and financial support of organized labor in Duluth. W. D. Gordon, of Duluth, and others made speeches, as also did Messrs. Brennan and Haugen, of Superior.

The printers have started an evening paper in Superior and they say that it has come to stay. A large delegation of the striking printers will visit the Duluth Trades assembly tomorrow night, which will aid in making a successful session.

New Company Mustered In.
Gen. Bend, of St. Paul, assisted by Col. Shandrew and Maj. Braden, mustered in Company C of the Third Regiment at the city hall last evening. The oath was administered. Forty members are enrolled in the new company.

The Republican club will meet at the city hall tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock for the purpose of electing officers and also to appoint delegates to the state league convention to be held at Minneapolis on March 28. Maj. McKinley will speak at Minneapolis on the evening of March 28.

CURRENTS OF THE LAKES.

Professor Harrington, chief of the weather bureau, has submitted to the secretary of agriculture the results of his investigation of the currents of the great lakes. The inquiry was suggested by observation of the accumulation of wrecks and wreckage at certain points and along certain portions of the shores of the lakes.

Bottles, containing instructions from the bureau and constructed so as to float in the water for an indefinite period, were sent to masters of vessels engaged in traffic on the lakes, light house keepers, etc., with the request that they be thrown in the water after the paper in the bottle had been mailed with the time and place of floating and with the name of the person who consigned it to the water.

Within the bottle was also placed a franked envelope addressed to the weather bureau, a request that the finder indicate the time and place of finding and send the blank, filled out, to the bureau. The investigation covered the summer seasons of 1892 and 1893. It was found impossible to make a complete record of the bottles floated in the autumn and picked up in the spring. It was ascertained that there were four general currents to be observed in all the lakes. The outflow toward the outlet of the lakes, a continuous current affecting the entire mass of water and proceeding slowly with a perceptible reactionary flow, resulting in more or less of a circular current around the lake, a surface current due to prevailing winds and consisting of a mass of water driven before the wind, and including also a return or reactionary current caused by the flow into depths made vacant by the action of the winds; return currents and finally surf motion.

The most important current is the surface flow caused by the winds. It has long been known along the lakes that the wind will blow in the direction in which the current was running from six to twelve hours before the wind begins. This fact is fully explained by the result of the observations. Much difficulty was encountered in attempting to discover the velocity of the various lake currents, but in general they are supposed to run at a rate of from four to twelve miles a day. There are certain currents which have, at special seasons of the year, been observed to run at a much greater velocity—but no general laws concerning these have as yet been discovered.

CAR BADLY SMASHED.

Woodland Line Street Car Badly Wrecked at Noon Today at Twenty-eighth Avenue East.

The Conductor Was Cut But None of the Passengers Were Injured—Car is Badly Broken.

Duluth Boat Club Will Try to Have the Regatta of 1895 Come Off Here.

An accident that might have been attended by serious consequences took place on the Woodland street car line about noon today. Car No. 27 was rolling along just as usual and at a normal rate of speed going out, when at Twenty-eighth avenue east a portion of the brake apparatus, as nearly as can be learned, broke and fell down onto the track. As misfortune would have it the broken fixture caught in the rail and stuck so effectively that the axle was broken, the bottom of the car was more or less torn out and the car stove was thrown over, narrowly missing a passenger.

The conductor of the car, P. N. Rieberg, was pitched forward with such force that he could not gather his equilibrium, and as a result his head went through a pane of glass, cutting his face and chin somewhat but not seriously.

The damage will amount to about $300 and the accident is one of the most costly that the Duluth Street Car company has ever experienced.

Those who were on the car say that neither the conductor nor the motoneer were in any way responsible or to blame for the accident. It was one of those things that is likely to happen any day and all on board the car feel that they were very lucky in the outcome.

WANT THE REGATTA.

Duluth Boat Club Will Try to Have it Here in 1895.

The Duluth Boat club will institute a campaign having for its object the holding of the Minnesota and Winnipeg Boat Club association regatta in Duluth in 1895.

The directors of the club met last evening and it was decided that Capt. Hopkins and Secretary Smith should attend the meeting of the association on Saturday next at the West hotel in Minneapolis. They will file a request that the regatta of 1895 be held here and it is believed that it can be obtained.

The Duluth Boat club never was in better financial condition than today and the outlook is excellent for a great interest in rowing this year. Capt. Hopkins was instructed to purchase four new boats at once, one four-oared shell, one double and two working boats. The club expects to be able to send a winning team to the regatta this summer.

LEAVES MOURNERS BEHIND.

I. H. Hurst, a young man employed in Al Hauslaib's cigar store, is missing and there is quite a large circle of mourners, as he left a couple of board bills and various accounts. He left Duluth on Saturday last. Mr. Hauslaib has always placed great confidence in the young man and was thunderstruck to hear of his leaving.

Hurst was quite a gay young man and a quiet sport in a way, if all reports are true. Gambling is said to have been the cause of his embarrassment and flight. He was always a good dresser and quite a stylish appearing young man on the street.

GREAT RUSH TODAY.

Three or Four Hundred Land Seekers in Line. Among Them Several Ladies.

One of the biggest rushes of the season was seen at the land office this morning. It beat that of yesterday morning and the cause of it all was the great desire to secure land in town (3-21), which was opened for settlement this morning. At one time between 300 and 400 people were in the hallways and offices and the crush was terrible. Several ladies sat up all night in N. B. Thayer's office so as to be on hand to get into line this morning. They were weak and faint from loss of sleep and were in a poor condition to wrestle with strong and lusty men. Several came near fainting, cries of "you're killing this woman" were heard, and when about fourteen of them worked their way into Capt. Smallwood's office they were pretty well worn out.

Two ladies, when they found that numbers were to be given out and applications governed in their filings by those, instead of their places in the ranks, wept bitterly. One who sat up all night got No. 151, and only 152 numbers were given. A lady who came in this morning, after 9 o'clock, got No. 37.

One obstacle that worried and disappointed many applicants were thirty Indian allotments which they could not get around or make filings over. The clerks were kept busy up to the noon hour and the papers filed made a formidable array on the desk.

Was Formerly a Duluth Man.

F. E. Davis, of Snohomish, Wash., son of M. J. Davis, of Duluth, has been admitted to the bar in Snohomish county. The Snohomish County Tribune says: "Judge Denny, J. L. Davis and A. W. Hawks constituted the examination committee, and they unite in saying that Mr. Davis passed a very creditable examination. Mr. Davis came to Snohomish about three years ago with W. H. Black, now of Everett, and completed a set of abstract books, and has been engaged in the abstract and loan business since. At the same time he has been studying law, first under Mr. Black and later under Mr. Ault. Mr. Davis is the son of ex-Mayor M. J. Davis, of Duluth, Minn. He is a young man of marked energy and the Tribune predicts for him a successful career in the practice of law."

The District Court.

The appeal cases from the award of the commissioners in the Missabe road cases are still on trial in Judge Moer's room. The jury in the cases which were submitted yesterday returned verdicts ranging from $350 up to $1500.

In the case of George D. Selden et al., vs. B. B. Richards et al., Judge Lewis directed a verdict for the plaintiff for $600.81. A stay of thirty days was granted.

In Jones & Laughlin vs. Clyde Iron company the defendants moved to dismiss to as thirty-five items. The court granted the motion and the plaintiffs file ten days to amend their complaint.

TEN FOR CONVICTION.

This is the Latest Report About the Jury in Coughlin's Case.

CHICAGO, March 8.—The latest report from the Coughlin juryroom is that the jury stands 10 to 2 for conviction, with the punishment fixed at fourteen years. The obstinate jurors are holding out for acquittal.

Since retiring the jury has indulged in several heated debates, accompanied by gesticulations and hammering upon the tables. The room overlooks the Chicago Opera House building from the windows of which the movements of the jury can be seen with an opera glass.

RAINY LAKE COUNTRY.

Commissioners Will Improve a Road—Possibilities of the Country.

The board of county commissioners today voted $5000 to improve the Crane Lake road. This runs to Rainy Lake City and its improvement was urged before the board some weeks ago.

The Pioneer Press a day or two ago presented some features in reference to the wealth of the Rainy lake region which are somewhat overlooked. It said: "The future of what is now called the Rainy lake gold region is not dependent upon the gold discoveries. It is a district that contains other valuable resources. There are rich tracts of timber along the streams tributary to Rainy lake, and the white pine which is found there is of excellent quality. There are millions of feet of standing pine, a virgin forest untapped by the woodsman's axe, save where Canadian lumbermen have stealthily poached upon the American side and cut down and floated some of the timber across the international boundary. The presence of representatives of the American government in recent years has put a stop to these depredations, never permitted upon a very extensive scale. East of Rainy lake the country is rocky and the most barren and does there amount to much, judging from its general appearance, although beneath its forbidding aspect may be concealed much mineral wealth. Stories are told of finds of copper, iron, manganese and nickel in the bleak country that stretches from the beautiful Rainy lake district to the shores of Lake Superior."

"To the west of Rainy lake there is a rich alluvial deposit, and there can be found some of the best farming lands in the state. Prospectors who have traveled over it assert that it surpasses in fertility the best portions of the Red river valley. The season is three weeks longer than along Lake Superior. Already there are several farms around Rainy lake. From one elevation near Rainy lake ten farms can be counted. On the Canadian side there are farms that have been worked for fifty years or more. These are in the neighborhood of the town of F. E. Francis, which, although 100 years old, contains no more people than are located today in the 3-weeks-old city on the American side. There is an immense region here awaiting development by the farmer as well as the miner and the lumberman."

THE HUSBAND IS SUSPECTED.

Murder of a Woman Whose Life Was Insured for $5000.

OMAHA, Neb., March 8.—About a year ago Jacob Kensmann, a tailor, came to Omaha from Chicago and obtained work in a shop here. He brought his wife with him and had her life insured in the Mutual Reserve Fund Life association of New York for $5000.

One morning, while he was supposed to be out of the city, Mrs. Kensmann was found in the morning nearly asphyxiated by gas and the two burners in her room turned on. In December the couple moved to Kansas City, and about ten days ago word was received that she had been murdered, choked to death and no clue to be found to the guilty person.

The insurance company placed detectives on the case, and they have found evidence which indicates that her husband is the murderer.

The Spring is Coming!

These bleak-eyed days are the advance picket line of the spring. True this 9th day of March (the anniversary of our great storm two years ago) still finds us selling winter sorts of overcoats, and this is the store for them, but don't know why we're selling winter sorts?

The spring weight kinds will have a great career. We've made our plans. Swell dressers will find we've fashionable shapes and choicer fabrics in our Spring Overcoats than the most progressive of tailors ever dreamed of. Silk lined ones begin at $12 for a gold medal set. Others silk lined, $15, $18, and $25. We intend to surpass the winter selling in the Spring Overcoat trade. Is clothing being sold today cheaper than ever before? See our Spring Suits; ask your memory's help. Suits never were of such studied elegance or prices so small. No royal road has led to our great success in Shoes. Hard work, hard cash, hard sense—plenty of each has made our glowing success in both Men's and Boys' Shoes.

A SENSATIONAL CASE

Taking of Testimony in Miss Pollard's Suit Against Congressman Breckinridge Was Begun This Morning.

Mrs. Blackburn, Widow of the Kentucky Governor, Gives Evidence in Behalf of the Plaintiff.

She Says That Breckinridge Told Her That He Was Engaged to Mary Miss Pollard.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Miss Madeline Vinton Pollard, the plaintiff in the suit against Congressman Breckinridge, Breckinridge, avoided the crowd of sensation-seekers about the court room this morning by appearing long before the court convened. Miss Pollard was accompanied by her counsel, Judge Jere Wilson and Calderon Carlisle, and she entered the court room through the rear door reserved for witnesses and members of the bar. She had also with her a sister of mercy from an Episcopal home in this city where she has been staying recently, and a friend, Judge Jere Wilson, who was her legal guardian. She showed no signs of trepidation as she became the focus of many pairs of male eyes, and calmly took her seat between Judge Wilson and the sister.

Mr. Carlisle opened the case for the plaintiff, taking up the charges and answers seriatim. Just as Mr. Carlisle began his remarks, Miss Pollard covered her eyes with her handkerchief and began to tremble, and it looked as though she was about to faint. She, however, succeeded in calming her agitation.

Mr. Carlisle read the complaint. "There are three credible witnesses," said Mr. Carlisle, "who will testify that the promise to marry was given by the defendant in the presence of the plaintiff and at other times when she was not present. Summarizing what the evidence would be, Mr. Carlisle said the plaintiff is a Kentucky girl, the daughter of a saddler. She was ambitious to learn, and as far as possible her father helped her in that ambition. But in 1879 her father died, leaving no estate. The plaintiff then went to another state and remained some years. Then she came back to live with an aunt in Lexington. She was still ambitious to get an education, but her mother had not the means.

Then Mr. Carlisle told the story of the connection of Miss Pollard and James Rodde, the old gardener. The old man, he said, was attracted by this country girl, and being of some means and knowing her desire to secure an education, he made a proposition that he would pay for her education. She did not seem to like that proposition, but she was so poor that she made a counter proposition that if he paid for her education she would either marry him or pay back the money. This was agreed to by Rodde, and a paper containing the agreement actually drawn up and signed.

Then Mr. Carlisle told how Miss Pollard went to a Wesleyan college in Cincinnati on Rodde's money; how Rodde began insisting that he be paid back; how she told him that she would not do that; how she married him; how, while worried over Rodde's demands, she was summoned home to see a dying sister in Lexington and met Col. Breckinridge on the train. Then the counsel went on to tell how, when Rodde persisted in his demands and the plaintiff feared trouble, she thought of writing to Col. Breckinridge and asking his advice. He answered her letter in person, and took her out driving. He came again on a hot night and obtained permission to take her driving again. She protested against going in the closed carriage he brought, but he said he had a threat of rain, and she consented. Then, by wiles and artifices and by other means, one thing leading to another, the defendant accomplished her aim.

The story of the alleged illicit relationship existing between the plaintiff and the defendant was sketched briefly, and how after his wife died Mr. Breckinridge made her the promise of marriage, and reiterated it before several witnesses, and how he finally broke that promise by marrying Mrs. Louise Wing of St. Louis.

In conclusion Mr. Carlisle said that under the law of the District of Columbia the plaintiff would get no damages "for seduction"; it was only for the broken promise of marriage that she could secure redress.

Col. Thompson for the defendant reserved his opening statement.

Judge Wilson for the plaintiff said there were some books in the case which he wanted produced. Maj. Butterworth for the defendant said he wanted those books more particularly identified. He had received notice to produce the books, which were described as four volumes of Washington Irving's works, which had been delivered by Sister Augustine to Mr. Stott of the defense. He wanted them more particularly described. Maj. Butterworth insisted that the books should be described. What were they? What did they contain?

At this point Miss Pollard broke out, half weeping, with a cry, "Why does he ask such questions? They are absurd." She was quieted and Judge Wilson arose and persisted in the books be produced. Judge Bradley overruled the objection and ordered the books turned over to the clerk of the court.

Mrs. Blackburn, widow of ex-Governor Luke Blackburn, of Kentucky, then took the stand. She said she lived in Louisville. In answer to Mr. Carlisle, she said she knew Col. Breckinridge and Miss Pollard. She had seen them together in her own apartments in this city on Good Friday in 1879. When she entered the room Col. Breckinridge said: "Mrs. Blackburn, I want to place this young lady under your protection. I expect her to become a wife to me, and she needs your motherly care. I expect to marry her when a sufficient time has elapsed after the death of my wife."

Col. Breckinridge had also talked with the witness about the engagement at other times. At one time he spoke of the disparity between the ages of Miss Pollard and himself, and she agreed that such marriages were foolish.

Col. Breckinridge at another time said to her: "Mrs. Blackburn, you appeared to be very much shocked when I told you of my engagement." "I was," I replied, "I think it a very poor return for so much devotion from your wife to become engaged so soon after the death of your wife." Then Col. Breckinridge said: "The reason I have become engaged so soon is that I thought I had discovered Miss Pollard's feelings toward me, and as an honorable man I thought I should ask her to marry me." I said: "You have certainly taken an honorable view of the matter, Col. Breckinridge."

Mrs. Blackburn also told of how Col. Breckinridge had asked her to take Miss Pollard to Europe with her, but she was obliged to decline. When rumors of his engagement to Mrs. Wing, his present wife, were being circulated, Col. Breckinridge had denied to any such thing.

Mrs. Blackburn told of another incident between Miss Pollard and Col. Breckinridge at her apartments in Washington. The two had called on her, and Miss Pollard had knelt down beside Col. Breckinridge, after putting her arms about him, and said: "Willie, will you name the day before Mrs. Blackburn?"

"I cannot do it now," said Col. Breckinridge, "but I will come back and tell Mrs. Blackburn of the day I intend to marry the young lady to whom I am engaged."

Mrs. Blackburn told of how she was dissatisfied with Col. Breckinridge's actions towards her, and after questions were asked of him, he had not treated her fairly. Last May she was in New York, and while there received telegrams from Col. Breckinridge asking her to see Miss Pollard, who was also in New York. Mr. Carlisle produced the telegrams, but the defense objected and they were not read.

Mrs. Blackburn was cross-examined by Col. Thompson in the usual manner, and became somewhat nervous and excited under the strain. "It is useless," she said, "to ask me any more questions. I have told everything I know concerning this case, and all further questions are useless." She added with tears in her eyes: "It is a terrible ordeal for me to pass through here, and I do not seem to have the necessary courage to come to the surface and fight the old boss openly."

Doran emphatically declares that Judge Brewster will be appointed register of the St. Cloud land office, and goes further and says that there has never been any doubt on the point, notwithstanding that two men have been asserted to have been appointed. Doran also claims today that C. H. Lineau, the candidate he has recommended for collector of internal revenue, will be appointed, as will also Judge McCafferty, of St. Paul, for district attorney.

It cannot be learned whether Doran has taken an interest in the fight over the appointment of a collector of the port of Duluth. At the treasury department, however, it is said today that Secretary Carlisle now proposes to allow those engaged in the fight to settle the difficulty among themselves. This is due to the fact that two men have been practically appointed and their appointments withdrawn at the request of Maj. Baldwin. This afternoon Maj. Baldwin is giving every indication of continuing the fight against Doran to the end.

Representative Haugen is again hopeful that the Duluth and Superior company's bridge bill can be passed at this session. Another determined effort is to be made to steer the bill through and Mr. Haugen said to the Herald today that he had hopes of ultimate success.

IN HONOR OF KOSSUTH.
Hungarians Want to Erect a Monument to His Memory.

PESTH, March 9.—The Hungarian independence today presented to Dr. Wekerle, president of the Hungarian council, a memorial asking that Louis Kossuth, whose death at Turin is imminent, be accorded the extraordinary honors which were bestowed upon Francis Deak, the Hungarian statesman, who died in 1876, by the erection of a national monument to his memory.

Dr. Wekerle refused to have anything to do with such a movement, basing his refusal on the ground that Kossuth had forfeited his claim to national honors, he having repeatedly declared that he would not recognize Emperor Francis as king of Hungary. The refusal of Dr. Wekerle has left the partisans of Kossuth to do honor to their hero in any way that pleases them.

A dispatch from Turin at 7 p. m. today says: Louis Kossuth is rapidly sinking and it is feared that he will not survive until morning.

ARMOR PLANT FAILED

The Carnegie Company Said to Have Sunk a Million or More in Poor Machinery.

Mr. Frick's Confidence That All Rivals Could Be Underbid Said to Have Been Misplaced.

The Entire Machinery of the Carnegie Arm-Making Plant Must Now Be Practically Renewed.

NEW YORK, March 9.—A special to the Tribune from Pittsburgh says: The statement published today that the new armor plant of the Carnegie company has just been completed at a cost of more than $1,000,000 does not tell the whole story, according to those who are fully conversant with the affairs of that company. This sum, and probably several hundred thousand more, it is said, marks the cost of over confident experiments in armor making.

It means practically the renewal of the entire machinery of the Carnegie armor-making plant. It also means that most of the first plant has not come up to the expectations and that the Carnegie company is a loser in this branch of the business practically to the extent of their first investment.

It is said that Mr. Frick, chairman of the company, did not hesitate at the time the McKinley bill was passing to declare, even in the presence of the committee, that the Carnegie company cared nothing for protection. Its machinery was so new and costly, having been imported especially and made at such enormous cost, that no rival could hope to compete with the establishment.

Owing to their facilities and its great concentration of capital, it could underbid its rivals and always be busy, whether its competitors were or not. It mattered not to the Carnegie company whether there was a duty on iron or whether there was not. Frick was confident that the company was confident and armor making began. Even the Bethlehem iron company, the successful armor making concern in the United States, was to be outdone.

It was not long before there was trouble. In competition with the Bethlehem company, the Carnegie company came out second. A great deal of work had to be done over again. Something was the matter with the plant, and the result of it all was that the machinery had to be renewed or the plant abandoned. This work has been going on for many months. It is not known what effect this has had upon the Carnegie company's profits. A great deal of work had to be done over again. Something was the matter with the plant, and the result of it all was that the machinery had to be renewed or the plant abandoned. This work has been going on for many months.

Denied By Mr. Frick.
PITTSBURGH, March 9.—A representative of the United Press called this morning at the general offices of the Carnegie Steel company, limited, building to Chairman H. C. Frick and Secretary Lovejoy, copies of the New York Tribune's Pittsburgh special dispatch, which contains the statement that the big Carnegie plant at Homestead, Pa., is a failure, so far as the manufacture of armor plate is concerned.

Secretary Lovejoy declined to make any statement for publication. Chairman Frick, however, in a brief statement, said that the dispatch referred to, stated it was "absolutely untrue throughout."

HARDSHIP AND SUFFERING.
A Searching Party Lived Three Weeks on Unsalted Deer and Elk Meat.

NEW YORK, March 9.—A special from Moscow, Idaho, says: The party organized at Post Falls for the rescue of the cook of the Carlin party, the unfortunate George Colgate, are on their return journey down the Clearwater river, and are expected to reach Kendrick within a day or two, having been out sixty days.

The party include William Martin, Mr. Shelton, Jack Rexford and Charles Colgate, the 16-year-old son of the lost cook. A miner who came in about the rescuing party and at whose cabin they remained for several days, tells a story of hardship and suffering that is truly pitiful.

They passed the famous Black canon on the Clearwater, and went about twenty-five miles beyond, the snow ranging from five to fifteen feet deep the entire distance. They lost their camp equipage, blankets and provisions, and for three weeks their only food was unsalted deer and elk meat.

The loss of cartridges and guns finally depleted their supplies entirely, and when they came upon the miner's hut they had been without food of any kind for two days. Martin had his collarbone broken by a falling tree and the flesh burned from his arm. Rexford's limbs were badly frozen to the knee. Young Colgate was crushed under a tree.

There were several narrow escapes from death by landslides. The party passed beyond the point where Colgate was left, but no trace of him was found.

Is It Constitutional?
MINNEAPOLIS, March 9.—Fred N. Underwood and John Hickman, the two officials, did not appear in the municipal court yesterday to answer to the charge of violating the personal liberty law preferred by Charles Rauch, of the International Association of Machinists. Their attorney demurred to the complaint, that the law is unconstitutional.

Markham's Trial.
MINNEAPOLIS, March 9.—Representative Markham's trial for soliciting a bribe began yesterday, the motion to quash the indictment being denied. The testimony will be confined to the single charge of his solicitation of James E. Glass.

POPE LEO GETTING ANXIOUS.

Fears the Vatican May Be Endangered by Anarchists.

ROME, March 9.—One of the men injured by the explosion of the bomb in front of the chamber of deputies died in the hospital this morning. The pope is deeply interested in learning the circumstances of the explosion and has directed that inquiry be made into the details by attaches of the vatican for his own information.

His holiness is anxious to keep thoroughly informed of the developments of the present anarchistic activity, and in the event of a political crisis fears that the vatican itself may be endangered. It is stated that the holy father is seeking from the government guarantees of the safety of the vatican in any event.

The anarchists have spread their throughout the city, and particularly among the workmen, thousands upon thousands of circulars prescribing the bomb as the only and infallible remedy for the ills from which the poorer classes are suffering.

DISEASED CATTLE SOLD.

Butchers Charged With Slaughtering Cattle With Lumpy Jaw.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 9.—Lumpy jaw has broken out among 500 head of cattle fed at one of the cotton seed oil mills in this city, and much excitement prevails in consequence, as it is charged that several butchers have slaughtered many of the diseased cattle and sold the meat.

Lee Frank, a prominent butcher, has been arrested, and with several others will be arraigned today. The cattle were brought here from Texas three months ago, and several shipments have been made from here to Northern points. Eighteen car loads will be shipped to St. Louis and other places today.

WHO ARE THESE MERRITS?

They Make Heavy Purchases of Placer Grounds in Idaho.

BOISE, Idaho, March 9.—It has developed that the Merrits, wealthy Minnesota capitalists, who were in Boise a few days ago, made some heavy purchases of rich placer grounds near Minidoka, on Snake river, in Cassia county, and that they will commence operations on a large scale there this spring.

State Auditor Frank Ramsey has located 300 acres in the same vicinity and careful prospecting show that it yields from 25 cents to $2.50 per cubic yard. It will average 60 cents per yard.

Freight Rates Demoralized.
ST. LOUIS, March 9.—The freight representatives of the seaboard lines are considerably exercised over the demoralization in east bound rates. They are particularly agitated over the cut in rates from Memphis to the seaboard. President Clark, of the Mobile & Ohio railroad is quoted as saying that it would pay St. Louis holders of cotton to have it towed down to the river and shipped to New York by rail from that point instead of direct from here.

Fatal Disease Among Hogs.
WOOSTER, Ohio, March 9.—A new and fatal disease has made its appearance among hogs in this locality. It attacks the muscles of the hind legs, which become rigid and then gradually fall away till death ensues. Post mortems have been held and parts sent to Cleveland for examination.

New Trial Refused.
NEW ULM, Minn., March 9.—Judge Webber has refused Michael H. Madigan a new trial. He will appeal at once to the supreme court and in the meanwhile is out on bail. The application for the introduction of new evidence by the defendant was denied.

Gossip of Congress

Members Who Wanted to Formulate a Plan To Secure a Quorum Are Much Chagrined.

Not Likely That Any Further Efforts in This Direction Will Be Made This Session.

The Jenkins Investigation by the House Is Likely to Include Judge Dundy, of Omaha.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Some of the members of the caucus who were interested in the caucus that was held on Tuesday night to formulate some plan by which a quorum might be secured when members were present and not voting are very much chagrined at the absolute collapse of the caucus and the indifference with which it was regarded by the members. Although 126 representatives signed the call, the highest number of those present did not at any time exceed fifty-five. This is likely to be the end of any further efforts in this direction.

One of the representatives, who was strongly in sympathy with the caucus, said today that if the caucus had been called while the seigniorage bill was before the house and while the filibustering was at its height, it would have been productive of good results and some amendment would have been made to the rules which would have prevented such tactics in the future. "But," said he, philosophically, "congress is a queer body. I have always noticed that when a congressional matter gets cool, it is impossible to warm it up again. We let the proposition to change the rules get cold on us and when the necessity for the change had passed, it was impossible to revive interest in it."

The Jenkins investigation by a rule committee of the house, judiciary committee, is likely to be extended to an investigation of Judge Dundy, of Omaha, who made a similar decision as Judge Jenkins, in regard to men in the employ of a railroad which is in the hands of a receiver. The bill authorizing an investigation of all cases under this head is still in the hands of the committee, but as the question substantially involves the same legal points, it is thought probable that the investigation will be extended to cover all.

Judge Dundy's decision differs somewhat from that of Judge Jenkins, in that it allows disqualification to come into court and state their grievance. One result which the action of congress, it is predicted, will have, is to cause the passage of a law regulating the procedure in all similar receivership cases. One provision will be to limit the tenure of a receivership to a definite period, and to allow it to go on indefinitely, and another to restrict the power of federal judges as to the right of appointing receivers and attorneys. In what manner these abuses will be corrected is still to be decided upon, but they are looked upon as abuses by prominent members of the judiciary committee, and will be treated accordingly.

An annoying error has been discovered in the distribution of the tariff speeches of ex-Speaker Reed and Chairman Wilson, of the ways and means committee. They were printed at the same office, and the usual care was exercised in their preparation and circulation. Among the congressmen who sent out the speeches was Van Vorhis, of Ohio. He received yesterday from an excited and indignant constituent the copy of the speech sent to him with a request for explanation.

An examination disclosed the fact that from a Republican point of view the thing was all right—"tariff speech" delivered by the Hon. Thomas B. Reed—while the body of the pamphlet was "the tariff speech of the Hon. W. L. Wilson." An investigation is in progress.

A Successful Trial. PHILADELPHIA, March 9.—The Indiana made 15.6 knots on her preliminary trial. This is six-tenths of a knot better than the contract calls for.

SURROUNDED BY MYSTERY!

A Great Mistake.

A recent discovery is that headache, dizziness, dullness, confusion of the mind, etc., are due to the accumulation of toxins in the centers which supply the brain with nerve force; that indigestion, dyspepsia, neuralgia, wind in stomach, etc., arise from the derangement of the nerve centers supplying these organs with nerve fluid or force. This is likewise true of many diseases of the heart and lungs. The nerve system is also a telegraphic system, as will be seen by the accompanying cut. The little white lines are the nerves which convey the nerve force from the brain to every part of the body, just as the electric currents are conveyed along the telegraph wires to every station, large or small. Ordinary physicians fail to regard this fact, instead of treating the nervous system for the disorders arising therefrom, they treat the part affected.

Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B., the highly educated specialist and student of nervous diseases, and author of many voted treatises on the latter subject, has since realized the truth of the statement, and his Restorative Nervine is prepared on that principle. Its success in curing all diseases arising from derangement of the nervous system is wonderful, as the thousands of unsolicited testimonials in possession of the company manufacturing the remedy amply prove.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

A GANG OF MURDEROUS WRETCHES.

They Nearly Killed a Ribbon Weaver Because He Would Not Strike.

PATERSON, N. J., March 9.—A mob of 2000 men assembled in front of the Murray silk mill at 6 o'clock last evening. Frank Newkirk, a ribbon weaver who refused to go on strike with the other operatives of the factory, started for the mill but had not proceeded far when a powerful weaver who headed the mob, struck him on the face knocking him into the gutter.

Newkirk, who is also a large and powerful man, regained his feet and drawing a piece of iron about a foot long from his pocket faced the crowd and retreated back to the mill, felling all those who came in his way to the ground. When he arrived at the mill he was unable to gain entrance and while groping for the door almost blinded with blood, a striker struck him on the head with a stone, knocking him down on the steps of the factory.

The crowd then pressed forward and began to trample the prostrate man, when two policemen appeared and after much difficulty reached Newkirk, who was again on his feet, holding his iron bar right and left, trying to keep the crowd at bay. The policemen then undertook to escort Newkirk to his home on Stony road, but when near the foot of the hill a number of those in front of the procession threatened to throw the badly scared weaver over a precipice.

Thinking that the strikers would carry out their threat, the policemen hurried Newkirk to the police station. When Newkirk and the officers were near the postoffice stones and bricks were flying in all directions. It required the services of several officers to prevent the mob from entering the court yard.

Baron Tweedmouth Enters it as Lord Privy Seal.

LONDON, March 9.—The announcement is made officially that Baron Tweedmouth (Right Hon. Edward Marjoribanks) will be made lord privy seal, with a seat in the cabinet. The announcement that Herbert Gladstone will receive the appointment of first commissioner of works is again made an official authority, and from the same source it is learned that R. C. Munro Ferguson, M. P., and member of the privy council, will be appointed a junior lord of the treasury in the room of Thomas Edward Ellis, elevated to the peerage.

Herbert Gladstone has been made a member of the privy council in consideration of the fact that his new office, first commissioner of works, does not carry with it a seat in the cabinet as it did when it was occupied by his predecessor, G. I. Shaw-Lefevre.

HERMAN CLARKE MISSING.

Not Seen by Either of His Partners Since Last Sunday.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Herman Clarke, of the firm of Hunter, Clarke & Jacob, which failed Wednesday, has not been seen by either of his partners since last Sunday. Last Saturday the rise in Sugar began, which culminated on Tuesday sixteen points above its start. Clarke had sold calls on Sugar right and left, most of them were sold at a profit and some were as low as eighty-four. By Saturday the last figure had been passed and it is thought Clarke, knowing that he had wrecked his firm, took flight then.

It is also alleged that Clarke had on Saturday and before drawn large sums of money from the firm's bank account without the knowledge of his partners and put the proceeds in his pocket. The amount is exceedingly large, and moreover, Clarke appears to have overdrawn his private account with the firm to the tune of thousands of dollars.

A telegram from Herman Clarke was received here Wednesday. He was then at Hot Springs, N. C.

BOUNDLESS WENT LAME.

The Winner of the Chicago Derby Withdrawn from Spring Races.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 9.—Boundless, the 1-year-old race horse which won the derby at Chicago last year, worth $50,000, after going over the track of the Little Rock Jockey club yesterday morning, pulled up lame in right front leg. The owner, J. E. Cushing, will ship him to the stud at Lexington, Ky.

Boundless' winnings aggregate $100,000. Boundless had just been ridden a mile in 1:41½, and it was after this run that the lameness was discovered. This makes it necessary to withdraw him from all the spring races.

Wrecked by a Landslide.

ROANOKE, Va., March 9.—The vestibule train on the Norfolk & Western railroad, from Washington to Chattanooga, was wrecked yesterday morning by a landslide, forty-five miles north of this city. Engineer Jake Hardy, of this city, was killed, and Fireman Nolsinger was thrown in the James river as the engine rolled down an embankment. He is severely injured.

An Unknown Poisoned.

READING, Pa., March 9.—A stranger named West Grover died in the Reading hospital yesterday. He was recently robbed of a large amount of money and soon after was taken ill. He refused to say anything as to his family and the only thing known of him is that he came here from Chicago. Poisoning is suspected.

Dividend Declared.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The directors of the St. Paul road today declared the usual semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent on the common and 3½ per cent on the preferred stock, payable April 10.

More Anarchists Arrested.

PARIS, March 9.—Seven anarchists were arrested by the police yesterday, included in the number is the father of Martial Bourdin, who was killed by the explosion of a bomb he was carrying in Greenwich park, London, on Feb. 15.

VERY NEAR A TRAGEDY

The Opening of the A. P. A. Movement In Dallas, Texas, Nearly Caused a Bloody Tragedy.

An Organizer of the Society Made a Bitter Attack Upon the Jesuits and Catholics.

A Drunken Saloonkeeper Called Him a Liar, Drew a Revolver and Fired Four Shots.

DALLAS, Tex., March 9.—The American Protective association movement struck Dallas last night and came very near opening with a bloody tragedy. L. W. Hile, editor of the American Eagle, of Kansas City, and organizer for the American Protective association, advertised yesterday to lecture at the city hall last night. About 400 persons were present. Hile made a bitter attack upon the Jesuit and Catholic church. He was interrupted by a drunken saloonkeeper in the rear of the hall, Tom Duffy, by name. Duffy said, "You lie, you—" and drawing his revolver fired four shots wildly. Hile reached for his valise to get his gun and Duffy was disarmed by Dan Stuart, who took his gun away. Duffy, in the great uproar that followed, made his escape.

J. G. Russell was shot in the neck, receiving a bad wound, by a stray bullet from Duffy's pistol, and an unknown Frenchman had a piece of his right cheek removed. After the excitement had subsided, Hile resumed his lecture and made a terrific onslaught upon the Catholics. After the lecture an A. P. A. lodge was formed. Bad blood has been engendered and there is no telling where it will stop.

THE EX-PRIESTS DENOUNCED.

The President of the Iowa A. P. A. Says They Are Leeches.

KEOKUK, Iowa, March 9.—The state council of the American Protective association closed a two days' session in this city last night. In his annual address President Jackson, of Boone, said: "The average ex-priest is simply a leech, sucking the life blood of the councils for his own enrichment. We claim in our principles that we attack man's religion and make no warfare on the religious tenets of the Roman Catholic church, and yet we hear these ex-priests abuse all of the people and make fun of this church, and vilify and make fun of its observances. We thereby stultify ourselves and bring reproach upon the order and its principles."

The council unanimously adopted a resolution favoring the plan of the president, and hereafter no ex-priests will be employed unless properly accredited by the president.

ALL DUE TO A TEACHER.

An Unpopular Schoolmaster the Cause of a Riot in Belgium.

BRUSSELS, March 9.—A riot occurred yesterday in the village of Comblain au Pont, in the province of Liege, which involved almost the entire population of the place. The recent appointment of a schoolmaster who was generally unpopular was the primary cause of the disturbance. Repeated protests against the retention of the teacher having been of no avail, the people made an attack upon the residence of the burgomaster yesterday and threatened its destruction.

The crowd refusing to disperse, the command of the burgomaster, that functionary ordered the gendarmes to fire upon them. The command was obeyed and the rioters retired. The crowd was finally scattered with the loss of two killed and a dozen or more wounded.

MR. GLADSTONE'S EYESIGHT.

He Will Soon Have a Consultation With an Eminent Oculist.

LONDON, March 9.—It is asserted upon high authority in British medical circles that the catarract which has for some time threatened Mr. Gladstone with at least partial loss of sight was made much worse by his exposure to the glaring light of the sun while sojourning at Biarritz. Since his return, however, it has grown no worse.

The ex-premier has arranged for consultation with an eminent ophthalmist, to which he will have very shortly. Mr. Gladstone has abandoned his intention to visit Germany with the object of consulting an oculist.

Mr. Gladstone passed a good night and is much improved this morning in many respects.

BLAND WOULD NOT REFUSE.

Pleased With the Talk of Nominating Him for President.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Representative Bland is rather gratified by the many expressions of Western newspapers in connection with his candidacy for the presidency, but declines to commit himself to any expressions of his sentiments on the subject.

A Post special reporter cornered him yesterday, but the great advocate of free silver declined to say anything as to his chances of securing the nomination. "It won't do to talk about," he said simply, but the remark was made with a serious countenance that rather suggested the nomination would not be turned down, if it came on as silver-silver.

To Clear Up Old Debts.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 9.—The Nashville Cotton Mills company made an assignment yesterday afternoon to Hugh D. Dallas for the benefit of creditors whose claims aggregated $60,000. The Southern National bank of New York, is the largest creditor, its claim being $20,000. The company was recently reorganized and the assignment is to clear up the old debts.

Passed by the House.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—After two hours' debate yesterday the bill abolishing the offices of commissioner and deputy commissioner of customs was passed.

DAN COUGHLIN ACQUITTED.

Was Found Not Guilty of Complicity in the Cronin Murder.

CHICAGO, March 9.—The jury in the Coughlin case returned at 4:25 p. m. yesterday. "We find the defendant, Daniel Coughlin, read out the clerk from the verdict in clear, emphatic tones. For a moment not a soul stirred. Then from the rear of the room came a cheer. A hundred throats joined in and pandemonium prevailed. The cheers were taken up by the crowd outside and soon were echoing through the vaulted corridors of the big structure.

Coughlin himself seemed stunned as the words fell from the clerk's lips. Then by an effort he rose from his seat, pushed back the crowd and exclaimed in triumphant tones: "Joys, justice has come at last." Coughlin had to use strategy to avoid the hundreds in the street so that he and his wife could drive to the home of the defendant. One juror admitted that on the first ballot there was a large majority of the twelve votes for acquittal.

This was Coughlin's second trial on the charge of participation in the murder of Dr. P. H. Cronin. On the first trial he was found guilty of murder and conspiracy and sentenced to life imprisonment.

EXPLOSION ON A SEALER.

Two Men Killed and One Injured by Dynamite Explosion.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., March 9.—A serious dynamite explosion occurred Wednesday night aboard the sealing steamer Wairus at Greenspond seventy miles north of St. Johns, while her crew were preparing dynamite to break the ice in the harbor so that the ships could gain open water.

Three of the men were warning dynamite in the galley when the explosion occurred. Two were killed almost instantly and the third seriously injured. The explosion partially wrecked the ship. Had it not been for the fact that the remainder of the crew of the ship, nearly 200 in number, were on the ice at the time of the explosion, a terrible loss of life would have occurred.

Robbery of a Corpse.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 9.—In police court yesterday Judge Martin discharged Dr. J. A. Parke, who was charged with stealing a diamond from a corpse, and Grant Wilson, the undertaker's helper who made the affidavit, for the theft. It is generally believed that the police made a serious mistake in taking Wilson's affidavit as ground for arrest, as he is an ex-convict.

Robbed and Murdered.

CHICAGO, March 9.—The mystery of the disappearance of A. F. Donnelly, of Belvidere, Ill., was partly cleared up yesterday by the finding of his body in the river here. Nothing was heard of him since he left home Jan. 9. He had considerable money and a gold watch, and of which was found on his body and it is believed he was robbed and murdered.

A County Clerk's Death.

ESTHERVILLE, Iowa, March 9.—J. D. Russell, county clerk, and county clerk, was found dead in bed yesterday morning. He was unwell for some days past and yesterday his family went to his room to see how he was. They found him, as they supposed, sleeping and left him. On going again later he was found to be dead. Heart trouble was the cause.

Pearson Arrested.

BOSTON, Mass., March 9.—Augustus Pearson, 28 years of age, was arrested in this city yesterday afternoon charged with being a fugitive from justice at Des Moines, Iowa, where he is wanted for forging two orders for the amount of $10 each on the State Savings bank of Des Moines, Iowa, in November, 1893.

Priests Must Explain.

PARIS, March 9.—The Petite Republique says that three priests, letters from whom were found in the house of Anicet Tournaire, have been summoned to appear before the examining magistrate. The paper intimates that other letters were found among the effects of Tournaire that will require explanation in court on the part of the writers.

The Uruguay Presidency.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The Herald's special cable from Montevideo, Uruguay, says: The official party has gained one more vote in the assembly, and now only lacks two of the majority necessary to elect a president. Its triumph is anticipated today.

No Trace of Colgate.

SPOKANE, Wash., March 9.—The second relief party who went after Colgate, the cook left behind in the mountain, has returned without success. They found no trace of the missing man.

Bomb Outrage in Rome.

ROME, March 9.—A bomb exploded last evening in front of the chamber of deputies. The windows of the building were broken and two persons were injured.

An Editor Dead.

LONDON, March 9.—Editor Wright of the Morning Advertiser died yesterday after a lingering illness. He was a delegate to the journalists' congress in Chicago last year.

It is very difficult.

No Film-Flamming Here.

Several representatives of Superior
were in Minneapolis yesterday hobnobing with the officials in charge of the wheat market there and telling with a great show of bravado how they are going to establish a wheat market across the bay that will give the Duluth board
no excuse for living. In this connection
they sang the old song about Duluth
"stealing their thunder" by including Superior business in its statistics, and told how much more flour is manufactured in Superior mills than in the Duluth mills.

It is hardly necessary to deny these old, stale and moth-eaten stories. They have done duty with a certain class of Superior boomers for the peanut variety for several years, but their falsity has been so often exposed that outside people are now fully informed as to the facts and placed no credence in these years. Duluth claims no credit for any business done in Superior, and its official publications and its newspapers do not include in the trade statistics anything that belongs to Superior without giving full credit to that city. This is especially true of the milling industry. The secretary of the Duluth board of trade every Tuesday morning prepares a statement showing the production, receipts and shipment of flour at the head of the lakes and during the Superior week, and the amount produced in Superior is carefully credited to that town. This does not indicate any attempt to be unfair or dishonest. The only wheat receipts included in the Duluth statistics are those
by elevators that are under the control of the Duluth board of trade.

Such being the facts, it is entirely unjust on the part of the Minneapolis Journal to head an article relating to these Superior boomers with the words "A Duluth Film-Flamming Game." If there has been any film-flamming going on, the Minneapolis men who gave credence to the story poured into their ears yesterday were the victims. It seems strange that a Minnesota paper should seize every opportunity to circulate lies emanating from another state with reference to a Minnesota city.

The Losses by Fire.

The records of the New York Journal of Commerce show that the fire losses
during February were very heavy, indicating an increase over the corresponding month of last year, and also an increase over the preceding month of last year. In February, 1894, the fire loss in the United States and Canada aggregated $11,297,600, while in February, 1893,
the loss was $9,019,000. In February, 1892, the loss was $11,041,000, slightly
greater than during the present month.

However, the figures presented in the New York paper make a showing in favor of this year for the combined months of January and February, as compared with each of the two preceding years. Here is the comparison:
1894, $21,866,000; 1893, $27,878,300; 1892, $24,478,900. This shows a decrease of $6,000,000 in the loss by fire so far this year as compared with 1893, and $2,600, 000 less as compared with 1892.

Notwithstanding the decline in losses
two fire insurance companies have gone to the wall, having been greatly weakened by the heavy losses during the past two years. There are probably other companies that are in a tottering condition from the same cause, and the New York paper advises merchants to carefully investigate the policies they have in their safes. If two companies like the Burlington
and the Columbian have been so weakened that they cannot pay ordinary losses, there are many other companies that are in a shaky condition.

The merchant, whose sole hope depends upon the solvency of a fire insurance company, in case of the destruction of his property by fire, cannot be too careful in placing his risk with a company of undoubted solvency and solidity.

The Boston Transcript relates that a gentleman had told one of the unemployed that if the latter would meet him

at the railroad station, he would pay the man's fare to Portland and assure him a job after getting there. The man was at the station according to the agreement,
but he could not go until Wednesday, he said; he had to turn out in the procession of the unemployed on Tuesday!

The Growth of Religion.
It is an interesting fact that while a great volume of discussion goes on about the decline of religion, the great Protestant sects in the United States continue to hold their dominating influence—in fact are constantly growing, relatively to the gain in population, both in the number of their communicants, in the value of their church property, and in all forms of activity. In other words, the Presbyterian, the Baptist, the Episcopal and the Methodist churches are in every way stronger and more firmly established in the United States today than at any time
in our history.

The proofs of this stability in the great religious sects are grouped and presented in the March number of the Forum by H. K. Carroll, a special agent of the census for gathering statistics of churches. He states that observation convinces him that there is, making all allowances, not less faith in the church, but more; not a feeble but a stronger spiritual life. There is a series of facts going to confirm this conclusion:

First. While theology, especially Calvinistic theology, has undergone many changes in the past half-century or more,
as indicated by the fact that it has generally outgrown or grown away from the old confessions, the result has not affected faith in the great fundamentals of Christianity. Mr. Carroll does not believe that the time has ever been, since the Advent, when the divine mission and nature of Jesus Christ were so fully recognized as now.

Second. The scriptures have not lost their place in the church, nor their attraction for the masses of church members. It is a fact that the Bible was never so widely and systematically studied, and so thoroughly taught, as now.

Third. If the faith of the church were weakened, it would affect the pulpit.
We should find a change in the character of its utterances. We should have rationalistic instead of spiritual preaching. That it does not show itself in the pulpit to any large degree, and is not characteristic of the preaching of the times, must be the conclusion of every one who is a close observer or will make himself such.

Fourth. If there were any considerable loss of faith in Christianity as a supernatural religion, it would inevitably affect the cause of foreign missions.
While it is a fact that the old doctrine that all the heathen are doomed to everlasting punishment is not now generally held, the motive of Christian missions
has not changed.

As an answer to those who recklessly assert that religion is declining, that the stability of the Christian faith is being threatened, Mr. Carroll's statements, based upon statistics of undoubted correctness and wide observation, are very effective. It shows how very weak and feeble has been the assault of Bob Inger-sol and others of that ilk upon the Christian religion. Their ridicule has served but to stimulate the enthusiasm of the believers, and their assaults have but solidified the ranks of the millions who are found within the fold of the church.

Coughlin's Acquittal.

The acquittal of Dan Coughlin, charged with complicity in the murder of Dr.
Cronin, is not a great surprise to those who have closely followed the case and carefully read the evidence presented by the state and the defense. While there was considerable circumstantial evidence that appeared to connect the ex-detective with the terrible tragedy, the chain was not by any means complete. There were many important links missing and the result was the failure of the state to clearly show that Coughlin was guilty of the crime charged.

The jury undoubtedly laid stress upon the propriety and justice of giving the accused the benefit of any reasonable doubt. It was, beyond any question, the doctrine that the accused should not be convicted unless the jury is satisfied of his guilt beyond any reasonable doubt that saved Dan Coughlin from conviction yesterday. The evidence against him that introduced at his first trial, when he was convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for life, but upon that occasion he was tried jointly with others
about whose guilt there was no question, no doubt weighed against him more than
it properly should.

Coughlin is now a free man. Acquitted
by a jury of his peers, he cannot be tried again upon this charge. After four years spent in the state prison and in jail, he returns to his home and family. Let us hope that he was right when he said yesterday on hearing the verdict that "justice has been done at last."

By the close of the year the regular army, or least the infantry regiments,
will be armed with the Krag-Jorgensen magazine rifle. The first complete lots will be issued to the Second and Fourth regiments of infantry. With the new rifle will come new cartridge belts dyed
a fast blue army standard to match the uniform.

It must be confessed that the overtures made by Premier Rosebery look-

Oh, the caravans are forming
In the desert of the world,
And on Tuesday night at Omaha
Which is found in this oasis
When the stars and crescent shine
And the nobles in their fozes
Are assembled 'round the Shiraz.

When the noaves are lashed
And the sun pours its fire
And are lifted to the apex
Then oh then the howling derwish
For that lump is filled with carpet
Tacks that get there just the same.

D. B. Smith Demands of the Court an Accounting With the Smith & Coulter Spice Company.

Claims to Have Been Frozen Out by Manager C. L. White, and Wants Him Deposed.

The Defendants Answer That Smith is Simply Trying to Defeat the Collection of the Note.

D. B. Smith has filed notice in the district court that he will apply to the court tomorrow for the special term for an order appointing a receiver for the Smith & Coulter Spice company during the pendency of an action which he has brought; for an order removing Charles L. White from the control and management of the business until the determination of the action; and for an order permitting him to examine the books and accounts of the company under direction of the court.

An order is also asked restraining the company or its officers or agents or the Marine National bank from selling or disposing of a note given by Mr. Smith for $17,000 to the company, until further notice from the court.

The action is begun by D. B. Smith against the Smith & Coulter Spice company, Charles L. White, A. P. White and the Marine National bank, and is quite sensational. The company is alleged to have been capitalized at $20,000 and was organized by D. B. Smith, J. W. Coulter and Charles L. White. They were to pay $5,000 each and give notes for the balance, Smith and White for $17,000 each and Coulter for $16,000. Coulter withdrew, selling his stock, all but the $1,000, to Smith, who afterwards disposed of it to White. The latter is alleged to have given his brother $500 stock to allow him to qualify as a director. It was agreed that White should receive $125 per month for managing the business, but the plaintiff alleges that the defendants White voted him $150 per month at the directors' meeting and voted to the plaintiff only a commission on sales. Mr. Smith alleges that White then assumed full control of the business, although it was he who had built it up.

He charges Mr. White with locking him out of the premises and changing the locks on the door so that he could not get in, and denied him the privilege of examining the books. He also charges that White delivered the notes given for stock to the Marine National bank after their maturity, although he pretends it was before maturity.

Further than this, the defendants White is alleged to have voted in favor of demanding Mr. Smith's resignation of the presidency of the company. They are accused of taking possession of his stock for which the $17,000 note was given. The $5,000 stock he sold to W. C. Bond, and finally came the crowning event and Smith was heaped upon injury. Mr. Smith's allegation being that when on February 2, he went into the office and asserted his right to examine the books he was set upon by Mr. White and kicked and pounded in a disgraceful manner.

In asking the court for the appointment of a receiver and for restraining orders he also asks that his share of the profits of the business be determined and awarded to him. J. L. Washburn and L. E. Judson are Mr. Smith's attorneys.

The answer of the defendants protests against the appointment of a receiver and the principal creditors also protest and allege collusion in the office. The action is alleged to have been brought to defeat the collection of a note for $17,000 given in payment for stock, the oil and stock which the plaintiff now owns. In denial of the plaintiff's allegation that during his control the business made $15,000, J. W. Coulter says that he lost $300 in two years that he was with the company.

Other Court Filings.

The Wells-Stone Mercantile company has brought suit against W. E. Shipley and Alvin Bagley. The plaintiff claims to have sold Shipley an engine and boiler for the launch Santa Maria and that he afterward sold the launch to A. Bagley to defraud the plaintiff. Judgment for sale of the boat to satisfy defendant is asked. The plaintiff's attorney is H. J. Grannis.

W. F. Allen has commenced a suit against E. G. Simcox to collect $50 on a promissory note. Draper, Davis & Holister are plaintiff's attorneys.

C. E. Richardson has petitioned the court for an order entitling him to the possession of certain papers belonging to the city hall records which were introduced as evidence in the case of Martha H. Norton et al. vs. Village of West Duluth.

Notice of application for the appointment of a receiver in supplementary proceedings in John Cogan vs. C. M. Massau has been filed. It will be heard tomorrow in the special term.

The Savings bank, of St. Paul, has brought suit to recover $750 on a note given by James A. Boggs and $250 on a note given by W. W. Sanford. Charles N. Bell, of St. Paul, is plaintiff's attorney.

Other papers filed were as follows: Bond of L. D. Sharp for $12,000 as assignee of the National Investment company.

TWO LIVES WERE LOST

Thomas Dunleavy and Edgar Van Gasbeck Were Suffocated in a Kiln by Escaping Gas.

They Perished While Aiding in Getting Out Two Other Men Who Had Been Overcome.

Henry Pin, Another of the Rescuing Party, Carried to His Home and May Die.

KINGSTON, N. Y., March 10.—Thomas Dunleavy and Edgar Van Gasbeck, through a heroic attempt to save the lives of fellow workmen, lost their lives at Hickory Bush, a few miles from this city late last night. The Lawrence Cement company's kiln was lighted on Wednesday and cement rock had been dumped on the burning coal. Patrick Burke judiciously went down about eleven feet into the kiln to level off the stone, through which the coal gas was percolating, and he had hardly got into the kiln when he was overcome. W. A. Vandemark, engineer of the hoister at the top of the kiln, saw Burke fall and with a rope he climbed down a ladder into the kiln to assist Burke. After tying the rope around Burke, Engineer Vandemark was also overcome and Henry Pin, Thomas Dunleavy and Edgar Van Gasbeck, who were at the top of the kiln, went into the kiln and attempted to rescue their fellow workmen.

The coal gas was dense and the men worked heroically and Burke and Van Gasbeck were gotten out safely. Dunleavy and Van Gasbeck, however, were not so fortunate in getting out, for before they could reach the top of the ladder they fell back dead. Henry Pin was carried out into the air and to his home, and it is thought he will die. Dunleavy and Van Gasbeck are unmarried.

The Troy Tragedy.
TROY, N. Y., March 10.—Jeremiah Cleary, of the Thirteenth ward, and Thomas O'Keefe, of West Troy, who were with "Bart" Shea and John McGough when Robert Ross was killed, were taken to police headquarters late yesterday, and after being interviewed by Superintendent of Police Willard were committed to jail as witnesses. The men will be detained until the completion of the case, McGough and Bolland.

A Black Brute Captured.
NORRISTOWN, Pa., March 10.—Mrs. Charles Johnson, a respectable white lady residing at Valley Forge, was criminally assaulted this morning at some place by Frank Brooks (colored), residing at Perkiomen Junction. After committing the deed Brooks fled from the house and Mrs. Johnson gave the alarm. A crowd of men started in pursuit and captured the negro after a hot chase. He was roughly handled by the crowd of angry people.

Freight Rates From Duluth.
CHICAGO, March 10.—At the Western Freight association meeting Thursday rates on furniture from Duluth, Superior and West Superior to Chicago were placed on the basis of 10 cents per 100 pounds above the Chicago rate. A minimum weight of 21,000 pounds was adopted for car load lots, timothy seed, except where class "A" rates are used.

Talk of Lynching.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 10.—A special from the Times-Union from Tampa says: Fred Thompson was jailed here yesterday for criminally assaulting two little girls aged 8 and 10 years, daughters of Foreman Bennett, of the Plant steamship shops at Port Tampa City. There is talk of lynching.

Found Guilty of Murder.
WAUPACA, Wis., March 10.—A verdict of murder in the first degree was returned by the jury yesterday afternoon in the case of James Cheyenne after being out one and half hours. A Buffalo Man Absconds.
BUFFALO, N. Y., March 10.—Nelson V. Holden, president of the Crescent Steam Laundry company, has disappeared and it is said the debts against him will aggregate $10,000. It is probable that criminal action will be taken against him and a warrant issued for his arrest.

A VERY PECULIAR STORY.

Dr. Leek Tells About the Poisoning of Miss Aldersley and Himself.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—Dr. James L. Leek, who with Miss Alice Aldersley, was found in an unconscious condition in the former's apartments last Monday, suffering from the effect of poisons, which proved fatal in the case of Miss Aldersley, recovered sufficiently yesterday to tell his side of the story.

Dr. Leek said that on Saturday night Miss Aldersley accompanied him to the theater. They were together until Monday. That night both drank some cherry brandy. Shortly afterward the girl became unconscious, and as she showed symptoms of fits, to which she was subject, Leek, securing a bottle of ammonia, attempted to restore her, but while so doing he became unconscious also. From that time until his restoration to consciousness, all is a blank to him. Dr. Leek added that Miss Aldersley was intensely jealous of a young woman he was soon to marry.

BRIBEY IS CHARGED.

Thomas W. Ahl Held for Attempted Bribery in Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, March 10.—Thomas W. Ahl, charged with bribery in connection with the selection of the site for the Soldiers' Orphans school and home, is under arrest and gave bail in $25,000 for his appearance in court.

The information was made by Thomas G. Sample, state department commander of the G. A. R., who is also secretary of the state commission having charge of all children in the Soldiers' Orphans' schools or homes. It is alleged that Ahl offered to Sample the sum of $12,000 as a bribe to influence his favorable influence in the selection of 100 acres of ground in which Ahl is interested.

DES MOINES, March 10.—Senator N. V. Brower knocked down Editor Shoemaker, of the Homestead Chronicle, in the cloak room of the senate at 11 o'clock today. The men were engaged in a heated discussion of the liquor question. Shoemaker charged Brower with breaking pledges to his prohibition Republican constituents. The affair caused a tremendous sensation and the senate doors were immediately closed.

Since Sterrick's wife left him a short time ago, the girl says she has been shamefully abused, not only by him but by other men.

ALARM AT HONOLULU

The Arrival of One Hundred Canadians and Englishmen Not Seeking Employment Has Started Rumors.

Reports Are in Circulation That They Were Enlisted by Sansome for a Royalist Uprising.

Police Believed a Move Was to Be Made Soon After the Steamer Left Honolulu.

(Copyright, 1894, by the United Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—The steamer Australia arrived from Honolulu at 7:30 this morning, bringing advices to March 3. Since the last dispatch per Transit, Feb. 20, important movements have developed. The most serious alarm has been taken by the government at the fact of a very large number of arrivals of steamer passengers from Victoria and San Francisco during January and February; there were more than 100 in each of what might be expected.

About that number are evidently Canadians and Englishmen, corresponding to the class reported to have been enlisted at Vancouver by Sansome. More than ten of these men have been marked as wearing military badges of honor. Sixty have been marked as lodging together at different houses. They are not in pursuit of employment and evidently are supplied with means of subsistence. Their sympathies are not concealed as with the Royalists, with whom they are known to be in communication. From various sources of information, the police authorities are entirely satisfied that these men are persons enlisted by Sansome, and that a decisive move, to get possession of the executive building with the aid of these men, is fully planned by the Royalists to be executed within a few days.

The danger which is believed to be imminent, on account of the trained military character and tried courage of these Canadians, is more serious than the alarm. The Advertiser expresses doubt, except that during the period of Minister Willis' hostile attitude to Honolulu. Since the latter peril appeared to have passed away two months ago, the military activity and vigilance of the volunteer companies and the citizens' reserve have become entirely relaxed and a surprise has become a possibility with this new reinforcement to the Royalists.

For a week past the marshal has been in active conference with the leaders of the citizens' guards and fresh activities have been revived. The police, especially the mounted men, have been increased in number and a vigilant watch has been kept on all movements of suspected persons. The general public are but partially aware of the above facts. There is yet a prevailing disposition to disparage alarm. Prominent men said on the 25th that they thought there was nothing in this Canadian scare; that this was only the natural overflow of unemployed men from the coast. The Star fully credits the alarm. The Advertiser expresses doubt, and the Royalist Bulletin pokes fun at it.

Sansome, who is at Vancouver, is taking pains to convey the impression that there is nothing in the rumors that he has been enlisted men for the queen's service, and he has managed to get his word sent down here. Sansome has also written a letter to President Dole and T. H. Davies, which the latter has published, declaring that Davies is in no way connected with the alleged movement. His letters do not, however, deny the fact of his enlistments, as previously reported.

Davies' positive denial some time ago of complicity with Sansome was heartily accepted by his many friends here, who have been accustomed to confide in his probity, but the most serious doubts are now revived. Information received by the authorities convinces some, at least, that Davies is implicated. There is no reasonable doubt that Sansome enlisted men, and that they are now here in force. The report that he was employed by Davies originated at Vancouver, where Davies remained for quite a time on his way to Honolulu. Sansome's work must have required a very large amount of money to move at least 100 men to Honolulu. Davies is the only person who it can be conjectured, has supplied funds.

Purchase or Exchange.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 10.—A motion recommending the purchase of the promontory of Point Roberts, consisting of four square miles, the straits of San Juan de Fuca, from the United States, for its acquisition in exchange for territory adjoining Alaska, passed the provincial legislature unanimously yesterday and will be forwarded to the Dominion government.

Earthquake in Mexico.

ST. LOUIS, March 10.—Specials from Mexico say that an earthquake visited the state of Jalisco Thursday night, the duration of the shock being nine seconds. No damage is reported.

Ground to Pieces.

EFFINGHAM, Ill., March 10.—Miss Jessie Mitchell, aged 18, committed suicide by throwing herself in front of the fast mail train last night at Mason, south of here. Her body was instantly ground to pieces under the wheels. Her sister, Maggie, committed suicide by taking poison at Bement a year ago.

Burned to Death.

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 10.—A dispatch from Delavan, Cattaraugus county, says a fire last night destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Snyder, an aged couple of this place. Both perished in the flames.

NEW POLICY ADOPTED.

Opening of the Remainder of Indian Lands to Settlement.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The house committee on Indian affairs has adopted a policy of opening to settlement the remainder of the Indian lands. The plan is that these lands shall be opened to settlement under the homestead laws and that the settler shall occupy the land three years before a title can be obtained.

Heretofore a settler could obtain title in fourteen months. This system made the lands subject to much speculation, as settlers would occupy their site for the required time and then sell it to an advantage.

Some of the members of the committee wanted to require an actual residence of five years before title could be obtained, but a compromise of three years was agreed upon. It was also decided that hereafter the government should not pay over 4 per cent interest on money due Indians on land purchases.

THE FIGHT OVER OFFICES.

Maj. Baldwin Holds Up Judge Bruener's Appointment as Register.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—[Special to The Herald.]—Representative Baldwin has been able to hold up the appointment of Judge Bruener for register of the St. Cloud land office but does not anticipate that he will be able to prevent this appointment altogether.

C. H. Linenau, Doran's candidate for collector of internal revenue, will probably be appointed Monday. The collectorship at Duluth is still held up.

ON THE TARIFF BILL.

The Senate Finance Committee Wants to Report It Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The finance committee of the senate met at 10:30 o'clock this morning with all members present but Senators Sherman and McPherson, the latter having been called to New York on account of the serious illness of his brother.

It is the intention of the committee to remain in session the greater part of the day and make as much headway as possible. The Democrats being desirous of reporting the tariff bill to the senate Tuesday morning, if possible.

The Republicans say this can hardly be done, as so short a time would not give them sufficient opportunity to go over the bill in detail.

WRECKED BY A BOMB.

A Boarding House in a Suburb of Paris Badly Damaged.

PARIS, March 10.—At an early hour last evening a bomb was exploded in a lodging house in Colombes, in the department of Seine, six miles northwest of this city, with a report that startled the town. The front part of the building was wrecked and windows were shattered in all directions.

The police hastened to the scene and made the discovery that the bomb had been exploded underneath the bed of a lodger, who declared that his landlady had requested him to conceal it there. The man was persistent in his endeavor to place the responsibility for the explosion upon the woman, and she was equally anxious to throw the blame upon him.

Her version of the circumstances was that the man had brought the bomb to his room in pursuance of his threat to kill her if she persisted in her expressed intention to cease her illicit relations with him, which she had sought to do. The police took both into custody.

THE SEARCH FOR GOLD

Many People Arriving in Duluth Who Are Bound for the Rainy Lake Gold Region.

Excellent Showing, by the Sultana Mine, in the Same Formation as Rainy Lake Properties.

In Anticipation of the Great Crowds in the Spring, the Railroads Are Making Preparations.

The rush to the Rainy Lake gold fields continues, and the railroads running to Duluth are noticing a considerable increase in their passenger traffic as a result of this movement. The opening of spring will be marked by the breaking up of the ice in the lakes and rivers and will make the roads to Rainy Lake city impassable, and consequently many who want to see the new region, are rushing there now.

Word has been received that a $200 brick has been turned out at the Sultana mine, the product of ore taken from a depth of 120 feet, and which averaged $150 a ton in gold. The Sultana mine is located in the eastern portion of the Lake of the Woods and is in the same formation as the Rainy Lake gold properties. This showing proves conclusively to gold experts that there is no question about the depth of the veins and that they are true fissure veins. The 30-pound specimen of quartz from the Little America mine, which Jeff Hildreth had on exhibition in the St. Louis hotel, has been taken by General Passenger Agent Russell, of the St. Paul & Duluth, to St. Paul, and will exhibit there, as the St. Paul people are taking great interest in the Rainy Lake discoveries.

St. Paul, Milwaukee and Waupaca men have sent in applications to the Ontario commissioner of crown lands for leases covering 25,000 acres of land on the Canadian side of the boundary running through the gold-bearing belt. Sections of the stamp mill will be erected at Rainy Lake City have reached here and will be on the ground inside of the next thirty days. The Rainy Lake Improvement company has made an excellent arrangement with Messrs. Chase, Heiler & Hildreth, who are putting up the stamp mill. While they have purchased it for their own use in crushing the quartz from the Little America mine, for which Jeff Hildreth has received $50,000, they have agreed with the company, in consideration of being given a site for the mill, that they will run 150 tons of ore through the mill and crush and stamp it for any person who desires to test the value of his property. By this means it will be possible to determine very quickly where there is ore in paying quantities.

J. B. Weimer and several parties interested with him have purchased nine-tenths of the bay front at Rainy Lake City, where they will build scows, barges and exploring boats, which are greatly needed there. P. J. O'Donnell made a contract to erect a building and put in a stock of mining and general camp supplies.

A St. Cloud dispatch says: "Samuel C. Gilman, son of Charles A. Gilman, returned from the Rainy Lake region yesterday, and reports that the claims on the American side have nearly all been taken up, and the only way to get the land is to homestead it. A great many people are rushing into this newly discovered Eldorado, and are preparing for prospecting. Building operations are booming, several hotels and houses and business places being now under construction."

The railroad men expect a great rush to this new region, and its agricultural and mineral resources become generally known and the people learn that thousands of acres of the best land in the face of the earth can be secured at government prices. The Rainy Lake country is far ahead of Oklahoma or any of the other new regions that have been opened to settlement and attracted thousands of people. It has a splendid climate, the land is very fertile and dotted by beautiful streams of pure water, while the presence of gold and other minerals furnishes added attractions. In anticipation of the crowds that will flock thither in the early spring all the railroads are making ample preparations.

HIS HEART INJURED

Michael Sullivan Was Almost Killed in a Boxing Contest in Chicago by H. W. Crane.

When on His Way Home After the Fight, Sullivan Fell Unconscious on the Street.

A Physician Found That a Blow Had Caused a Lesion in a Heart Valve.

CHICAGO, March 10.—The last bout of the boxing tournament at the Chicago Athletic club last night between H. W. Crane and Michael Sullivan almost resulted in death to the latter. While on his way home at midnight, Sullivan put his hand up to his heart, staggered and then fell unconscious to the sidewalk. He was taken to Dr. Sherwood's office over Buck & Rayner's drug store, where despite all the doctor could do Sullivan remained in an unconscious state until 7 o'clock this morning.

At that hour Sullivan had so far recovered that he could walk without assistance and was removed to his home, No. 421 North Curtis street. The doctor now entertains hopes of his complete recovery.

The blow which came so near resulting fatally was given on the heart and, the doctor said, caused a lesion in one of the valves, probably the left ventricle. The last bout of the boxing contest was a clean knockout.

Sullivan is an amateur boxer, while Crane is an old hand at the business, being master of ceremonies at Harry Gilmore's arena. Crane was able to hit Sullivan when and where he pleased and played a perfect tattoo of blows over the unfortunate man's heart. At the end of a minute, Sullivan fell insensible in the ring and it took two minutes of hard work to revive him.

THEIR GOOD IDEA.

The Copeland Physicians' Treatment Free to Patients on Their First Visit.

THEIR REASONS GIVEN.

Don't Regard It Good Equity for the Sick to Pay Medical Fees Before Knowing Something of the Services to be Rendered.

The Copeland system of disease treatment, being based on principles of advanced and enlightened pathology, effects cures much more rapidly and certainly than other and less thoroughly scientific methods. Still the cost is less than quarter the usual expense. Instead of the customary rate of $25 a month for a long course of treatment, the charge is $5 a month for a short course of treatment, including all medicines, the speedier curative efficiency of the system being shown by the testimony of all who have ever tried it.

There are physicians, and fairly competent physicians, too—not the illiterate riff-raff and ruff-skuff of the profession, but many regular graduates—who charge high fees for moral effect, on the principle that many sick folks feel that the bigger the fee the greater the doctor, just as many persons would think that drinking water at a dollar a bucket must be purer than see raised right out of the clouds. It is one of the old and bad tricks of trade, represented by the lower order of merchants.

Regarding "trial treatments free," as given by the Copeland specialists, the idea is an adaptation of a common business equity, a custom 10,000 years old.

The Copeland physicians maintain that the same equity should hold in medical practice. The chronic sufferer usually pays a specialist a high fee in advance, in total blindness as to the quality of the services he is to receive. He may be getting an intelligent diagnosis and intelligent treatment. He may be getting an erroneous diagnosis and wrong treatment. He can't tell. He must experiment at his own expense.

The Copeland physicians hold that the specialists themselves should start the expense of demonstrating the excellence of their own methods, and they carry the good precept into practice. To all who apply in person they give upon their first visit all the benefits of an expert diagnosis, full advice and a careful treatment, free of any charge whatever.

A remarkable case of hearing restored is that of Mr. Charles Pickett, who lives at 121 West Fifth street. At an interview Mr. Pickett said:

"About two years ago my hearing began to fail. I was unable to hear a word of what was said to me, and I was obliged to leave my home and go to the city of Duluth, where I was treated by the Copeland physicians and was cured."

In nothing, perhaps, is the advance of the healing art more manifest than in the successful treatment of distressing cutaneous diseases. Psoriasis, eczema, acne, pimples, blackheads and other skin affections now yield readily to improved methods. Cases of long standing, which have baffled the efforts of others, are especially invited.

SKIN DISEASES.

Successful Mail Treatment.

If you live too far away to visit the doctors in person, write to them for a symptom blank and they will diagnose your case. Their treatment by mail is very successful.

A Trial Free.

To chronic sufferers from any curable disease, the Copeland physicians offer a trial treatment free. All who apply in person will be examined, advised and treated, on first visit, without charge.

$5 PER MONTH.

All patients and all diseases treated until cured at the uniform rate of $5 a month. Medicines included.

MYSTERIES!

The Nervous System the Seat of Life and Mind. Recent Wonderful Discoveries.

No mystery has ever compared with that of human life. It has been the leading subject of professional research and study in all ages. But notwithstanding this fact it is not generally known that the seat of life is located in the upper part of the brain, and so sensitive a nerve center, will cause instant death if it is touched.

Recent discoveries have demonstrated that all the organs of the body are under the control of the nerve centers located in or near the base of the brain, and that when these are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve force are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralyzed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centers will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force.

Two-thirds of chronic diseases are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centers, and the base of the brain, not from a derangement primarily originating in the organs themselves. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organs rather than the nerve centers which are the cause of the trouble.

Dr. F. C. Drenning, the celebrated specialist, has profoundly studied this subject for over 20 years, and has made many important discoveries in connection with it, chief among them being the fact that the nerve centers are the seat of life, and that the ordinary methods of treatment are wrong, and that the only method of treatment is the one which Dr. F. C. Drenning has discovered.

Mass, dizziness, confusion, pressure, blues, mania, melancholy, insanity, epilepsy, nervous dance, etc., are nervous diseases, no matter how caused. The wonderful success of Dr. F. C. Drenning's Nervine is due to the fact that it is based on the foregoing principles.

What the People Expect.

The people expect the new common council will practice economy. The first step should be to reduce salaries to the lowest possible figure. The next step should be to defeat every movement which would result in increasing the debt of the city and its fixed annual charges. Mayor Lewis and the aldermen who were elected stood upon a platform,
the chief plank of which was economy and retrenchment. They were by that platform, and the people confidently expect that they will carry out its pledges.

The Herald is satisfied that Mayor Lewis will not be found recalcitrant to the trust that has been reposed in him with reference to this important matter. He has stated, and his actions since election prove his sincerity, that he believes in the strictest economy and in cutting down salaries and other running expenses of the city to the lowest point.
He is using all his influence with the board of aldermen to accomplish that result, and it is the confident belief of the public that the aldermen will heartily second his efforts to put the finances of the city in good shape and to maintain Duluth's credit in the money markets of the world.

The city has very little money in its treasury today. It is issuing city orders bearing 7 per cent, a ruinous proceeding
if long continued. The statistics regarding the city's bonded and floating debt,
given in the messages of the retiring
mayor and the incoming mayor, present
a state of affairs that demands the earnest consideration of every alderman. It is impossible that the policy pursued in the past years can be continued without serious results.

Retrenchment is therefore necessary,
and the Herald trusts that the council will show that it proposes to be true to its pledges by taking steps at its meeting on Monday to reduce every salary to the very lowest point possible. This has been the procedure with all private business firms during the past few months, necessitated by the financial and commercial depression that prevails
throughout the country. The city's business should be conducted on similar principles to those which govern private business.

The people look to the aldermen to redeem the pledges made in the platform upon which they were elected. The feature of that platform was the reduction of the city's running expenses and the continued practice of strict economy.

Impracticable and Visionary.
Representative Keifer was before the rivers and harbors committee yesterday arguing in favor of a canal connecting Lake Superior with the Mississippi river.
In this connection the statement is made that "a corporation of Duluth capitalists has been formed for the purpose of carrying out the work if the project meets with favor at Washington. It is proposed by this plan to utilize the small streams at the source of the Mississippi
as connecting links in a canal joining the gulf of St. Lawrence with the Mississippi."

This statement makes the whole scheme wildly improbable and absurd.
The idea of constructing a canal from Lake Superior to the "small streams at the source of the Mississippi" is a dream that will never be realized, because it is impracticable. There is an elevation of 600 feet that would have to be overcome to reach the lake. Anyone who knows anything about canals will admit that the cost of locking freight over such an elevation would be very great. The Mississippi is not navigable from its source to St. Paul and Minneapolis.
There are numerous rapids in the river,
and the expense of overcoming these impediments to navigation would be extremely heavy. There are no capitalists foolish enough to enter upon such a crazy undertaking—certainly none in Duluth, as a Washington dispatch asserts.

The actual cost of transporting freight from Lake Superior to St. Paul through such a canal, even if it were constructed, would be greater, owing to the expensive lockages, than the existing rail rates from Duluth to St. Paul.

No Profit for Anyone.

R. C. Burdick, state railroad commissioner for North Dakota, has addressed to the Minneapolis Journal an interesting communication, which seeks to prove to the farmers that they are not greater losers than are the exporters, or middlemen, by the great decline in the price of wheat, and that it is absolutely impossible that a "wheat combine" can exist owing to the fact that raising and exporting wheat this year has been a losing business. Mr. Burdick has demonstrated in this article the following three things:

First—It does not and will not pay, as long as present conditions exist, to raise wheat, and particularly hard wheat, for a foreign market. This is proven by the fact that during this whole crop year
prices at home (Minneapolis and Duluth) have been and are now, far above an export basis, and it follows that the surplus over and above what is required for home consumption, of hard wheat
must be sold at a loss.

Second—While the farmer has lost money this year in raising wheat, it is also apparent that the exporter, or middleman, has lost too. But this difference exists: The farmer assumes that every man's hand is in his pocket, and that every one makes money upon his products and he alone is the loser, and attributes his ill fortune to everyone and everything but the right one; the other says nothing, but keeps at it hoping for a lucky turn of the card
that will recoup him for his former loss.

Third—The absolute impossibility, and improbability, of the existence of what is generally known as a wheat ring or "combine," as by a concurrent chain of circumstances, the chief of which is over-production, raising or exporting wheat
this year on the Western hemisphere has been a losing business all around.

The business men of Fargo are taking an interest in the scheme to extend the Duluth & Winnipeg to that city and thence northwest to Carrington on the Soo road. It is claimed that this road would drain the best part of the Red River wheat country and secure a local carrying trade on the day of its completion. A direct road from Duluth to Fargo would be a benefit to this city.

Ex-Governor Royal, of the Canadian Northwest territory, has issued a pamphlet urging the separation of Canada from the British empire. Mr. Royal is a French-Canadian who has always been a Conservative in politics, but his individual influence is rather limited. The fact, however, that such a staunch Tory advocates independence is significant.

There are some people who are now predicting that navigation will open during the first week in April. The mild weather so far this month certainly gives encouragement to such an idea. But March is a treacherous month, and there may be a radical difference in the temperature next week.

The movement to have Hon. George L.
Becker, of the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission, appointed a member of the interstate commerce commission should meet with success. There is no man in the country who is better equipped for this position.

Many people from all parts of the country are being attracted by the gold discoveries in the Rainy lake region, and Duluth is getting considerable benefit from their presence, while en route to the north. There is likely to be a phrenomenal rush in the early summer.

David B. Hill is quoted as saying that he "believes that the pendulum of public sentiment will swing back to the protection side in 1896 and proposes to be the leader in that direction." The pendulum may swing back for protection but not for David B. Hill.

The Chicago Times thus advises its home readers: "About this time begin to boil your lake water." It is good advice for the residents of any city on the great lakes.

"Boss" McKane claims his conviction was due to the newspapers. This is one good thing that must be set down to the newspapers' credit.

Let us hope that "greater New York"
will result in the completion of the Grant monument in the present decade.

New York fire insurance companies
paid $21,000,000 in losses last year.
These are large figures.

Every settler in the Rainy lake district will benefit Duluth.

Men to be Chosen for Office.
Madison Journal: No personal claims should be considered. No man has any claims upon an office when another man
is stronger or better equipped for it.
Fitness and availability should be the only tests.

Work is Necessary.
Taylor's Falls Journal: Senator Washburn is in Minnesota looking after his re-election. A little missionary work will do him much good in the coming contest.

The Big Combination.

Albert Lea Standard: Knute Nelson
for governor, D. M. Clough for lieutenant governor, Knute Nelson for United States
senator, displacing Mr. Washburn, D. M.
Clough then to be governor and W. R.
Merriam for United States senator, to succeed Senator Davis. This is the big Republican combination of the year, and it cannot be denied, it is a mighty strong one. It can probably command the backing of all the official patronage of the state government, of the lumber barons, the railroad moguls and the other combines, and if it does not make the furly and furnish most of the music it will be from lack of the wherewith.

Betting is Even.

St. Paul News: Democratic camp fires are burning brightly all along the line. Chicago Dispatch: Bets are just about even as to whether this means delirium
tremens or will be the wisps.

Reforms Come Slowly.

Chicago Inter-Ocean: An act of justice to the newspaper publishers of New York state is being done by legislature in so amending the present state law on libel that damages shall not be awarded unless actual malice is shown.
There should be such a law in every state.

Might Use Harsh Words.

The Mesaba Range: The report that the Merritts are about to bring legal proceedings against Mr. Rockefeller would indicate that the gentleman did
a little "squeezing" and "freezing out"
in connection with his Consolidated deal.
If he wasn't such a good Baptist and such a rich man his deals on the Mesaba
would probably be characterized in terms
more harsh than those quoted.

Bill Merriam Wants It.

Anoka Union: Governor Nelson wants to be United States senator, or rather Bill Merriam wants him to, so that his turn may come next.

Will Not Ask Permission.

St. Cloud Journal Press: If the Republican voters decide to instruct the delegates to the state convention to nominate a candidate for United States senator, Washington, Governor Nelson, the state central committee or any one else,
will not ask permission.

Why Not Give Knute a Chance?

Anoka Union: Governor Nelson is reported to have said that he will not consider a candidate for United States senator, Washington, Governor Nelson, the Republican state convention. Perhaps it would be well not to allow Knute to have his say.

Spirit Lake and Vicinity.

J. D. Caddy, from Onota, was visiting friends at Spirit Lake last Sunday.
Mr. John Robinson, of the Spirit Lake hotel, was surprised on March 5, it being the anniversary of her birthday. About 8 o'clock the neighbors came in all together, each bearing parcels and gifts, and then a good game of cards
and they did with games, cards,
dancing, etc.

Ernest Stephenson is slowly recovering.

Misses Kittie and Alice Lloyd have returned to their home in Duluth. They will be missed by the young folks here.

Hereafter the dancing class will meet punctually at 8 o'clock and close at 10
on each Wednesday night.

Mr. York made a short visit to the works, stating that it would be two months before more work would commence at the plant.

The literary society will meet at the residence of Denis Sullivan tonight. Mr.
Brown, editor of the Evening Herald, will be present. Everybody and their children are welcome.

"The Marie Burroughs Art Portfolio of Stage Celebrities" is a high-toned collection, and a single picture in it is offered for sale at a low price. It includes all the most famous people of the stage. Its execution is most artistic,
and it is a marvel of elegance and merit.
The price is trifling—three coupons and two cents at the Evening Herald office, or three coupons and 12 cents if ordered by mail.

Notice of religious services will hereafter be found in this column. They will kindly forward notices of religious services to the editorial office, not later than Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

THE WORLD OF LABOR

The Condition of Trade in the Various Unions Reported to the Duluth Trades Assembly.

The Assembly Decided to Adopt the Working Card of the Central Organization of Chicago.

Next Regular Meeting Has Been Postponed a Week Owing to the Bethel Anniversary Exercises.

At the regular meeting of the Federal Trades assembly held last evening, the credentials of Fred Foss, delegate from the North Star (Scandinavian) Typographical union were accepted. Mr. Collinge, president of the Superior Trades and Labor assembly, being given the floor, gave a concise statement of the dispute between the printers and the daily papers of his city. The condition of trade in the various unions was reported as follows:

Butchers, all working except one; carpenters, very few working; cigarmakers, no improvement; cooper, still resting, work expected Monday as the mills are starting up. The delegates were requested to purchase flour by the barrel; electrical workers, work very dull at present; longshoremen, all right; Musicians' Protective association, not much doing; steamfitters, work dull, only one member of the union at work; stonecutters, business dull; street car employees, business getting better; tailors, very poor; tinners, a few working; painters, all working; printers, all working; iron or trimmers, season not yet opened.

On March 23 an entertainment will be given at the Bethel to celebrate the establishment of that institution. The members of the assembly and local unions will give a program. In about two weeks a lecture is also expected from Rev. J. M. Thoburn.

Gustaf Olson's confirmation as general organizer was received from the American Federation of Labor. The resignation of J. H. Moore as statistician was received. The assembly also adopted the working card of the central organization of Chicago.

A communication was read from Congressman M. R. Baldwin in which he stated that the act for better protection of American laborers should receive his careful attention. He said that he would on account of the Bethel anniversary exercises to be held March 23, the regular meeting falling on that date will be postponed until March 30.

LABOR LOCALS.

What Is Going on in Industrial Circles Everywhere.

Ohio bakers' state branch organized four locals during the past year.

Miners of Washington, Ohio, successfully operate a co-operative store.

The Twentieth Century, a reform journal of New York, is attempting to bring the various co-operative societies together and form one grand federation.

Kansas Populists have adopted a novel campaign idea. Theoretical conference are to be organized and labor plays will be rendered for the edification of the public.

Mrs. Florence Kelly addressed the Baptist ministers of Chicago recently on the sweat shop question, and the support of clergymen was promised to those fighting the sweat shop.

Agents of the Topolobampo colony, in Mexico, are working up emigration movements in Pittsburgh and other cities for the colony, which can easily support 20,000 people.

The sentiment in favor of abolishing the English house of lords, or at least restricting its powers, is increasing in proportion. The proposition will most likely be an issue at the next election in England.

Chicago city officials are to have their wages reduced.

Hoston Labor Leader says the newspaper branch of the typographical union of that city rejected the tenth plank in A. F. of L. platform and inserted a demand for free land and free money.

The American Federation of Labor is growing rapidly in the West. At a recent meeting in Great Falls, Minn., more than 300 persons were present to form an organization under the A. F. of L.

The General Electric company will start up its factory at Lynn, Mass., on full time, employing 1500 hands.

General Master Workman Sovereign says that thus far the Federation of Labor, the Knights of Labor, the American Railway union and the Farmers' Alliance have selected delegates to attend the conference to bring about a better understanding among the organized labor forces. The old railway brotherhoods have not yet selected their representatives, nor has the time for the conference been agreed upon.

The American Railway union has 150 locals, and is growing rapidly in the West.

Pennsylvania iron workers are holding meetings to discuss matters of organization.

In Germany forty-one trades unions have their official trade journals, which have been issued at a total cost of $60,000. The total amount of traveling benefits paid out by thirty-three unions amounted to $60,000, and from $2 to $2.75 per capita has been paid out for members out of work.

The Poor Man's party is the name of a new political organization that has been launched and is spreading through Okaw and Rose counties, Illinois.

Missionaries are organizing a co-operative colony. Lots of land and money are being offered. Mrs. Frances F. Allen, Station A, North Springfield, Mo., is the person to correspond with on the subject.

The Moles Glass works, at Cicero, Ind., employing 400 men, was formally started a few days ago.

The Women's Alliance of Chicago thanked Mayor Hopkins for instructing the police not to make any more wholesale arrests of disreputable women, on the ground that such arrests were made for the purpose of securing fees for court officers and professional cormorants.

After several years of struggle and contention between organizations of bakers in Washington, D. C., a truce has been established. In order to make the peace permanent, the Bakers' International union will be asked to abolish the rule prohibiting the members from joining other trade organizations of journeymen bakers.

Senator Allen, of Nebraska, has introduced a bill in congress against interfering with the rights of employees when engaged in trade disputes. The bill is of considerable importance to the railroad organizations in particular, and to organized labor in general.

Bishop Potter, of New York, has declared in favor of the bill in the New York legislature to abolish the saloon employment agencies which are in vogue in the baking trade.

Secretary Herbert has refused the request of the Boston Central Labor union to open the Charleston shipyards. He claims that the expense involved would be too great.

A PARTY FOR LABOR. Joseph R. Buchanan Writes About Workingmen in Politics.

The air is full of labor parties and rumors of labor parties. It seems to be generally conceded that the workingmen are "going into politics" for the purpose of securing the justice they have been unable to obtain through the old parties.

This means, of course, that the intention is to try a workingman's party. Ever since there has been a "labor movement" in this country there have been thinking men who asserted that only through political action could labor secure and hold its rights; that under our system legislation is the all powerful engine; that while the trades union could and does offer protection to those within its folds up to a certain point those who controlled the legislative machinery had trades unionists as well as all others at their mercy when they chose to exercise their power. Labor organizations have pretty generally recognized this truth during recent years, and concerted efforts to influence the lawmaking bodies have been the consequence. But it is pretty generally understood now that such legislation as labor has been able to secure for itself (always asked for and given as a special favor) has been only palliative and of a temporizing character.

The new school of trades unionism demands more than the sops of loose legislation and convict labor. These laws are all right, when honestly administered, so far as they go, but they are simply the feeble efforts of quacks who think to draw the patient's attention from his deep rooted malady by bathing his legs with a cooling lotion. And that sort of treatment isn't any longer satisfying. Thinkers and leaders in the ranks of labor have become convinced that they can secure nothing better than sops from the politicians who wear the collars of plutocracy, and that the little advantages already secured are slowly slipping through their fingers; hence the determination to try a new deal. The action of the American Federation of Labor in submitting to the unions affiliated in it a programme of political planks has occasioned a great deal of activity in several of the leading industrial centers of the country. While it is not expected that all the unions connected with the federation will agree to the whole of the very radical platform submitted by the Chicago convention, it is a sure thing that most of its planks will meet with general approval. And the midst of these would have been declared too "revolutionary" for a trades union 10 years ago.

With that platform adopted, after it has been amended to please the unions, the next step is the practical movement to secure its enactment into laws. And there we strike the critical point in the new departure. I fear that the disposition of the leaders in the movement is to stand out for "a new party from the ground up," a workingman's party pure and simple. I say I fear that such will be the case, because I am satisfied that such is not the proper course to pursue. I do not belong to that class who say, "We have parties enough, and there is no room for any more," just because there are three or four parties, for there cannot be parties enough so long as the principles of a considerable number of citizens are not represented. If, however, there is already a party, thoroughly organized and equipped, which stands for the rights of the producers, then, so far as the workingmen are concerned, there is no need for a new party.

To all intents and purposes there is such a political party. I refer to the People's Party. I know there are many men active in the labor movement who have become so narrowly minded in their judgment of things political that they denounce wholesale all political parties and demand that labor shall "wash its hands of the whole lot" and organize by itself and for itself. These men are so blinded by prejudice that they cannot or will not see that the Populist party is as completely a workingman's party as is possible in this country. Its platform embodies the whole idea of the labor movement. Its leaders and active workers have nearly all been lifelong champions of the cause of the producers. Its enemies are the enemies of the wage-workers. I admit that some of the demands which a labor union party would include in its platform are not set out in detail in the Populist platform, but the principle upon which every one of those demands must rest underlies the whole Populist movement.

If, instead of expending the effort necessary to the organization of a party, the trades unionists who are favorable to the programme of the American Federation of Labor will identify themselves with the People's Party and take an active part in its conventions and campaigns, platform and candidates satisfactory to the new trades unionism will be the result. And there is more than an even chance of accomplishing something in this way. If the farming and wage-working classes will join hands, they can control every lawmaking power of any consequence in this country. Until these two do join hands the Shylocks and plutocrats will continue to rule the roost. If all the workmen (as the word is generally understood) outside of agricultural pursuits voted solidly, they could not control the national government, and the most sanguine does not hope for solidarity. But if those who are intelligent enough and manly enough to vote for the interests of their class will throw their strength to the People's Party it will win in 1896.

Take, for example, the principle of direct legislation which has been so generally recognized by the organized labor movement. This principle was recognized by the Omaha convention of the People's Party, and if the unionists will accept the invitation of the party and take an active part in its work direct legislation can be made one of the leading issues of the next national campaign. In fact, I am satisfied that with a party newly made out of the trades unions no better programme in the interests of wage-workers could be adopted than that now, and will be offered under proper influence by the Populists. Events of the past 12 months, taken in connection with the conduct and utterances of Populist members of congress and leaders who are not in office, it seems to me, should show clearly the way the laborer should go.

If any man should be so bound up in his "old party" or blinded by his desire to make a new one as to question the honesty of my motives in writing as I have on this subject, I have this to say to him: I have no axe to grind, save that with which to cut the cords that bind the wage slave. I am not a politician in the commonly accepted meaning of that term, but I am determined to speak my mind where I believe the workingmen are concerned. I will not admit that any one is a better union man than I am, and the People's Party is good enough for me. If the labor movement is not really for political action, then there is nothing to be said. If it is to take on a political phase, then I hope to see it guided by good judgment. This is my excuse for writing about politics.

JOS. R. BUCHANAN.

No Work For Work's Sake. Of old it was said, "If any would not work, neither should he eat." Men able to work, and willing to work, who could not find work, were not contented. Nature is the same; the constitution of man has not changed. How, then, is it that we now hear, "He who cannot find work shall be fed by charity?" Those who say this do not say, "He who does not want to work shall be fed by charity."

These pseudo philanthropists know the penalty of such an attempt to boldly annul the natural law that by his toil man shall be fed. By skipping the dole to the unemployed, and by testing his worth by the tests and inquiries and degrading conditions of organized charity, they try to draw the line between those who cannot find work and those who do not want to work. The line is not to be drawn, for no such clear line exists.

Organize charity as we may, men who do not want to find work are fed, and men willing to work are converted into men unwilling to work. For willingness to work depends on what can be had by work and what can be had without work, and the personal and social endowments of the relation. Work is in itself a pleasure and a hope. No human being ever worked for the sake of working. I write this article that it may be published in The North American Review, and that I may get the pay for it and commend my thought to others. But the work of writing it is as irksome to me as sowing seed.

So with all work. In a ruler stage men looked upon the necessity of work as a curse of an offended Creator. We who may now see that marvelous advances it has led and recognize in it the motor of all human progress may behold in it not a curse, but a blessing. But its irksomeness is not a life sentence. It is a curse as it is at work as our desires and hopes, our wants and our pride. Kill hope and lessen desire by crucifying the feeling of personal independence and accustoming your man to a life sustained by gifts, and you will make of the most industrious a tramp, for the law of our being is that we seek the gratification of our desires with the least exertion.—Henry George in North American Review.

Society Dissolved.

That the standard of living among the very poor is not what it should be no one will deny. As the social maladjustments become greater it becomes more difficult every day for the poor to maintain a decent standard. Use the concentration of capital, brought about by granting special privileges to individuals, be counteracted, the standard of living of the masses must fall still further, and in its train the civilization of the world.

THE CHILDREN'S CRY.

Every Good and Noble Instinct Cries Out For the Abolition of Child Labor.

The trades unionists complain to the public that nearly every machine is constructed with a view of lessening the number of adults employed and increasing the number of juveniles. "Labor," represented by the Knights of Labor and the Federation of Labor, demands that the toll of children be prohibited once and forever and the rising generation of the nation be given leisure and school life.

There are fabulous conditions here—of immigration, of lax mixture, of wonderful productiveness in agriculture and minerals, of inventions—conditions never before met and overcome. We have many a Scylla and Charybdis—the unloving and uncaring father, the overworked and self-sacrificing mother, the sick or lazy parent, the healthy and idle child, the educated American, with years of industry and study behind him, the uneducated foreigner, with only labor and oppression in the history of his ancestors. How may the course be safely steered?

Factory life stunts the whole development of children. Ambition is killed, even if the physical vigor is not destroyed. There are foul companions, if not foul air. The imaginative and inventive faculties, all powers that lift mankind, are dwarfed. Be it remembered that these crimes against the children of the working class are committed by the exploiting class, with no extenuating circumstances, for while they coin gold out of the lifeblood of toiling children, a million adults unemployed seek in vain for work.

The trades unions, the establishment of the bureau of labor statistics, women's unions, all have helped efficiently in arousing and interesting the people in this question. Now about one-third of our states have laws directly upon child labor. Nearly all of these have inspectors, who enforce observance of the law. Recently women inspectors have proved to be the state most lax in the matter.

From England we may learn the force of persistent agitation; from France, to provide schools for the training in trades and agriculture; from our own past practice, to prevent neglect, sins of omission and sins of commission, will bring retribution and cost the blood of atonement.

Helen Campbell tells us that "it is with the women, who make the factory weevil, that the battle must be fought." It is women, who, more and more, are seeking to discover what methods may best alter certain social tendencies and evils. The efficient persistency of women already has secured passage of laws against child labor, and the public mind is being educated to the fact that child labor is abolished, now and forever, would at least open eyes and pave the way for the legislation that is sure to come in days when we have grown men and realize the meaning of defrauded and outraged childhood. With every child in school, tenement house labor becomes impossible, and women inspectors are a necessity. If this method is to begin.

Prevent Sunday work and overtime work. By legislation, meanwhile, protect against peril to life, danger from unguarded machinery and from explosion and fire, from vile air and from poisonous fumes.

Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" is interpreted as teaching the relation of man to property, or to money, "the god of the world, the god of slaves, the god of all external things." Shylock is not a Jew only, but the picture of what greed for money makes of any man.

THE SAGE TO LECTURE

Hon. Ignatius Donnelly, of Nininger, Will Speak at the Temple on Thursday Evening Next.

"The A. P. A. and the School Question" Will be the Subject of His Discussion.

Marie Tempest, Who Comes to the Lyceum This Month, Winning Great Success in Chicago.

Thursday evening next Ignatius Donnelly, the sage of Nininger, and a man who is known from one end of Minnesota to the other, will lecture at the Temple opera house on "The A. P. A. and the School Question." That the house will be crowded goes without saying. Naturally everybody is greatly interested to know what the famous sage will have to say on this subject. He is said to be primed for the occasion and a roaring address is expected. There still seems to be some doubt as to how the orator will treat the question, though it is generally believed that he will adopt the patriotic side.

Donnelly's reputation as a lecturer, scholar and thinker is so firmly established that it is certain, no matter which side he takes, that he will deliver an address full of wisdom and logic, and his batteries of sarcasm and wit will be directed at one phase or the other of the question. He delivers this lecture for the first time in St. Paul on Wednesday evening, and in Minneapolis on Thursday evening, and the Twin City papers announce that it "will be a ripper." In Minneapolis especially there is great interest in his lecture as he is 8000 members of the A. P. A. in that city.

Marie Tempest's Success.

Marie Tempest, who comes to the Lyceum this month in "The Fencing Master," is renewing her success in Chicago. The latter Ocean says:

"Miss Marie Tempest is naturally the magnetic spark of the performance. She invests the role of Francesca with a delicacy, a lightness and a fascinating grace that is captivating. The delightful swag of the fencer and the winsome coquetry of the masquerading maiden are carried with a fine balance and charm of contrast that proclaim her a mistress in her art, and her personal conquest was complete as usual."

Modjeska's Farewell.

The Chicago Times of Wednesday said: "It was decided yesterday by Modjeska and her manager that her present tour in America will be her last. At the close of the season in May it is Modjeska's intention to go to Europe, and she will not return until the season of 1895-6. The intervening year she will spend to a certain extent in the great cities of the European continent, appearing at Cracow, Vienna, Berlin, and other capitals in the chief plays in her repertoire. She will return to America for a farewell tour in 1895, that is a year from next fall. The week, therefore, will offer the last opportunities to see this great actress for practically two years."

HENRY MILLER'S WORK.

A New York Favorite Who Has Played Many Parts.

The New York women are declaring that Henry Miller looks handsomer than ever in the white wig of the ex-romantic Drabazon in "Sowing the Wind." Thousands see him every week at the Empire theater, of whose stock company he is the leading man, and under the most enthusiastic compliments about his good looks in the new part. If Mr. Miller could hear all that is said in this regard, he would blush so hard that his face would look like an oval bit of sunset framed in a snowstorm. There was a time when

HENRY MILLER.

It seemed quite probable that he would carry off the palm of manly pulchritude from all the metropolitan actors who stirred the hearts of the fair sex.

All over the country women have admired and envied his comeliness. This is not mere empty flattery of the gentleman. The remarks are called out by the compliments that the women patrons of the Empire pay him. It is history, too, for Clio has as much to do with recording the conquests of handsome men of the stage, though in a minor way, of course, as she has to do with using up her styles and tablets in the interest of statesmen, warriors and such. Mr. Miller's features are delicate, but clear and perfect. His earnest eyes and admirable are that always wears a gentle grace make him most interesting to look upon. "White," an enthusiastic chronicler wrote, "as the Earl of Leicester he wore lovely white silk tights, he was indeed a thing of beauty. And to think he has gone back to long trousers!"

But Mr. Miller will not like all this. He prefers to have his acting and not his personal appearance discussed in print. He is not one of the men who tell newspaper writers of the baskets of "marsh" letters they receive and consign to the flames every day. His conquests are not in that line, nor does he desire them to be. Mr. Miller is a very nice, agreeable, soft voiced and gentle mannered man, who off the stage presents none of the appearance of the histrion. He does not parade Broadway or pose in the cafes, and at Long Branch, where he spent last summer, he was the quietest and least obtrusive of the guests. He has a very pretty home in this city, where he spends most of his time with his wife, formerly Bijou Heron, and a boy as handsome and interesting as his father.

Ever since Henry Miller appeared in New York at Daly's theater in 1882 as Count de Latour in Sardou's "Odette," and later the same year as the Doctor in "The Passing Bell," the metropolis has known him as a favorite and successful actor. He has won his way by pure merit as well as agreeable personality. His gentleness and suave art, the charming modulations of his voice, which is certainly as soft and musical as any wide ranged as any on the stage, and his magnetic manner made him a noteworthy figure in every production in which he had a part. He was liked from the first. His triumphs came quickly, and that he has "played many parts in 145 times" and thus manifested the versatility of his histrionism is evident from the list of the principal characters alone in which he has been seen in this city.

In 1883-4 at the Madison Square theater he appeared as Herbert in "Young Mr. Winthrop." At the same theater in 1883 he had the leading role in "Auntie." The following year at the Star theater he played Sir Burleigh Woodstock in Boucicault's "The Jilt." In 1887 at the Star he had the heroic soldier role of Colonel Prescott in "Hell by the Enemy." He was at the Lyceum theater for two seasons, beginning with 1887, during which time he was seen as Robert Grey in "The Wife," Clement Hale in "Sweet Lavender" and Rodolph in "The Marquise." In 1889 he was engaged by Charles Frohman to create the role of Colonel Kestrel West in "Slewfoot."

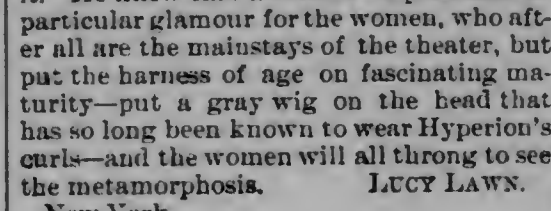

The following season, still under Charles Frohman's management, as he has been almost without interruption from September, 1888, he created Alfred Hastings in "All the Comforts of Home." In 1891 he had the leading role in "Betrothed" at the Garden theater and the title role in "The Merchant" at the Madison Square. Last season he achieved notable success as Frederic le Maître and Oscar O'Flaherty White in "The Post and Puppies." This season at the Empire theater he has done the best work of his brilliant career. His Mr. Owen in "Liberty Hall" was a clever and original representation of a gentlemanly lover of the Lord Burleigh type. His Tom Morris in "The Conjuror's Wife" was an excellent, manly type of the hard pressed modern student who has a heart and an appetite, but has honor that holds both in check. His Mr. Branson in the present tremendous Empire theater success, "Sowing the Wind," in which, though still an acknowledged leading juvenile man and simulator of young romantic heroes, he appears in the role of a gaudy but buoyant hearted and handsome featured gentleman of 30, is a masterpiece of acting and has been enthusiastically declared such by critics and public alike.

It was a stroke of genius on Manager Charles Frohman's part to select a handsome young fellow like Henry Miller to play old Drabazon. He knew why he did it. He knew that a man of 30 possesses no particular glamour for the women, who after all are the mainstay of the theater, but that the harness of age on fascinating maturity—put a gray wig on the head that has so long been known to wear Hyperion's curls—and the women will all throng to see the metamorphosis.

BEN HOWARD'S YOUTH

Capt. Hibbard Grows Reminiscent and Tells of Some Humorous Capers When a Boy.

How Ben Years Ago Led and Won a Strike for Shorter Hours and More Pay.

Tom Bardon's Services as Ambassador Indignantly and Forcibly Rejected by the Resolute Young Man.

Capt. J. J. Hibbard had just finished an extemporaneous argument in favor of city ownership of a water works plant. He believes in doing some things if it does take money and taxes and bonds and all that, and building a water main that will give Duluth a better and purer water supply is a topic that the sturdy old captain discusses at every turn in the road. Somewhat exhausted mentally and physically by his disputations, he reached into a capacious pocket and pulled out an ancient Missouri meerschaum pipe. He knocked out the ashes and reaching into another pocket, he exhumed a packet of his favorite "gravel train" tobacco. He filled his pipe, touched a lighted match to it, puffed a few clouds of the villainous smoke and settled back into a position that indicated talkativeness.

"I see," began the old pioneer, "that Ben Howard was chosen president of the new council. He was a pretty fellow, before he knew what a city council was. He was only a few years old when his father left the East and settled at the head of the lakes over at old Superior. He had got there proclivities in those days as well as now."

"Old Senator Howard was not only a hustler, but he was a man who believed in a maximum of work and a minimum of play for his boys. He ran an old fashioned sawmill in those days and as I frequently was called upon to make repairs, I saw a good deal of Ben. In those days a good winch man ran clear to the end of a board, but would leave two or three inches uncut. When they were split apart, a rough and raised surface would be left. This old mill turned out about 5000 feet a day and not only was Ben required to pile that amount of lumber, but also to 'stab shot' the boards, that is, take an adze and smooth off the rough ends of boards where split apart."

"It was not only more than should have been required of a boy only 12 years old, but it was more than he could do. One day while carrying on some repair work in the mill I heard Ben yell out to his father:

"'I can't do all this work.'"

"'You've got to do it,' replied the old senator."

"'I won't,' retorted Ben."

"This was rebellion, pure and simple. The senator quickly decided to attempt coercion. He started to climb onto the lumber pile at one end. Ben promptly climbed down at the other. When 'stabs' were rolled up to the top of the pile, there he was safe, for his father was not nimble enough for a chase over the rolling, shifting timber. But he had to have Ben's help on the lumber pile and threats and coaxing failed to get him to move. At last the old gentleman saw that a treaty of peace would be necessary. 'Well Ben,' he commenced, 'what do you want? What'll satisfy you?'

"Ben made his demands and they were for shorter hours, less work and more play. They seemed excessive to the old gentleman, but Ben had a rule and no lumber could be measured until that was brought to land. They dickered for fully three quarters of an hour and nearly split myself laughing to hear them. At last a compromise was made, a scale more favorable to the president of the Duluth city council was agreed upon, the old saw began to move and all went along in apple pie order."

"In those days Lars Lenrott was not only the leading blacksmith over there but he was a great friend to young Ben Howard. When the war clouds rose on the horizon of the Howard family, Ben would retreat to his friend's house, and there plan a campaign which would take him out of the war for two years after Ben's treaty of peace made on the saw logs in the boom, he again got into his head that too much labor was required of him and that he would leave home and ship on a small vessel, the captain of which was a friend of his. He accordingly packed up a few belongings and made a break. As usual he went to Lenrott's to stay all night. The next morning he saw a man in the distance, headed for the smithy."

"There comes Tom Bardon," said Ben to the blacksmith, and I believe that he's coming to take me home."

"Now it was the old senator's custom to always secure Tom Bardon—he's now a rich banker at Ashland—to act as an ambassador between Ben and himself when war was on."

"Here," said the friendly blacksmith, "take this pistol, climb into the loft in the barn and if Bardon attempts to take you down, shoot him right there."

"I'll do it," said the youngster, and I'm sure that he would, too."

"He placed himself in the loft and awaited developments. Bardon had seen the flight to the barn and entering the building, started to climb into the loft. Just as he stuck his head up through the opening in the floor of the loft, Ben lowered his old pistol, stuck it under Bardon's nose and said:

"Tom, I'll give you just two seconds to climb down and get out of there."

"Bardon saw determination in the boy's face and quietly slid down out of that haymow."

"Bardon's father could get the boy home he had to secure Lenrott's services as a mediator, and they ended in success and concessions on both sides."

"Nearly a quarter of a century ago Ben's father had an interest in a lake vessel called the Lottie Bernard, commanded by Capt. Wilson. Ben that season was supercargo. On one occasion when Henry Mayhew, Vose Palmer, myself and several others, started on a voyage for Fort William, Ben distinguished himself by killing the captain's overcoat

Situated in the center of the new gold fields and of the extensive timber district on Rainy Lake, is now attracting the attention of investors and settlers to an extent that is truly marvelous.

It is predicted that before the summer is over, Rainy Lake City will be the most active and prosperous place in the state. Saw mills are now on the ground; stamp mills have been purchased, paid for, and are being shipped; all branches of business are arranging for active operations, for which a large number of lots have been selected and already many buildings are under way.

Best Business Lots, $250.
Choicest Residence Lots, $100.

Don't wait, call in, investigate, as we believe these lots will sell for three times the present prices inside of three or four months, and then prices will be less than one half those of other places that have not one-half the advantages of this new Eldorado of the Northwest.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic for the Week Beginning March 11.

Torrey—Systematic beneficence—why and how much? Mal. iii, 7-12. (Missionary topics.)

One of the advanced lines of Christian Endeavor work marked out for this year by President Clark was an increase in systematic beneficence for the cause of missions. The topic before us is very appropriate for this new line of work, which has been agitated and discussed more or less in every society since the Montreal convention. Let us inquire:

1. What do we mean by systematic beneficence in the cause of missions? It simply means a regular or systematic method of giving to the mission cause.

It opposes the haphazard way in which many give to and all religious causes, just as they may be inclined or disposed at the time of the giving. Systematic giving is God's method of giving. He taught His people of old to give a regular amount to sustain the offices and observances of His house, and one of the encouraging features of Christianity is the fact that there is such a universal return to this regular, divine method of giving.

2. Why should we give systematically to the cause of missions? (1) God commands it. In our topical reference God chides His people for holding the tithes, or regular portion of their possessions which He claimed as His own, and commanded them to bring all the tithes, or tithes, into the storehouse. There is no law in the New Testament containing this system, but there is no doubt but that God demands as much if not more of us than of the people under the old dispensation. (2) God promises to bless systematic givers. He promised to bless the children of Israel, and the promise extends to us. (3) Systematic giving is the only common sense method of giving. Any one can easily see the disastrous effects of giving, as we may say, as the Spirit moves us. One year it may be $10, another $5 and another $1, which entirely discourages all calculations and plans of those having the work in charge.

3. How much should we give systematically to all causes? The Old Testament says one-tenth, the New Testament "in proportion to our ability." But it should not be less than a tenth. Increased advantages and blessings demand increased returns. As we surpass the Jews in blessings received, so we should surpass them in recompenses made.

Sabbath School Endeavor.

Two or three years ago a local Christian Endeavor union existed in Davenport, Ia., and was doing good work.

Pressure was brought upon it, however, by a young people's society which was not a Christian Endeavor society, and it was persuaded to change its name to the Young People's Christian union and to admit to membership all sorts of young people's societies.

Straightway all Christian Endeavor enthusiasm was lost, as has been found to be the case in every instance where organization was a practical failure.

On the 7th day of last November the mistake was rectified. A union was formed strictly along Christian Endeavor lines and is now advancing with great harmony and enthusiasm. This union is planning several forward steps in the line of evangelistic and temperance work.—Iowa Endeavor.

The Sabbath School.

The opening exercises of the Sabbath school belong to the service of the hour and should not be omitted or unreasonably abridged. Time enough should be taken to render them a real and suitable preparation for the work that is to follow. But these exercises not infrequently occupy an altogether disproportionate share of the allotted time, and they are so conducted as to be not altogether in harmony with the principal object of the Sabbath school. The chief end of Sabbath school instruction is the study of the Bible lesson. Every exercise connected with it should not only be in harmony with this idea, but it should conduce to the interest and profit of the work. The end for which the school is assembled should be kept steadily in view. This will give not only due brevity, but appropriateness as well to the opening exercises.—National Presbyterian.

Christian Endeavor Notes.

A practical West Virginia society is reported by the state organ to have organized a four committee recently. In these hard times four committees are even more necessary than flower committees.

The Alameda County union of California, which is to entertain the Endeavorers in 1894, now has a total of 60 young people's and 20 junior societies, with a membership of 2,600 and 1,000 respectively.

The Endeavorers of the Fall River (Mass.) Christian church certainly deserve a place on the Cleveland roll of honor. They have raised for missions during the past year $100.

Three of the members of the First Congregational society of Spokane, Wash., are superintendents of as many missionary Sunday schools in the outskirts of the city.

A second Mothers' Society of Christian Endeavor has been formed in the same city that contains the first—Topeka—this time in the First Congregational church. These societies are reported to be, indeed they are hardly help being, a great help to the junior work.

To advertise the recent rally of the Boston union the enterprising press committee of that union secured space in five issues of 187 papers of that city and vicinity.

Life or Death?

It is of vital importance that it should be understood by persons whose kidneys are in trouble, that this condition of things is finally indicative of a state of the organs where life hangs in the balance. Bright's disease, diabetes, and all the are all diseases of a very obstinate character in their mature stage, and all have a fatal tendency. They often battle the most practiced medical skill, and the most approved remedies of materia medica. But opposed at the outset—that is to say, when the kidneys begin to discharge their functions inactively with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the dangerous tendency is checked. Very useful, also, is this household remedy for those ailments of common occurrence—constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia and nervousness. It is a safeguard against malaria and averts chronic rheumatism.

NOTHING TO RECEIVE

This is the Peculiar Predicament in Which the Receiver of a Street Railway Finds Himself.

J. P. Johnson Petitions the Court for a Release From Operating the Tower & Soudan Railway.

One Car Only Good for Old Iron and the Other Two Are Out of Repair.

There is a dismal prospect ahead for the creditors of the Tower & Soudan Street Railway company, and if they even get a cent they will be in luck. J. P. Johnson, receiver of the road, came before the court today and asked to be released from the duty of operating the railroad. Judge Moer granted the petition and issued an order of that effect.

The petition of the receiver sets forth a dispirited condition of affairs. The road has 3½ miles of road, two miles of which are leased from the Minnesota Iron company and is to be forfeited if it is not paid for in ten days. The entire equipment consists of three old street cars possibly worth $300, two engines worth $1800 and one round house worth $500. One of the street cars, the receiver says, is worthless except for the value of the old iron in it. The other two are so badly out of repair as to be unsaleable for travel. The engines are also out of repair and the roadbed. It will cost $750, the receiver says, to get them all in shape for operation. Upon the entire equipment and franchise, the American Loan and Trust company has a mortgage of $25,000. The road has been operated at a loss heretofore and the receiver sees nothing to be gained by operating the road.

The Court Filings. A satisfaction of the judgment of S. F. Smiley vs. W. G. Bond, has been filed. Other papers filed today were as follows:

Answer of Peyton, Kimball & Barber in case of Northern Hydraulic Press Brick company vs. Honore Michaud et al.

Order denying motion of defendants for new trial in Charles Holqvist vs. Simon Clark et al.

Order in matter of assignment of J. C. Schaefer permitting assignee to complete work now on hand; also order directing assignee to sell stock as thinks most advantageous.

The Setting of Cases. The setting of court cases for next week is as follows:

SPRING SURELY HERE.

Tramps Are Beginning to Appear—Six Were Arrested Yesterday.

The flies and mosquitos will soon be here, for the vernal which always mark the advent of springtime have commenced to make their mutual appearances in police court as well as on the streets. Six were arrested in one group on Lake avenue yesterday by Officer Martin Smith.

In police court this morning, Charles O'Malley and Fred D. Kane begged for mercy as the result of indulging to excess in foamy liver. They were committed for ten days just the same.

Patrick McDermitt and Ray Benson, who were arrested on Lake avenue yesterday, were charged with disorderly conduct. Benson was the worse for liquor and persisted in molesting McDermitt until he retaliated with a few well directed blows. Pat was discharged and Benson's bail in the sum of $15 forfeited because of his non-appearance.

John McLaney and James Adams, charged with vagrancy, were discharged. George J. Grierson, accused of threatening a breach of the peace by shaking a stick of wood above the person of a loving wife, Anna Grierson, was bound over to keep the peace.

Yesterday afternoon, James Colford was arraigned on a charge of bastardy preferred by Tati Olsen. The hearing was set for March 16, and in default of $500 bail, Colford was committed to jail.
